Solons Eke Past Red Sox

By DAVE CROMWELL
The Salem Senators had to work hard in order to eke out a 2 to 1 win over the visiting Silverton Red Sox at Water's park Sunday night before a crowd of little over 500 fans, who, perhaps in large part came to view the first two games of the tripleheader, which saw Legion Post 136 beat West Salem Lions, 4-2, and Jackson Jewelers nosed out Dickson's Market 3-0.

The Senators went through six innings of play while getting only one hit and that by Chuck Essegian, which would have been another out had it not taken a bad hop past the third base sack.

Danny Feller was the attraction of the evening, as he held the Senators to only one hit in six innings. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh, Chuck Sauvain then came in for the Sox, but wound up in trouble, and was saved by Hal Bourbonnais, who managed to fan both Perez and Deyo with the bases loaded.

Salem's two runs came in the seventh when, after one out, Perez walked, Deyo hit past third, and Ballard flied out to short center, Perez scoring on the catch. Then Deyo stole second, and scored as Essegian hit past third.

Collins, who yielded the Sox their lone run, was relieved by Borst, in the seventh who set the Silverton team down the rest of the game without a score.

The Senators are idle today, but tangle with the Tri-City Braves Tuesday night at Water's park in a three game series.

Dodgers, Yankees Both Take Twin Bills

By CARL LUNDQUIST
New York (AP)—The magic number was 31 for the Dodgers and 32 for the Yankees today as New York's interborough battlers moved relentlessly on toward baseball's "taken world series."

It will be a subway classic once again, barring miracles, but this time the ride to the park will cost 15 cents or a shiny brass token, just three times the fare for that first meeting between the Yankees and Dodgers in 1941. And it should be worth three times the original price, too.

Eager to Meet
Both teams were sizzling in the stretch and eager to get at each other for the fifth time in World Series competition. Yesterday, the Dodgers ran their current streak to nine games by topping Pittsburgh, 3-1, and 9-5, while the Yankees defeated the Athletics, 8-0 and 7-3. Each team had an identical 77-37 win and lost percentage of .675 today. Which means the Yankees and Dodgers need to win 32 of their remaining 40 games to clinch the flag, even if the White Sox and Braves should win all of their remaining games.

Preacher Roe scattered eight hits to win his eighth game while Carl Erskine, with relief help from Clem Abine won his 14th in Brooklyn's sweep. Erskine struck out eight batters before being kayoed in the eighth when the Pirates made four runs, two on a homer by Frank Thomas.

Yakima to Be Faced By Legion Team Next

By CHRIS KOWITZ JR.

Parker Field, Yakima, Washington (Special)—Running the bases like scared gazelles, Salem's American Legion baseball team romped to a 20-1 victory over Butte, Montana in the opening round of the Northwest Regional Tournament here last night.

Salem stole 16 bases during the game. Only once was a Salem player thrown out attempting to steal. Four of Salem's runs came on thefts of home.

Not to be overlooked in the cloud of dust from sliding Sailemites was the five hit pitching job turned in by Salem's Paul Beck. Three of the hits off Beck came in the ninth inning.

During the first five innings Butte got only one scratch single off Beck, and failed to hit a ball beyond the infield. Beck was a little wild, having trouble staying ahead of the hitters. He gave up seven walks, compared with only three strike-outs.

Beck's teammates backed him up with the most brilliant infield play seen in the opening day of the tournament. Salem turned in two double plays and a half dozen diving catches that would merit applause in any ball park.

The Capital Posters hitting attack was pretty evenly distributed. Salem had 15 hits and of 12 Salem players playing in the game ten of them got hits. Players with more than one were Mike Campbell, Don Piggley, Jerry Waldrop, and Larry Springer, all with two apiece.

Springer had the most stolen bases, four. In the second inning he stole second and third on successive pitches, and he stole home in the sixth and seventh innings.

The Butte catcher's arm leaned toward the weak side, but Salem managed to accumulate most of its stolen bases by keeping the opposition guessing. In nearly every case more than one player was on base when the thefts took place. One Salem runner would draw a throw from the catcher and the other runner or runners would execute a steal.

Salem and Yakima, only undefeated teams in the tournament, clash at eight o'clock Monday night. Yakima defeated Lewiston, Idaho, 7-1 in an earlier game Sunday. Yakima's runs all came after the sixth inning.

Lewiston and Butte were to play Monday afternoon, with the loser being eliminated from tourney. Managers from Butte, Lewiston, and Yakima filed a protest on the eligibility of three Salem players—Gary Espe, Howard Speer, and Jerry Waldrop—on the grounds they had played for more than one Legion team this year. National American Legion officials denied the protest because the players in question would have been eligible to play for Salem all season only if they had so elected.

Waldrop and Speer played for Aumsville during the first portion of the season, then switched to Salem. Espe played for Woodburn before transferring to Salem. National headquarters said there was no rule prohibiting players from switching teams in mid-season, so long as he was eligible for both teams in question.

Legion rules permit a team to secure players from adjoining towns.
