Theo. O. Tanner Rites Tuesday

A heart attack suffered at his home at 2070 North Commercial street late Thursday night caused the death of Theodor O. Tanner, Salem resident for the past 18 years.

Tanner was born in Summer, Mont., August 23, 1905, and came to Oregon and to Salem in 1935 from Montana. He was a plasterer and his most recent job had been at the Oregon state prison. During World War II Tanner served with the Seabees, spending 27 months in the Pacific. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Surviving are his wife, the former Alma Miller to whom he was married in 1940 in Seattle; a son, Richard Tanner of Walla Walla, Wash.; his mother, Mrs. Ann Getzlaff of Walla Walla, Wash.; his father, Walter Tanner of Salem; and two grandchildren.

Services will be held at the Howell-Edwards chapel Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with Rev. Elder Shaffner officiating. Interment will be in Belcrest Memorial park.

Expresses Joy

A police garrison at Samirum, city in South Central Iran, about 500 miles from the Iranian capital, was reported captured by the Kashghai tribe, which is loyal to Mossadegh. There are 20,000 of the tribe in Southern Iran.

The pro-government newspaper Nabard Melat published reports that the Communists were plotting an armed uprising and that the government was taking strong steps to foil it. Already 3,000 soldiers from garrisons in the north, where the Shah has many loyal followers, have been transferred to Tehran to reinforce police patrols.

Tehran appeared bright and shining as the Shah landed, with fresh coats of whitewash covering the accumulation of old political slogans on walls throughout the city.

Funeral Services for G. L. Brown Monday

Funeral services will be at the Clough-Barrick chapel Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for Gerald L. Brown, 28, who died at a Portland hospital Tuesday while undergoing a heart operation. Interment will be in Belcrest Memorial park. Rev. Kenneth Abbott will officiate.

Brown, a late resident of 450 South Capitol street, and an attendant at the Oregon State Hospital, was born August 27, 1924, at St. Edwards, Neb. He came to Salem about two and a half years ago from North Platte, Neb.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Laura Brown of Salem; a daughter, Carol Nadine Brown, Elma, Wash.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Exie R. Brown of North Platte, Neb.; sisters, Mrs. Opal Berry of Maywood, Neb., and Mrs. Matilda Belle Romine of Palisade, Neb.; brothers, David Brown of San Bernardino, Calif., Wayne Brown of Redding, Calif., Stanley and Lyle Brown of North Platte, Neb., and Marion Brown in the U.S. Navy.

YOUTH TRAPPED

Milton Mowdy, left, is shown being escorted from a football game by officers last night after it was discovered his story that his mother was killed in an automobile accident was a hoax. The 17-year-old football star from Coburg, Ore., was discovered to be an AWOL paratrooper from Ft. Campbell, Ky. Several dozen persons in Oklahoma City offered to give Mowdy a home so he could complete his education. (AP Wirephoto)

Board Trims

When budgets of five new state agencies, created by the 1953 legislature came up for consideration, members began whittling pencils to cut down requests.

But they found that salaries of executive secretaries and administrators, had in most cases, been specified in the law and there was nothing the board could do about it.

New Agencies Irritating When several members of the board protested about so many new state agencies, Senator Angus Gibson of Junction City, who is noted for voting against expenditure, grinned and said:

"Well, I voted against this commission but you fellows wouldn't follow me." New state agencies and budgets approved included:

Division of Labor Elections, $50,000; Oregon Development Commission, $50,000; Upper Columbia River Basin Commission, $34,000; Water Resources Commission, $50,000, and Klamath River Commission, $25,000.

State Fair Gets $5000 The board voted to permit the Oregon State Fair to expend $5,000 out of what remains of $50,000 allocation for repair of roofs on state fair buildings. Previously the board approved a schedule of repairs, originally estimated to cost $50,000 but which cost only $37,000.

A loan of $20,750 was granted to the Forest Protection and Conservation commission to administer the timber severance tax until tax funds become available July 1, 1954.

Blind School Cut A request of $25,000 to cover cost of repairs to the kitchen at the state blind school was cut to $10,000 by the board and $37,489 was allocated to the department of education to carry out a pilot program for the education of mentally retarded and gifted children in Oregon schools.

Chairman Marsh was re-elected. CARD OF THANKS We wish to express our deep feeling of gratitude to our many friends who helped us in every way during the illness and death of our precious little grandchild and niece, Hyacinth. Also, the little pallbearers, the Sisters of Sacred Heart, the soloists, and for the many, many beautiful flowers which she always loved, and cards. The comforting words of Father Van A. S. R. and Father Harris. Also, Asst. Secretary of State William E. Healey and Congressman Walter Norbad, the Red Cross and the Royal Neighbors of America. Especially the nurses and Dr. Squire who was at her side constantly and gave her every tender care. Also Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wiemals, Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wiemals, Jr.; John Wiemals, James Wiemals, and William Bandy. 200"

Eugene Youth's Story False

Oklahoma City (AP)—Milton Mowdy, who had the city's heart in his pocket just a few hours ago, was lodged in the county jail Saturday as an AWOL paratrooper from Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The 17-year-old high school football star from Coburg, Ore., was found sitting dejectedly on the courthouse steps by sheriff's officers a few days ago. He told them he was Roy Edwards, a lonely, heart-sick youth who lost his mother in an auto accident and was unable to find his father.

The officers, who said they checked with Oregon authorities and found the story to be true, offered to send Mowdy through school. So did dozens of other well-to-do families, and a few offered to adopt him.

Deputy Sheriff Ross Biggers said Eugene police had reported a youth known as Roy Edwards was well known in that vicinity as an honor student and had a good reputation.

He said apparently there was another youth by that name and Mowdy used the name Edwards when he was found here.

But the roof caved in Friday. His picture and story appeared in the Eugene Register-Guard, and Mowdy's mother called the sheriff's office. The youth was arrested at a high school football game, accompanied by a few city coaches trying to convince Mowdy to play for them.

got around this morning they would get inside."

Meanwhile, the head of a state legislative committee which investigated the Thursday riot said in Tacoma that "the destruction was tremendous, beyond the imagination."

Tremendous Loss The remark was made by State Sen. Neil Hoff, chairman of the interim joint house and senate committee on public institutions. He and three other committee members finished their investigation Friday.

Five buildings were burned and a cellhouse wrecked during the riot by half of the reformatory's 600 inmates. The 150 who ran wild in the yard were kept at gunpoint on the reformatory baseball field while all buildings and cells were searched for weapons.

Squirer said the shakedown was completed early Saturday and turned up a varied collection of files, homemade knives, pipes and regular knives looted from the reformatory kitchen during the fires.

Pianist Here—Jorge Bolet, noted Cuban pianist, was a visitor in Salem, Friday, for a few hours. He is to play here next winter in the Community Concert series. With him were Miss Flora Walker, head booking agent for Columbia Artists, and Miss Vivian Taylor, western regional booking agent. They called on Mrs. Max Rogers, for many years secretary of the Salem Community Concert association.

Group Has Picnic — The Indoor Sports club gathered at the Adams home for a picnic on Friday, 54 attending. The dinner was served at 6 o'clock. Highlight of the program for the evening was a talk by Charles A. Barclay, city purchasing agent, who represented the city in giving a talk on "Good Citizenship." Later in the evening, punch was served around the outdoor fireplace.
