Radio-Television
By DAVE BLACKMER

Portland television fans are having a great time raking Liberace, the talented pianist, over the coals. . . B Mike in the Oregon Journal, leads the parade. . . A lady writes to Public Relation Director Jan Webster at KPTV to inform KPTV that she sets her alarm clock each Wednesday night so that her favorite program isn't missed.

Major league baseball will be shown on KPTV this Saturday with the Philadelphia vs. Chicago at 10:25 a.m. Also on Saturday afternoon horse racing from Portland Meadows will be telecast by KPTV. The racing telecasts start this week and will continue each Saturday during the season.

Don Barrick of Clough-Barrick mortuary did a fine job of showing a movie to the Television Association of Salem Monday night.

Big Dipper Part of Larger Constellation of Great Bear

By J. HUGH PRUETT
(Astronomer, Extension Division Oregon Higher Education System)
Who with normal eyesight does not know the stellar configuration in the northern heavens commonly called the Big Dipper? Fewer are aware, however, that this is only part of the much larger constellation known as Ursa Major, or the Great Bear.

At this season when the early evening finds this ancient Bear taking a nose dive toward the northern horizon, its tracing should be fairly easy even without a diagram. By the time the sky has sufficiently darkened so the fainter stars show, look high in the northwest for the Dipper. The bowl is the hips of the creature and the bent handle the long tail.

Note the two stars of the bowl nearest the handle, the upper of which (Delta) joins the handle. Below and slightly left of a line joining these stars there is a smaller star. Then curving right and going still lower, another little star; still lower, a conspicuous and very short line of two stars about as bright as Delta. We have thus traced down the hind leg to the two stars of the hind foot.

Let's trace the front leg in reverse. Farther north and lower in the sky we find another short pair which is almost a perfect copy of the hind foot. From this go up and follow a sort of half circle of a few little stars which curves to the right. The last

Board of Health Favors Fluorine

Portland (AP) — The State Board of Health is on record as approving the use of fluorine in city water supplies in an attempt to reduce tooth decay.

The board also predicted that Oregon would have about 400 cases of polio this year. Most of them are expected in the western part of the state.

Thirty-four cases have been reported so far this year—the same number as at this time in 1952 and the median for the last seven years.

Innocent Plea of Transient Worker

A transient farm worker pleaded innocent Monday morning in district court to a charge of assault with intent to commit rape.

Lando Barton Williams, Stockton, Calif., was arrested on a citizen's arrest Sunday and booked by state police on the charge, which alleges that Williams molested the 5-year-old daughter of another worker at a Central Howell fruit farm.

Preliminary hearing was set for Friday.

BRIGGS FOR ENVOY

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Ellis O. Briggs, a career diplomat, to be ambassador to Korea.

Briggs has been holding the position under a recess appointment since last August.

All Pretty Fancy for Scouts at Big Jamboree

By JULIAN THURSTON
Jamboree City, Calif. — The Jamboree has finally started and, boy, is it going hot! It started yesterday at 9 with a shot fired from a gun to make it official and will end on July 27 with a shot fired from a rocket.

Pretty fancy, isn't it? But I guess it has to be fancy if the Boy Scout Council is spending over 3 million dollars to put it on.

After the opening gun had been fired, all of the troops held their separate flag raising ceremonies in their camps. The deal. There were famous celebrities of all kinds, ranging from a 7 foot 7 inch giant to the master of ceremonies, who was Lannie Ross. There were so many pictures being taken, that the flash bulbs alone would light up the arena!

Safety Plaque For Lebanon

Lebanon — The national safety plaque honoring Lebanon's death-free traffic record in 1952 will be presented at a luncheon meeting in the Dinnette on July 30.

Actual presentation of the award to Mayor Elmer Fitzgerald will be made by Earl T. Newbry, secretary of state. The state official will comment on Oregon's safety program.

The meeting is open to the public, said Wendell Grono, chairman of the chamber of commerce forum committee but luncheon reservations must be made early with the chamber of commerce.

Coos-Douglas Lands Closed to All Entry

Six-thousand acres of heavily timbered lands in Coos and Douglas counties will be closed to all entry, except by permit, tonight at midnight on order of Gov. Paul Patterson.

The closure order was requested by the State Forestry Department.

Most of the lands involved are in the coast range and extend from south of the Umpqua river to the south fork of the Coquille river.

Pioneer Day At Rock Creek

Woodburn — The third annual pioneer day celebration of the historical Rock Creek church, east of Woodburn, was opened with prayer by Rev. D. Lester Fields, retired Methodist minister of Woodburn, Sunday, July 19, followed by congregational singing.

Guest of honor was W. W. Morrison of Cheyenne, Wyo., Union Pacific agent, who was instrumental in the restoration of the old church.

Oldest woman present was Mrs. Mary Mitts of Molalla, 85, and oldest man, D. W. Shrock of Needy, 81. The oldest couple present was Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jackson of Molalla whose combined ages were 142 years. Corsages were presented to the women and a carnation to the men.

Mr. Morrison gave a short talk on "Pioneering," and urged the continuation of the pioneer day celebration each year and to keep up the church as a shrine as well as the cemetery.

Soloist was Lance White of Monitor, accompanied by Mrs. Melvin Mitts of Needy who also served as pianist for the entire service. Mr. White is the great-great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Homesley.

Mrs. Marie Cline Howell of Portland, granddaughter of the late Charles O. and Mary Boynton of Woodburn, presented the church with a framed picture of the Boyntons, a donation of $25, and a plaque giving a brief history of the Boyntons who donated the five acres of land to the church when it was first organized in 1854.

The plaque, picture and donation were accepted by A. F. Fredrickson, secretary-treasurer, who gave a short talk on the church and cemetery improvement program.

Special recognition was given to Joe Fisher who donated more than 2000 tile for draining the grounds, to Herman

39 Ships Loaded With Surplus Grain

Washington (AP) — The National Shipping Authority announced today that 39 ships of its government-owned fleet have been loaded with surplus grain and returned to the reserve fleet.

The are among the 125 ships that will be used to aid the Agriculture Department in storing surplus grain. Of these 63 have been assigned and 57 delivered for storage.

The authority announced that as of June 30 it had a fleet of 141 vessels.

SCOTTISH TROOPS GREETED

Singapore (AP) — More than 1,000 officers and men of the Scottish Black Watch regiment enroute from the Korean battlefield to reinforce British troops fighting the Mau Mau terrorists in Kenya, arrived in Singapore early today aboard the troopship Empire Fowey.
