'A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME'

The age-old reputation of the skunk family doesn't mean a thing to Rusty, an Irish setter owned by Mrs. Ava Beeman of Buckville, Pa. Rusty has adopted three baby skunks found on the Beeman farm and is playing the role of foster mother to the hilt, acting as protective as if the tiny striped trio were her own. (AP Wirephoto)

Labor Unions To Streamline

Washington, (P) — Both the AFL and CIO Tuesday announced plans for streamlining their organizing activities to make them more efficient and effective.

Graduating are Miss Lois Warboys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Warboys, Jerry Darling, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Darling, and Sammy Rickard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rickard.

Both organizations said they are keeping the same number of organizers and intend to spend as much money as in the past, but are re-vamping their organizing setups to get greater results.

Mrs. Ester H. Franz, the principal, was seated with Roy Aker, who presented diplomas past, but are results.

organizing setups to get greater results.

One step inaugurated by the AFL is to require regional directors to submit progress reports every four months to national headquarters, including data on paid membership from each region and each state.

The AFL divided the country into 14 organizing regions, with one for Canada. The CiO consolidated its offices into 13 regions.

These are among the AFL regions and directors in charge Dan Flanagan — California, Oregon, Washington and Alaska, headquarters at San Francisco.
