Mrs. Rilea To Honor Mrs. Hershey

Honoring Mrs. Lewis B. Hershey of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Thomas E. Rilea is entertaining on Friday evening at a dinner party for a group of 15, the affair to be at the Rilea home at Camp Clackamas. Mrs. Hershey is west with her husband, Major General Hershey, who heads the national selective service program. He is being honored that evening at a dinner given by Oregon selective service officials and National Guard selective service officials.

Martha Redd Show Interests

Especially suited for summertime viewing are the line and wash ink drawings by Martha Redd showing at the Clifford Gleason studio until the end of July. Miss Redd, whose exhibit includes a black and white of "Bush Pasture," is one of the many artists from the Midwest and East who find stimulating material in the regions of the Willamette valley. Here is fresh, virgin territory abundant in vital artistic qualities hardly touched upon.

There is a lively, unassuming spontaneity in her drawings that makes no pretense to studied underlines of meaning. Essentially miniature, some even smaller than postcards, she records her subject with a quick wit and, in the case of "Fried Egg Over," a touch of humor. Even while restricting herself to black and white, she uses subtle variations of shading and a nervous, restless line to keep the painting in constant motion, noted particularly in the larger "Ships at Sea" and "High Winds."

The same fluid approach is seen in "March Winds" but with the additional use of a blue wash. Only a few subjects of more thoughtful mood and of possibly later date, such as "Pensive," "White Sisters" and "Head of a Boy," depend predominantly on the clash of light and dark masses for effect. For the rest, even those with multi-colored washes, it is the interplay of thin, dark lines that carry the structure of the picture.

Miss Redd is a member of the Salem Creative Art group, an organization that could well serve as a nucleus in building an active working art center in conjunction with the Bush museum. Her show is well-worth seeing.

For Bride-Elect

Among parties being given for Miss JoAnne Majek preceding her marriage to Allan J. Olson on August 23 is the shower for which Mrs. Rollin O. Lewis and Mrs. Robert F. Howells are to entertain next Wednesday evening at the Lewis home. The shower will be a miscellaneous one.

HOME from an extended vacation trip are Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Smith and son, Robert. They went first to Detroit and from there drove on east to Washington, D. C. They also visited in Indiana and stopped in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado en route home.

Some Notations . . .

By M. L. F.

One of the most successful garden tours yet sponsored by Salem Garden club was the one Wednesday afternoon and evening, some 400 turning out to view the 10 gardens on the schedule . . . A beautiful day and a hard-working committee, too, added their bit to make the event so successful . . . A goodly sum was realized from the silver tea to go to the club's project for a Garden Center in Salem . . .

Visitors came from all surrounding areas to join the tour, including groups from Albany, Scotts Mills, Dallas, Monmouth, Woodburn, Silverton and other places . . . Ideally planned was the tea in the gardens at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Hansen on South High street . . . By the time the tea was under way the bright sun already was shifting to the west, and tour trekkers found the setting most refreshing for their tea following visitations to other gardens, the Hansen terrace and gardens being on the east side of the house . . . To Mrs. William L. Phillips, Sr. went special compliments for the attractive tea table with its accent on yellow . . . The long table was set at one end of the terrace and was covered with a floor-length yellow cloth . . .

Off center to one side was the floral arrangement, gladioluses shading from yellow to apricot colors, being arranged in a flat green bowl . . . Around the base were green grapes and one little cluster of strawberries to add a spice of color, more of the green grapes and some apricots being scattered around just beyond the flowers . . . Around the corner of the table were massed pointed begonias to add color . . . Gathered around the tea table during our stop for their refreshments were Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. Custer Ross, Mrs. E. J. Seallars, Mrs. Harry S. Dorman, Mrs. Gus Moore and her sister, Mrs. C. Ronald Hudkins, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Jones, A. L. Lindbeck, long active in Salem Rose society, Mrs. O. K. DeWitt, down from Mehama for the affair, with Mrs. Prince W. Byrd, Mrs. William Cole; Mrs. Floyd L. Uiter, Mrs. Walter L. Spaulding, Mrs. E. A. Linden, Mrs. Roy L. Houck, Mrs. D. K. Walker and Miss Shirley Hill, to join their mother, Mrs. Elmore Hill, one of those pouring during the hour; Mrs. Willard Thompson, Mrs. William L. Lidbeck, Mrs. W. E. Kirk, Bryan Goodenough, in to join Mrs. Goodenough, who was assisting during the hour; Mrs. John H. Johnson and her little daughter, Jennifer, the latter a little flower, too, in her pink organdy frock with matching bonnet; Mrs. Donald H. Upjohn, her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Hunter, and the latter's little son, Robert Hunter, who also was another "little flower" in the garden, young Robert waving special greetings to all there at the time; Mrs. Harry V. Collins, Mrs. Bruce F. Pickett, Mrs. A. E. Archibald, Mrs. D. G. DeSart . . .

Music throughout the tea was provided by Max Mores and Beverly Rinehart in the afternoon hours, and Sharon Lamkin on the marimba in the evening . . . The tour offered interesting variety . . . Gardens were visited at the homes of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Gormsen, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Upjohn, Mrs. Chester M. Cox, Colonel and Mrs. Philip W. Allison, George and Miss Elizabeth Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar T. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill D. Ohling, the Hansens, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirk. To Mrs. Ben Maxwell, general chairman who organized the tour, and her committee go many verbal bouquets for the success, and to Mrs. Clifford Taylor, club president . . .

An interesting weekend is ahead for Mr. and Mrs. William L. Phillips, Sr., who are to be visitors at the national governors' conference in Seattle, the event opening Sunday . . . There they will join Governor and Mrs. Paul L. Patterson and Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Douglas McKay . . .
