Congress to

Shortly thereafter, the Senate gave in to the House and cancelled its demand for an appropriation for airport construction aid, and sent to President Eisenhower a $1,086,000,000 bill carrying funds for the State, Commerce and Justice departments.

The bill had been tied up for weeks over the federal grant for airports. It was the 12th money bill to run the government during the current financial year to be sent to the President.

Knowland and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, told newsmen after a breakfast meeting with President Eisenhower that every effort would be made to avoid a special session this fall to act on the debt ceiling.

Eisenhower had proposed an immediate 15 billion dollar increase. The house voted approval but the Senate Finance Committee killed the measure last Saturday.

Secretary of Treasury Humphrey, who with Budget Director Dodge sat in on the White House meeting, said later the administration will operate under the present 275 billion dollar debt limit for the remainder of the year if it is all possible.

"We will make every effort to comply with the demand of the Senate Finance Committee to postpone the necessity for action by it as long as we can and until the next regular session of congress if possible," Humphrey said in a prepared statement.

Wilson had played polo during his army days and his interest in the game continued after he left the army. He met Taft in Hunting Valley near Cleveland where Taft occasionally played, though he made no claims to being an expert at the game. He recalls Taft as a man much liked by all who knew him.

Why Portland Rates Higher

Portland's telephone users pay higher telephone rates than those of any other Oregon City because the Portland customers can make more calls. C. F. Goode, rate engineer for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. (testified Monday, Goode, appearing at the phone company's rate hearing, was cross examined by Alexander Brown, Portland city attorney.

He defended the company's rate principle, under which larger cities pay more for their telephone service. The Portland customers, Goode said, provide 59.8 percent of the company's Oregon revenue. If the company's request for a $3,966,000 annual rate increase is granted, this figure would drop to 58 percent.

Portland's customers, Goode testified, can make more telephone calls for their money than customers of any other city in the state.

East Germans

Thousands of hungry East Berliners swarmed into West Berlin to food stations. Most East Germans were kept away by the blockade, though a few slipped through. Most of these came aloft, by bicycle or on workers' travel passes.

The blockade held despite reports of hunger riots where crowds stormed at railway stations and trains trying to get to the give-away centers. Red police were reported to have clubbed the rioters and fired over their heads.

Many of those who got to West Berlin and received food parcels were pounced on by police when they returned to East Berlin, and their packages confiscated. One estimate said 50,000 parcels were seized in 24 hours.

The Communists used the stolen food to open an "aid station for West Berlin unemployed." They fired rockets which dropped propaganda leaflets in the American sector inviting West Berlin "needy" to come and get the food.

Firemen Busy — Firemen were called out on three minor blazes Saturday for the busiest day in two weeks. Hot ashes caught leaves afire next to a boarded up patio at the R. W. Hartley residence, 258 East Lafelle street, about 10 a. m. but damage was minor, firemen said. Two calls about 3:50 took firemen to Church and Mill streets to put out a grass fire on an empty lot and to 1935 Maple street to extinguish a grease fire on a stove. No damage was reported.

Highest Honor

White haired Sen. Bricker spoke in unstinting praise: "Real leader... a true liberal... championed unpopular causes and espoused unorthodox views regardless of political consequences... deep convictions... unflinching courage... man of great faith... in himself... in his fellowman... in our kind of government... in almighty God."

"During life," Bricker said, "our departed leader created to himself an everlasting memorial. His services to his government and through government to his fellowman will go on and on. Many hereafter because of his ennobling example will gain inspiration to serve in the cause to which he gave his full devotion."

"That will be our lasting memorial in his honor." The Marine Band played the National Anthem. The House Chaplain, Dr. Bernard Braskamp, lifted his hand and gave a benediction: "The Lord bless you and keep you."

Burial in Cincinnati That was all Tuesday the senator will be buried in Cincinnati. The body and family were to be flown there Monday afternoon.

The public was barred from the state funeral. But hundreds gathered on the plaza outside the capitol building.

Mrs. Taft, ill, in a wheel chair, appeared 10 minutes before the services began. The President and first lady, both in black, arrived three minutes later, escorted by Senate Secretary Mark Trice and the supervising engineer of the capitol, Gus Cook.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower occupied front row seats, to the left of the tier and its blanket of yellow roses.

said then to have secured a shotgun and gone to Smith who was working on an automobile. Kizer is said to have accused Smith of mistreating his wife. It is alleged he then fired a blast from a shotgun.

The scene of the tragedy is approximately 52 miles from Salem. The road extends up the Little North Fork of the Santiam river and is blocked by a padlocked gate a short distance beyond the Pearl Creek ranger station. The road from the ranger station is extremely narrow and rough.

It is understood the mining company employs approximately 12 men in the development of its holdings—all being Negroes.

DOUGLAS FAIR

Roseburg (AP) — The Douglas County Fair, which opens a four-day run here Aug. 5, has been expanded to include open class exhibits, fair officials reported.

Senate Votes For Tariff Bill

Washington (AP) — The senate Monday passed and sent to President Eisenhower one of the final must bills of the session—a one-year extension of the 19-year-old reciprocal trade agreements law. Passage was by voice vote after only brief debate. The house acted on the compromise bill Saturday.

The senate won the big controversy that had been tying up the measure for more than a month.

This involved a provision put in by the house to add a seventh member to the Tariff Commission to give republicans a four-to-three edge.

Oregon Solons to Attend $100 Dinner

Portland (AP) — State Sen. John C. F. Merrifield expects most of Oregon congressional delegation to attend a $100-a-plate Republican dinner here Aug. 8.

He said that Sen. Guy Cordon and Rep. Harris Ellsworth and Walter Norblad plan to fly to Oregon to attend, even if Congress still is in session. Reps. Homer Angell and Sam Coon also are expected, he said.

Leonard Hall, Republican national chairman, will be principal speaker at the dinner and at a picnic the next day.

Collision Puts Two Officers in Hospital

Two state policemen chasing a speeder wound up in Salem Memorial hospital after a Montana car and their car collided, fellow officers reported today.

Patrolmen Dorland Swan and Floyd West were in pursuit of a speeder when their car and one driven by Rose M. Mattie of Bozeman, Mont., collided near the Woodburn cutoff on the east side Pacific highway late yesterday. The police car had to be towed away, but the Montana car was only slightly damaged, police said, and the driver was unhurt.
