DULLES AND RHEE COOL OFF

South Korean President Syngman Rhee drinks a cool drink as U. S. Secy. of State John Foster Dulles (left) gestures a point. The two have been engaged in post-armistice talks in Seoul. They have reportedly initiated a security pact which provides for U.S. troop bases in South Korea. It also stipulates that the United States will aid South Korea in the event of a new Communist attack. (UP Radio-Telephoto)

Norse Fete Closes With Merry Picnic in Park

The Norsemen Summer Festival sponsored by Thor Lodge, Sons of Norway, of Salem came to a close late Sunday afternoon at the end of a picnic held in Bush Pasture Park.

The festival began Saturday night at the YMCA with the singing of the national anthem by the audience. Two colored films, obtained through the Norwegian Embassy, Washington, D.C., were shown on a screen mounted with a large Norwegian flag on one side and a U.S.A. flag of the same size on the other. One film was produced from photographs taken by the popular Norwegian photographer and geologist Per Host. This depicted in detail the immense Norwegian fishing industry embracing the small Norwegian herring boats operating close to shore and the mass operation on Lofoten Island producing thousands of tons of stock-fish, clip fish, cod fillet and large quantities of fish oil. The second picture was King of the Fjords, showing villages, valleys waterfalls and glaciers along the Sognefjord, Norway's longest ice-free fjord.

An attractive feature of the Saturday celebration was a folk dancing display by a group of high school age girls of Sonja Lodge, Eugene, dressed in colored costumes. Al Torgerson of Salem sang two popular Norwegian numbers, "Seterjentens Sndag" and "Near Fjordene Bliarner". Miss Arlene Sholseth was accompanist.

A surprise of the evening after the showing of the Sognefjord picture was the introduction and a short talk by Eivind Bernal whose home was at Leikanger, one of the places shown on the screen. Bernal is a Norwegian exchange student taking a course in journalism at the University of Illinois.

Refreshments including lefse, anchovy, sandwiches, fattigmann, etc., were served at tables decorated in red, white and blue. After refreshments Scandinavian folk dancing led by Thor Lodge Leikanger, under the direction of Astrid Gann concluded the evening festivities.

At the picnic Sunday Thor Lodge provided coffee, ice cream and pop and prizes for a variety of games including spirited horseshoe contest in which members from Sonja Lodge, Eugene, were winners.

Six lodges were represented with over 150 in attendance at the evening celebration and almost the same number at the picnic on Sunday.

Secretary of

The secretary replied that prisoners who have been returned are being checked carefully to find out if they can furnish the names of any other who may be withheld.

Then Dulles said that "if the prisoners don't get back we would presumably adopt reciprocal measures."

Asked whether that meant that this country in turn would withhold some Communist prisoners, he secretary said that would "seem to be a normal procedure."

In reply to another question, Dulles said this government has received no official word that any American prisoners of war are refusing to be repatriated. He noted that there have been published reports that a few of the men have turned down a chance for release.

Dulles, who left by plane for Washington immediately after the news conference, also said "there is a very considerable number of Chinese and North Korean prisoners who have been convicted of crimes since being captured."

Winchester Bay Boat Overturns, 3 Drown

(By The Associated Press)
Accidents in Oregon claimed the lives of four persons over the week-end.

Three men were drowned when a small boat overturned in Winchester Bay Sunday. They were Alfred Halvorson, 47, Cottage Grove; William James Campbell, 52, Molalla, and Roy Gordiner, Eugene.

The bodies of Halvorson and Campbell were recovered. Two beach patrol groups and the Coast Guard were seeking Gordiner's body Monday.

Negro Church Objects To Gill for USDA

Portland (AP)—Puget Sound African Methodist Episcopal Conference wound up its annual meeting here Sunday after opposing possible appointment of State Sen. Warren C. Gill of Lebanon as U. S. District Attorney for Oregon.

Delegates unanimously passed a resolution objecting to Gill, who has been mentioned as a likely appointee to the job, because he opposed passage of civil rights legislation by the 1953 Oregon Legislature.

Reds Hope

Those who remained behind at their own choosing, the returnees said, will study communism behind the Bamboo and Iron Curtains and try to slip into the United States later.

To Join U.S. Unions
Inchon, Korea, (AP)—An Indiana corporal said today 30 American victims of communist indoctrination plan to meet in the United States and join labor unions and peace organizations.

Cpl. Leslie E. Scales, 22, Folsomville, Ind., said he believed the 30 "progressives" were among the 328 repatriates who boarded a troop ship here today for return to the United States. They were repatriated with him Friday, he said. "You'll hear about them," Scales said. "Someone will be assassinating them or kicking the dam soapbox out from under them."

He said the men talked freely of their plans to meet in California at the house of another "progressive" released during the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners last April.

"They intended to join labor unions and mentioned an organization called 'Ex-Pows for Peace,'" Scales said.

Newbry Claims

state office building, during the two year period, while $32,327.15 was carried over in the budget for capital building maintenance and care of grounds in the capital area.

Work Consolidated
Newbry said that in many of the divisions it had been possible to consolidate work through installation of various innovations and use of labor saving devices, thus bringing about a lower expenditure for personnel.

As an example he pointed to the motor vehicle department where a saving of $245,798.97 was made in salaries and wages, the largest in any division, there were actually several more employees during the last biennium as compared with the previous one. Newbry said that a far greater volume of work was performed than had been thought possible, with the resultant savings.

William E. Healy, assistant secretary of state, who prepared the figures, said the savings were actual in dollars and cents.

Three Cars Involved—Three cars were involved in a collision in the 1300 block of Marion street Sunday night, the owners of which were Victor J. Masse, Albany; Albert E. Anderson, Jr., 1207 South Commercial street, and Anderson J. Helbert, Jr., 1855 South Commercial street. Apparently the Anderson car glanced off the Masse car while it waited at the railroad crossing, and then struck the Helbert car, which was parked.

'COON TRACKER FINDS STILL

Media, Pa., police check huge vats filled with moonshine whiskey, reminiscent of prohibition days, discovered in a secluded clearing near the town. The still (center) was eight feet high and three feet in diameter. Twenty-five hogheads were filled with bubbling mash. Operators of the still are being sought after the layout was discovered by a 'coon hunter. (AP Wirephoto.)
