Spike Jones and his City Slickers, 35 total, now on a nationwide tour will stop in Salem on August 25, to do two shows at the Capitol Theater. During the 2 1/2-hour show most of Jones' all-time recorded favorites will be presented by the group, including "Concerto for Three Garbage Disposals," "Poet and Peasant Overture" and "The Blue Danube."

Jones has been displaying his talents on television in California for the past year and has always been a favorite with the disc jockeys for his platters.

All seats for the crazy musical (this is music) show are reserved for both performances. Mail orders are now being filled at the Capitol Theater.

The finish in the final race of the famous All-American Chevrolet Soap Box Derby, often referred to as "the greatest amateur racing event in the world," will be reported by NBC's KGW on a special broadcast from Derby Downs in Akron, Ohio, on Sunday, August 9 (12:30-12:45 p.m.).

It is estimated that 3,000,000 persons will participate in or witness some phases of Derby activities in the U.S., Canada, Alaska and western Germany. About 50,000 boys between the ages of 11 and 15 are expected to compete.

Official Soap Box Derby races were held this year in 150 communities in the United States under sponsorship of Chevrolet and leading American newspapers. The top national prizes have been increased to $15,000 which includes as first award for the winner a four-year scholarship diploma worth $5,000, plus a trophy. Other prizes include $4,000, $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000 scholarships; motion picture cameras, projectors, television sets and other valuable awards.

U.N. Pilgrim Returns Home

Stayton—Marjorie Prichard, Marion-Polk IOOF delegate on the United Nations pilgrimage, has returned to her home here after a month's eastern trip by bus, thrilled by what she saw and heard, but more appreciative than ever of life in Oregon.

Marjorie won the local district contest in the Salem IOOF lodge hall March 10. She left Spokane with 33 other Northwest youngsters on a chartered bus July 3.

En route east they visited Banff, Duluth, the Soo canal, and Montreal on their way to New York, welcomed at each stopping place by the local Odd Fellows. They spent five days in New York, quartered in a Times Square hotel. They got a thorough briefing on the U.N. and saw many of the sights of the city.

The return was through Philadelphia where a "miserable night" was spent, due to a heat wave; Washington, D.C., where the government buildings were visited; Chicago and Yellowstone park.

Nitidulid Beetles Numerous in Polk

Nitidulid beetles, those black, shiny beetles that are found on red clover and many other plants including the family flower garden, are extremely numerous in Polk county this year.

N. John Hansen, county extension agent, reports that the nitidulids are a problem in the production of red clover seed as the insect feeds on the flowers and damage the blossoms and prevent the formation of seed.

These beetles are also pests as far as the flower gardener is concerned as they get on the flowers that the housewife would like to cut and take into the house.

E. A. Dickson, entomologist, Oregon State college experiment station, reports that many control materials have been tried with toxaphene being the most promising. Tests are being continued this season to determine the effectiveness of a number of insecticides.

AFTER REINDEER

John Zumstein of Salem, who left today for Alaska, expecting to return with 15 reindeer.

Zumstein on Way North For Reindeer

John Zumstein, 2650 Pioneer Drive, left Salem today on an unusual mission.

He's going to Alaska, by pre-arrangement with the United States government, and will bring back to the States—he hopes—15 reindeer which he will use for show purposes. They won't be for sale.

"Some will be halter-broken, and they will be used in teams for show purposes," he said.

The reindeer will be taken to Zumstein's ranch near Redmond. He isn't exactly a green hand at the business, having brought out 10 last year. But seven of them failed to survive. He is sure he will have better luck this time.

In Alaska he will have the help of Eskimo herders and bush pilots. The herders, he explains, maneuver the reindeer into a large corral at the coast. From there bands of 200 or so are herded into smaller corrals, and then in groups of 20 into catch corrals in which Zumstein will make his selection.

Prices range, he says, from about $100 a head for fawns to $200 for bulls. He wants animals not over 2 1/2 years old.

He is making the trip by plane.

Norse Festival This Week-End

The 1953 Norsemen's Summer Festival for Western Oregon and Southwestern Washington will commence in the YMCA gym Saturday evening and culminate with a picnic in Bush Pasture Park Sunday.

The outstanding feature of Saturday night's program will be the showing of two Norwegian color films. One of these will be an on-the-spot illustration of Norway's large fisheries prepared by Per Host one of Norway's outstanding zoologists and under-water photographers. The other will be a colored film of the Sognefjord, Norway's largest fjord with 120 miles of majestic mountains, rushing waterfalls and villages and farming communities along its shore.

A group of eight young women from Sonja lodge of Eugene, attired in colored costumes will present three numbers in Norse Folk dancing. Al Torgerson will sing a Norwegian Ole Bulls "Saterjentens Sondag" and "Near Fjordene Blaaner." Miss Arlene Sholseth will be his accompanist. A surprise number is expected from Greig lodge in Portland. After refreshments there will be Scandinavian folk dancing led by the Leikarring of Thor lodge.

The Sunday picnic will be a no-host affair with coffee, cream and sugar provided by Thor lodge, Sons of Norway, under whose auspices the Summer Festival is staged. The picnic spot will be marked with a large Norsemen's Summer Festival banner and a large flag of each of Norway and U.S.A. The interested public is invited to take part in the Norsemen's Summer Festival.

Open Tournament At Horseshoe Court

The Salem Horseshoe club will sponsor an open tournament at the courts in Bush Pasture park next Sunday, starting at 10 o'clock.

Club membership will not be necessary to enter this contest. No qualifying will be required. If you pitch horseshoes you are eligible. Shoes in hand will indicate you wish to pitch. Corvallis, Lebanon, Mill City, Eugene, Silverton, Oregon City, Dallas, Independence and Portland are expected to be represented here at the Sunday pitch.

These tournaments staged by the local club are preparatory for the state tournament to be held at Hillsboro the latter part of this month.

CLOCK SOROPTIMIST PROJECT

Burglar Shot In Portland

Portland (AP)—A man was wounded by two shots from a police revolver shortly after the $4 burglary of a market southeast of here late Wednesday night.

He was identified as William Wells Jr., 25, Portland. He was shot in the left hip and right ankle. He was placed under armed guard at Multnomah County Hospital, where attendants said his condition was not serious.

Robert Eugene Averill, Portland, called deputies after he had seen a man smashing the glass on the front door of the store. Sgt. Garth Stackhouse and another deputy arrived as the man ran from the rear of the building and started off in an old model truck.

Stackhouse followed in a sheriff's car, firing as the man weaved from side to side in an effort to jump out. He said that after a half-mile chase the man leaped clear of the moving

Carrying Weapons Involved in Charge

Charles Bean, 3263 Argyle drive, was arrested Tuesday by Salem police on the charges of being drunk and carrying a concealed weapon.

Bean, who was driving north on Capitol street, is reported by police to have rammed a car driven by Arlette Herzberg 1911 North Church street, which in turn crashed into the rear of an auto driven by Ira Hill, 440 Taylor street, Eugene, which then was pushed into the rear of a fourth car driven by Arthur Jones, 960 Belmont street.

The occupants of the Herzberg vehicle were taken to Salem General hospital and later released. No other injuries were reported.

When police investigated the accident, they report they found a Colt automatic, two clips of ammunition, and a knife in Bean's car. He had no permit to carry such weapons, police stated.

Oleomargarine manufacturers in the United States used about 213,828,000 pounds of skim milk in their product in 1952.
