Jobs Offered at Lebanon

Lebanon—The need for pickers is increasing since few of the early fields are reaching their peaks. By the end of this week nearly all growers will be picking, according to the Lebanon employment service. Demand for labor in the seed and grain harvest also is increasing. The Lebanon employment service reports a considerable number of job openings in the oods and mills resulting from a settlement of the labor dispute in the Lebanon and Sweet Home areas.

Hospital Gear for Sick at Lebanon

Lebanon—Six hospital beds and two wheel chairs are now available in Lebanon without cost to the users, reports Rod Donkin, president of the United Fund board of directors. Donkin said the beds and chairs were purchased from funds turned over to the UF by the Community Chest. The articles are loaned out on a two week basis, but if the need exists at the end of that time, it has been the custom to allow the users to keep the article as long as needed. The equipment is stored at the VFW hall, and persons desiring either bed or chair should contact either Mrs. Hal Howe or Earl Saxton.

Mother Kills Daughter, 6

Oklahoma City (AP)—Officers said a 29-year-old mother shot her 6-year-old daughter to death, then critically wounded a 3-year-old son and herself yesterday.

Mrs. Margie Reva Lawson, who lives in a fashionable home in suburban Midwest City, was not expected to survive.

The daughter, Linda, was slain while painting with water colors in a children's book. She still had the brush in her hand when her father, Eastman Lawson, 34, returned home from work.

A 25-caliber automatic lay near Mrs. Lawson's hand. The husband and authorities said they could find no motive for the shootings.

Mrs. John Hill, a neighbor, described the couple as "the happiest two people I know. They never had an argument. It just doesn't add up."
