As you all know the Radio Hams were her in convention last week but what you did not know, or even suspect was this... they didn't eat ham at all, they ate beef steaks. This is proof positive that the best beef steaks in the country are served at the Marion in the Oak Room, in the main dining room and at special dinners. If you would enjoy a first class, top quality, really tender and correctly cooked steak, come over and eat at the Marion. By the way, getting back to the Radio Hams, you know those people were wonderful convention guests. I only wish we could play host to them every year. They conducted themselves as true ladies and gentlemen and believe me it was a real pleasure to have them here.
