

Night Meetings For Farmers

Three night meetings have been scheduled at different locations to provide Marion County farmers the opportunity to report 1951-52-53 wheat acreage history.

The schedule of meetings, according to Earl Johnson, secretary of the Marion County PMA committee is June 1, Fairfield Grange Hall; June 2, Central Howell School; June 3, Stayton City Hall. The meetings will be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Farmers who have not yet reported their three-year wheat history may come to which ever meeting is most convenient for them to attend.

The three-year wheat history on each farm will determine the extent of the 1954 acreage allotments which, barring an immediate change in the crop and export outlook, will be announced in early July.

It is important that every acre of wheat grown during the last three years be reported, states Johnson. Any acreage not reported would penalize not only the individual farmer in terms of 1954 allotment extent, but also the county allotment extent which will be based on the total reported acreage. To date 1,150 producers have reported. There are approximately 2,000 wheat producers in Marion County.

Each wheat producer will need to devote only a few minutes of time at one of the wheat meetings to report his three-year wheat history, says Johnson.

Two Will Graduate From Nursing School

Frieda Carlson and Mary Thomas of Salem will receive diplomas in nursing from the University of Oregon Medical School department of nursing June 8.

The class will be presented by Miss Winifred Wolfe, associate professor of nursing. Dr. Charles N. Holman, medical director and administrator of the UO Medical School Hospitals and Clinics, will present the diplomas, and Miss Henrietta Dolz, department head, will present the school pins. Edgar W. Smith, Portland, member of the State Board of Higher Education, will give the commencement address.

Both girls will receive Bachelor of Science degrees at University of Oregon commencement ceremonies in Eugene on June 14.

Lois Brinks, Salem, a graduate nurse studying in the department of nursing, will also receive a bachelor's degree at that time.

Switching Station Site Work to Start

With the award of the contract by the Bonneville Power Administration to L. C. Daniel, Eugene, for the grading and excavating of the site for the Lookout Point switching station, work will be getting under way on those facilities that will eventually be required to bring power generating from Lookout Dam into BPA's main transmission network at Alvey.

Daniel was awarded the contract on a low bid of $5,305. The contractor will be allowed 45 days to complete the work outlined in the contract.

BPA Project Engineer D. K. Randall will be in charge of the work, maintaining his headquarters at the J. P. Alvey substation.
