Patterson Acts Army's Threat To Stop ROTC

Governor to Ask Emergency Board to Consider Army's Position

By JAMES D. OLSON

Threat by the department of the army to withdraw ROTC training at the University of Oregon and Oregon State college unless the state of Oregon furnishes a bond to indemnify the government from loss of army equipment at the two institutions will be presented to the state emergency board August 21 for consideration.

Governor Paul L. Patterson so announced Monday at a press conference after pointing out that the subject was not a new one but had been under consideration since a meeting prior to the convening of the 1953 legislature. State Will Act

"There is no possibility that the state will allow the ROTC units to be withdrawn from the two institutions," Governor Patterson said. "We will take whatever steps are required at the proper time, but certainly we will explore every avenue before we agree to pay out state money to insurance companies for a bond."

The governor said it was his opinion that the state was certainly as responsible as any bonding company. On the other hand, the requirement for a bond for ROTC property is a part of the defense act and therefore he had no criticism of the army officials for attempting to enforce the requirement.

Thief Invades Salem Home

A thief took over $445 worth of valuables and $600 in non-negotiable government bonds in the burglary of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Brown, 1640 North Capitol street, some time last week.

The burglar was neat and methodical in his work, leaving things in the home as he found them so that the theft was not noted until Saturday morning when Mrs. Brown noticed that some trading stamp books were missing and began checking for other missing items, police said.

Missing was a woman's diamond ring valued at $300, a man's gold ring, a man's wrist watch, and six and three partially full books of trading stamps. A metal document case containing 600 in defense bonds and a number of important personal and business papers was also taken.

The Browns both working during the day but were home each evening last week, so they believe that the burglary took place some time during the day. Method of entry is unknown, police said.

Gov. Printing Office Worker Tagged as Red

Another Seen With Secret Material, Kept on for 3 Months

Washington (AP)—A Government Printing Office employee identified a fellow worker, Ed Rothschild, face-to-face Monday as a one time member of the Communist party.

James Phillips, a bookbinding machine operator, told Senate investigators that Rothschild has no direct access to secret material in the government printing plant but could easily get such material from other workers.

Phillips confronted the slightly built, pipe-smoking Rothschild at a hearing by the Senate investigations subcommittee, which is looking for evidence that secret material in the Government Printing Office has been leaked to the Communists.

Phillips testified he first met Rothschild in 1938. He identified Rothschild as one of 25 or 30 persons who attended a meeting in a private home to organize a Communist cell in the Government Printing Office.

Later, Phillips said, Rothschild and a Fred Sillers approached him on the street and asked him in a "threatening and belligerent" attitude whether he was for or against their efforts to organize such a cell.

Phillips said he thought it over and gave them their answer by going before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, then headed by Rep. Dies (D., Tex.), and testifying about the whole affair.

Phillips also testified he once saw another fellow worker, Bertha Lomax, try to leave the Government Printing Office with secret material in her pocket.

Welfare Body Sues Relative

The State Public Welfare Commission filed suit in Marion county circuit court Monday against William Richards, seeking to enforce statutes governing the responsibility of relatives toward the support of dependent persons.

The complaint states that one Albert Arthur Richards qualified for public assistance under the law from June 1 to December 31, 1950, and as such received money from the State Public Welfare Commission in the sum of $472.

It is charged that while the defendant had a salary sufficiently large to make it mandatory under the law that he contribute $30 monthly toward the support of Albert Arthur Richards, he failed to pay but $22.75. The commission asks a judgment of $187.25.

A second cause of action, based on the same premises as the first over a period of a year in 1951, demands a judgment of $321 against the defendant.

U.S. Accuses Reds Of Stalling East German Elections

Also Claims Big 4 Meet Delayed by Moscow Attitude

Russia Backs German Union

By HENRY SHAPIRO
Moscow, (AP)—Soviet Russia advocated today formation of a provisional united German government and a Big Four conference on the German peace treaty within six months.

The Soviet Union also called for free German elections without foreign supervision and reduction of Germany's World War II debts.

These Russian desires were made known yesterday when the Soviet government handed notes to ambassadors of Western nations.

The note argued that Four Power preliminary talks should begin immediately with the Germans sitting in on the conversations.

It also proposed that the East and West German Parliaments should get together and organize a unified provisional government which would participate in preparation of the peace treaty and draft an election law.

Death Toll in Quake at 600

Argostolion, Greece, (AP)—New earth tremors including one rated as a strong earthquake wracked the stricken Ionian Sea islands today as officials estimated the toll from the week's devastation at some 600 dead and 700 seriously injured.

Fifteen new tremors were recorded during a 12-hour period last night and today. They heightened the islanders' near-panic desire to flee their homeland but otherwise could make little difference on the three islands, practically leveled by the past week of upheavals.

The new casualty estimates came from the Argostolion headquarters of Gen. Dimitrios Istrides, who is directing the Greek rescue work. Previously it was feared more than 1,000 persons had been killed.

The new figures were based on complete reports from the island of Ithaca and nearly complete reports from the other two stricken isles, Zakynthos and Kefallinia.

Three hundred of the badly injured have been moved by boat and plane to Athens. The others have been hospitalized in Patra.

Quake Victims Fight For American Food

Army Court Martial for Few PW's who 'Ratted'

Washington (AP)—The Army may court-martial a few returned prisoners of war who ratted on their comrades in North Korean camps, a spokesman said today.

He emphasized, however, that an accused POW will be brought to trial only if careful investigation discloses strong evidence that his actions caused the death or injury of other Americans, or had other serious consequences.

The Army has been reluctant to discuss punishment of returned GI's accused by their comrades of collaborating with the Communists. Officials said many of the charges may be simply the result of personal frictions between men cruelly imprisoned for three years.

But a United Press dispatch from Inchon disclosed that a soldier identified only by the nickname "Slick" was removed from a homeward bound transport for protection from his fellow returnees who called him an informer and swore revenge.

An Army spokesman then disclosed that the stories of returning POW's are being combed for evidence of such activity.
