Firemen Study Rural Needs

Sublimity — Representatives and directors from eight fire departments met at Sublimity city hall Tuesday evening for the purpose of improving the mutual aid systems between the districts of Stayton, Aumsville, Turner, Four Corners, Sublimity, Mill City and Jefferson.

Ellsworth Smith, Marion county civil defense fire chief, as well as Salem fire chief, explained the cooperative system whereby the neighboring fire department is notified to assist when help is needed. The central control then alerts a department to stand by for the one giving mutual aid.

Much importance was stressed on the "Definition of boundaries" between the various districts. Irregularities or jogs in the road sometimes cause confusion as to which particular district should be in charge.

A better utilization of radio equipment to work through the central board rather than for each department to try to call in help on their own was advocated by Chief Smith.

Only one of the seven departments does not have radio at present.

Merv Gilson of the state fire marshal's office gave a short talk.

RED TARGET

State Department officials in Washington said they understand Reds are blaming Brig. Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf (above), police expert and one-time American advisor in Iran, as a promoter of the pro-shah uprising against Premier Mohammed Mossadegh. Oregon Ends USAFI Courses

Eugene (AP)—The State System of Higher Education announced Friday it was withdrawing from the United States Armed Forces Institute—a program which offers correspondence courses to service men and women.

A spokesman said the board objected to a clause in the contract which said that schools providing USAFI courses "will not employ or retain for the performance of services under this contract such persons as are disapproved by the federal government."

This, the board contended, deprives the state system of the right to determine the qualifications for teachers in state schools.

Thirteen other colleges and universities throughout the nation also have withdrawn from the program.

Traffic Slowed For Swim Pool

Lebanon—The city council is planning to slow traffic near the municipal swimming pool on the high school campus and has turned the matter over to its safety committee with authority to act. The move was the result of checking on reported fast driving in the area. Slow signs are planned and a 15-mile speed zone posted.

This week's meeting saw the passage of two ordinances. One adopted as a city ordinance a part of the state liquor law not previously adopted, while the other made legal a 1914 of ordinance dealing with the operation of pool tables, which previously carried no enforcing clause.

City Engineer E. G. Whitcomb reported at the center base for the filter at the sewage treatment plant now under construction was poured this week and that work on the city paving program is proceeding well.

Patterson Proclaims Aid to Korea Week

Governor Paul Patterson has proclaimed September 7 to 13 as "Aid to Korea Week" in Oregon and is personally asking Oregon all contributions as Oregon's share in a nation-wide fund raising campaign undertaken to raise immediate assistance to millions of displaced, sick and orphaned Koreans.

A goal of $5,000,000 has been set for the national campaign which is appealing for contributions on a "person to person" basis to offer assistance to a staggering figure of human misery which includes nine million homeless, a hundred thousand orphans and over three hundred thousand widows.

The campaign was instigated by the American-Korean Foundation—of which Dr. Milton Eisenhower is chairman—as the initial step in a long-range program of relief and rehabilitation for Korea.
