Getchall Wins All His Games

The open horseshoe pitching tournament staged Sunday by the Salem Horseshoe club was very well attended considering family and organization picnics conflicting.

The winnings were: Roy Getchall, Portland, won all his games. Getchall has been state champion for several years and at the national tournament held recently at Murry, Utah, he pitched 24 consecutive double ringers. Ivan Lowe, city champion last season, lost one game to Getchall. A. R. Richardson, Corvallis, and Albert Cooper tied for third; T. Z. Zwickel, Corvallis, made fourth; Frank Cooper and John Anderson tied for fifth place and Frank Arthur made sixth.

The local club will continue its Wednesday evening round-robins up to the time of the state tournament to be held at Hillsboro August 29-30. The Salem championship tournament after the State Fair.

The local club, Sunday, had to share the courts with the policeman's picnic group and several family groups. All 10 lanes were in use and more could have been used. Salem's courts have made horseshoe pitching much more popular than for some years and keen competition is developing for the state championship. Getchall acknowledges that.

This Week Perfect for Young Lovers

Once in an eastern Oregon town where the skies are clear of a summer night a local poet wrote these lines: Did you ever in the evening,

When the wise old owl would hoot, And the falling stars meant kisses,

Wish that all the stars would shoot? This, lads and lassies, is the week of the shooting stars. Perseid meteors, Dr. Hugh Pruett calls them in his column today.

Willamette Valley nights are beautiful now, and so are the sentiments of youth. And, so it is said, a shower of shooting stars, as many as 40 or 50 an hour, may be seen any night this week, Monday through Friday. Authority for that is the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium.

It adds that the best time for watching the showers of shooting stars is after midnight, and the best places are away from the bright lights of cities.

What a setup for young lovers that is.

Newsboy Beaten by Two Young Thugs

The Marion county sheriff's office reports that two teenage boys have been coercing a 12-year-old paper carrier, Larry Snyder, 1985 Kappahln road, and forcing him to turn over some of his collection money to them on the threat of being beaten up.

Last night, when the money demanded apparently increased, Larry refused to pay. He was then beaten up.

Larry managed to make his way back to his home from near the Hollywood bowl, where the incident took place. He had received face cuts and a black eye.

Manolis has been an administrative assistant.

Taking Manolis' job as administrative assistant is Master Sgt. Gale Stephens of Dallas. Stephens has been with the National Guard since 1948.

Recently placed on the retired list was Sgt. O. W. Olson, who has spent many years with the National Guard and has been caretaker at the local armory and supply sergeant.
