The Ethel Barrymore Theater, a series of half hour plays, will start Thursday night, May 28 on KPTV. The series consists of 13 plays directed by Ethel Barrymore. In the television debut of the series, "The Victim" will be the first play to be presented. Edward Arnold and Arthur Kennedy co-star in the play.

One of Edward Arnold's great interests in life is the furthering of the work of the Braille Institute for the Blind, a charity to which he long has given his time, his talents and much of his wealth.

His father, blind in the latter years of his life, died when Edward was a boy of 15, leaving him an orphan, for his mother had passed away four years prior.

Right now one of Arnold's interests is television, and he does not think it beyond the realm of possibility that some day, through the miracle of electronics, that blind people will somehow be able to "see" a television pattern through the sense of feeling.

Arnold's latest television production, "The Victim," will be seen on KPTV at 9:30-8 o'clock Thursday night. Co-starring Arthur Kennedy, it is one of The Ethel Barrymore Theatre series of half hour dramas, produced in Hollywood by Interstate Television Corporation, of which G. Ralph Branton is president.

Some Success Achieved In Making Roads Safer

By PAUL W. HARVEY, JR.
(Associated Press Columnist)

It would be simple to make a big reduction in the mounting toll of death, injuries and destruction on Oregon's highways.

The easy solution would be to build roads with islands between opposing lanes, eliminate all intersections, and reduce the speed limit to about 25 miles an hour.

The only trouble with that idea is that nobody could ever get his car onto a highway, and even if he did, then he couldn't get any place very fast.

But the traffic engineering division of the Highway Commission is trying to make the roads safer, and has some figures to show it is having some success.

When the present highway construction program is finished in about three years, there will be fewer accidents. But there probably will be as many people killed as there are now.

That's because people will drive faster on the new roads. There won't be as many collisions, but because of higher speed, they will be more violent.

State police will try to hold the speed down, but it's an almost impossible task.

How modern highway construction makes roads safer is graphically illustrated on Harbor Drive and Front Avenue, two heavily-traveled parallel streets in Portland.

On Harbor Drive, which has a raised center section to separate opposing lanes of traffic,

Eighth Grade Graduation Set

Woodburn — Sixty-six eighth grade students will graduate from the Washington school at the annual graduating exercises to be held Monday, June 1, at 8 p.m. in the Washington school auditorium.

Miss Ruth Marie Applegate will play the processional and Rev. Ormal B. Trick of the Methodist church will give the invocation. Special music will be by the eighth grade girls.

Citizenship awards will be presented by Principal Charles Campbell to Barbara Paulson and Joe Reed.

Speaker will be Wendell Webb, managing editor of the Oregon Statesman, and diploma will be presented by Dr. Delbert Reed, vice chairman of the school board. Rev. Trick might save some lives, including their own.

Baldock says the traffic engineering division never makes a decision without doing a lot of research into traffic volume, conditions, speed, and accident rates.

The engineers analyze this data, and then decide how to make the roads safer, within the money available.

Baccalaureate At Woodburn

Woodburn — The annual baccalaureate service for the 1953 class of Woodburn high school will be Sunday, May 31, at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The program will open with the processional, played by June McGrath. The invocation will be given by Rev. Edward H. Baldwin of the Church of God; the Scriptures reading by Rev. E. Brantley of the Bible Baptist church and the sermon by Rev. J. William Currier of the Emmanuel Lutheran church. His topic will be "Preparing for a Purposeful Career." Rev. George W. Springer of the Christian church will pronounce the benediction.

Interpreting the speaking will be music by the high school chorus directed by Miss Harriet Nisic, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Baxter, and hymns by the congregation. Mrs. Elaine Ringo will play the recessional.
