Brazil Rejects Pat O'Brien

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil (AP)—Hong Kong's "man without a country" still hasn't found one. Brazil says she won't have him.

The rejection was nothing new for Michael Patrick O'Brien. After he got out of Communist China with Red Cross papers on a ferry boat last year, both the British at Hong Kong and Portuguese at Macau refused to let him go ashore. He traveled back and forth on the ferry between the two Asian colonial ports for 10 months until the Brazilian consul in Hong Kong issued him a visa to come to Brazil as a refugee. He flew to Le Havre, France, boarded a liner and arrived in Rio Harbor Thursday. But the Brazilians had changed their minds. They refused to let him land. Police said he would be sent back to Le Havre on the same liner. Authoritative sources said the refusal was based on printed reports he had been involved in drug smuggling, a charge O'Brien denied.

Fire Menaces Amity Elevator

Amity—Fire, which was started by friction of a belt, for a time threatened destruction of the Burlingham-Meeker grain elevator at Amity Thursday morning.

Workmen in the elevator spotted the blaze at its inception, and turned in an alarm through an alarm box at the plant, then attacked the flames with fire fighting equipment at hand.

With the help of farmers who were waiting to unload grain, the workmen kept the fire under control until the fire department arrived and extinguished it.

Damage to the plant was small, according to P. E. Meeker, manager. Norman Smith suffered a lacerated finger while fighting the fire.

Eugene Boy Offered Oklahoma Home

Oklahoma City may turn out to be that pot of gold on the end of the rainbow for Roy Edwards, 17-year-old homeless Eugene, Ore., youth.

Sheriff's officers found Roy sitting dejectedly on the courthouse steps. He told them he had tried to locate his father at Antlers, Okla., and failed. His mother, he said, died recently in an auto accident.

A quick check with his hometown authorities showed Roy was telling the truth. Officers there said he had a fine record, was an excellent football center, 185 pounds and a baseball catcher for Coburg consolidated schools, eight miles west of Eugene.

That's when the city decided to take Roy to its bosom.

The sheriff's officers liked the amiable youth and offered to put him through high school if he wanted to stay here. When the news leaked out, the phone at the sheriff's office began ringing off the hook.

An Oklahoma City couple who lost their son in a Florida plane crash—the tragic accident that carried 24 University of the Oklahoma ROTC cadets to their death—asked Roy if he wanted to take the place of their son.

"I think maybe we could do something for him and he could do something for us," the husband said.

Roy, meanwhile, not quite ready to believe this is happening to him, is going to take a day or two to decide exactly what he wants to do.

23rd Birthday Of Margaret

Baller, Scotland (AP)—It was a champagne birthday for Princess Margaret Friday.

The princess is 23. At Balmoral Castle in Scotland, where she is having a holiday with Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh, she received several hundred happy birthday messages and numerous presents.

The champagne comes Friday night. The Queen is giving a little party for Margaret's closest friends. Although the yearly Balmoral interlude in the lives of the royal family is usually a period of easy informality, there will be party frocks in the castle's white and rose drawing room during the evening.

Reserve Board Buys U.S. Bonds

Washington (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board, faced with renewed tightening in the supply of money and credit, has stepped back into the securities market to ease the situation.

The board's regular statement of reserve bank accounts Thursday showed that during the week which ended Wednesday the board bought 44 million dollars worth of U. S. securities in the open market.

It took this action after a six weeks absence from the securities market, during which reserves of member banks above legal requirements had fallen steadily and member banks considerably increased their borrowing from the reserve system.

Excess reserves represent unused lending power of a bank. Falling excess reserves therefore ordinarily indicate tightening supplies of credit. When credit becomes scarcer, it tends to slow down business.

Churchill Calls Meeting of Cabinet

London (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill Friday told his vacationing ministers to be back in London for another meeting of the cabinet next Tuesday. This will be the second cabinet meeting the 78-year-old Churchill has presided over since doctors ordered him to take a rest from affairs of state two months ago.

Alaskans Ask For Statehood

Fairbanks, Alaska (AP)—Farmers and businessmen outlined to a Senate committee Thursday night the difficulties they said they encounter in operating under a territorial form of government.

They were among 18 witnesses who appeared before the Senate group—a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs—at the concluding session of the Fairbanks phase of statehood hearings being conducted in the territory.

The committee, headed by Sen. Butler (R-Neb.), will move to Anchorage for another session Monday after week-end trips to Pt. Barrow and Nome.

Thursday night witnesses, most of whom spoke in favor of statehood, included Dick Swain, a union business agent, Fairbanks Mayor Ralph J. Rivers, and Cecil Wells, a Fairbanks automotive dealer.

Swain, a homesteader, told the six senators that development of farms in Alaska is extremely difficult under the present territorial form of government. He said statehood would solve Alaska's agriculture problems.

Printers Vote Defense Fund

Detroit (AP)—Delegates to the AFL International Typographical Union convention voted overwhelmingly last night to continue the ITU's strategic defense fund.

The fund, used to publish competing newspapers in areas where ITU printers are on strike, was a topic of heated debate among the 400 delegates attending the union's 95th annual convention.

The union's independent party, headed by John J. Conley of Dallas, contended the $13,000,000 fund should be discontinued because the union should not be in the publishing business.

The vote was a victory for ITU President Woodruff Randolph, who also heads the union's ruling Progressive party which supported the future use of the fund in dealing with strike-bound publishers.

Conley attacked the fund on grounds it created "hate and bitterness" between publishers and the union.

Longest Flight Of Jet Fighters

Lakenheath, England (AP)—Twenty-five F-84 Thunderjet fighters landed here and in Morocco Thursday night after the longest non-stop hops ever made by single engine jets. They came from Turner Field, Ga.

The planes were refueled in the air by tanker aircraft. Eight of the planes landed at Nouasseur, Morocco, 4,475 miles from Turner Field. The others touched down at Lakenheath, 4,485 miles from the Georgia base.

Three others that started with the group reportedly landed at Keflavik Airfield, Iceland, to refuel before coming on to Lakenheath.

The Atlantic crossing took an average of 11 hours and 20 minutes, the Air Force said.

Hodge Charged With Murder

San Rafael, Calif. (AP)—Raymond C. Hodge, 37-year-old ex-convict, was charged with first degree murder today in the death of Roy V. Kappahn, whose hacked and beaten body was found on Mt. Tamalpais last June.

District Attorney William O. Weissich said Hodge would be brought today from San Quentin prison, where he is being held, to municipal court to enter a plea to the charge.

Hodge was implicated in the crime Monday by his alleged accomplice, Duane Albert Hall, 40, who himself confessed to the killing, but claimed it was Hodge's idea. The two men have been held pending trial since their arrest in Medford, Ore., June 19.
