9 Injured in Valley Mishaps

Fifteen persons were injured, including several who were hospitalized in a series of accidents in the mid-valley area Sunday and Monday. Five Woodburn high school girls were injured in a collision near Marquam Sunday and two were listed in serious condition Monday. Marcia LeBarr was taken to Hutchinson hospital in Oregon City with a hip injury and Barbara Baumann was taken to Good Samaritan hospital in Portland suffering from back and head injuries. Marjorie Hall, Janice Ostrom and Inez Nelson suffered bruises and lacerations but were not hospitalized. The car, driven by the LeBarr girl, collided with one driven by Verlin Kauffman of Mulino, who was uninjured although a passenger in his car reportedly suffered a cut forehead. Another Woodburn person hospitalized was Euclid Thompson, 21, who was injured when his car skidded out of control and went over an embankment between Woodburn and Estacada Monday. A passenger, Robert Stouderberg, Salem, was treated at Silverton hospital and was released. Both men work at Estacada. Thompson was not listed as in critical condition. Mrs. John Nag, Mt. Angel, also was hospitalized at Silverton hospital for minor injuries when he car skidded off the road near Mt. Angel on the Mt. Angel-Silverton highway Monday. Two Oregon visitors were hospitalized at the Woodburn hospital Monday morning when they were involved in an accident at the intersection of the Pacific and Silverton-Newberg highways at Woodburn. Mrs. J. W. Coulter, Goodman, Missouri, suffered minor injuries when the pickup in which she was riding, driven by her husband, was struck from behind by a station wagon when the pickup stopped for a traffic light. Mrs. Oscar Scarbery, Fresno, California, a passenger in the station wagon, driven by her husband, also suffered minor injuries. Neither driver was hurt.

Scouts Make Camp On North Santiam

Hayesville—Eight boys from Troop 20 attended a two night camp on the Little North Fork of the Santiam river last weekend. The boys swam and fished besides engaging in scoutcraft. By tracking they discovered a beaver home some distance down the river from the camp. Those attending were Douglas Brown, Bob Bramlet, Clinton Deeter, Bob Dotson, Alden Jarms, Gary Jonesburg, Jim Squires and John Tweten. Leaders were Douglas Richardson, George Strozut, Jr., and George Strozut, Sr. Helping with the transportation was Mrs. Everett Brown.

Hobby Asks Jobs For All People

Los Angeles (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Hobby said Tuesday the nation should make greater use of the knowledge and experience of its older citizens. Mrs. Hobby, in a speech prepared for the Los Angeles chapter of the Red Cross, said one field in which her department and the American Red Cross work closely together "is in providing services to our nation's senior citizens." "Not too many years ago," she continued, "it was thought that when a person had reached 50 years of age it was time to be put on the shelf. Today, there are 36 million who are 65. For the nation as well as the individual good, this is far too many people to force into retirement. One of the problems of our generation, of private organizations such as the Red Cross and of the department, will be to readjust our thinking and our uses of this great resource of human beings and their fountain of knowledge and experience."

Hayesville School Will Open Sept. 21

Hayesville—School will open here Sept. 21 as announced by the principal, Boyd D. Hillebrand, who is starting his second year. In anticipation of the completion of the new addition in time for the opening of school a fifth teacher has been hired. The teaching staff this year will be Mrs. Cora Lee Nelson, who replaces Mrs. Richard Hill, primary; Mrs. Frances Rawlins, second and third grade teacher here for the past eight years; Miss Jeanne Dubois, fourth grade, who is beginning her second year here; Mrs. Patricia Lee, fifth grade; and Mr. Boyd Hillebrand, sixth grade. The custodian, Harold Button, is starting his eighth year at this school. Mr. Button has in the past taken over in addition to his other duties the task of getting the children across the busy highway to the school safely. The opening of the cafeteria will be announced at a later date.

Lebanon Seeks Bean Pickers

Lebanon — Bean fields in the area are reaching harvest peak in a number of places and a need for an additional 300 to 400 pickers is indicated, reports Charles Wilson, manager of the Lebanon state employment office. About 1,300 pickers are now working 210 acres of the crop near Lebanon but when all fields reach their peak more than 2,100 pickers will be needed. Transportation to fields is furnished free from Lebanon and Sweet Home. Cool weather is delaying harvest as many fields are still blooming. The end to the harvest will extend well beyond the date of school opening, Wilson said. Chiang Tightens Defense Lines

Taipei, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists today tightened their defenses against possible sneak air attacks by the Chinese Reds—within six minutes jet-flying time of Formosa. Government officials said both civil and military planes which fail to get clearance to land in Formosa and which fail to contact ground stations are liable to be intercepted and shot down. The new measures are in line with those enforced by the American air defense in Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines. The U. S. 7th Fleet and the Nationalist armed forces just completed five days of exercises in which planes from a U. S. aircraft carrier simulated attacking planes.

Speed Zone Asked By Hayesville Folk

Hayesville — The residents of Hayesville have made another formal request to the State Highway department for a 45 mile speed zone. They also have requested a written answer from the department telling why their request has been turned down, if it is. The highway commission will not meet until the middle of September, so an answer cannot be expected before then. In 1952, there were 47 accidents reported between Lancaster Dr. and the city limits.

Strike Vote on Telephone Lines

Seattle (AP)—A strike vote possibility for Washington - Idaho areas employees of the Pacific Telephone Co. appeared on the labor negotiations front Tuesday. There was one favorable development; the company and the Communications Workers of America (CWA) announced jointly that they had extended negotiations to Tuesday midnight. That leaves the zero hour in close range. A union leader said the next step "depend on what happens today"; that if negotiations are broken off at midnight, the next move probably would be a call to union locals for a vote on whether to call a strike.

THIS MAN MAY BE YOUR NEIGHBOR

If you live in Vallejo, you may know Bob Sorg—but wherever you live, chances are a telephone man is your neighbor

Bob Sorg is a Pacific Telephone plant service foreman in Vallejo, California. Like most telephone people, he is a part of the community he serves. His home—which he designed himself—is neat and well-kept. The lawn is green from frequent watering, flowers color the backyard. The house shows pride of citizenship and pride of community. So do the things Bob Sorg does after hours—as a cub master, a church deacon, in PTA affairs and civic undertakings.

1. Bob's job with Pacific Telephone is to supervise the installation of telephones. In postwar years, as cold war defense jobs brought many new workers to Vallejo, this has been a demanding job. Many new service orders, the many different problems met on installation jobs, mean that he and his men must talk things over frequently to keep the schedules going smoothly.

Your telephone neighbors work constantly to give better service at low cost in your town

Bob Sorg typifies the telephone men and women in your community—your friends and neighbors who work constantly to provide better service and keep costs low, helping to make telephones a bargain in any budget.

YOUR TELEPHONE IS ONE OF TODAY'S BEST BARGAINS

2. A familiar family in their neighborhood, the Sorgs have lived in one section of Vallejo for five years. Their home is a favorite meeting spot for Bob's cub scouts, his son's boy scouts, and Mrs. Sorg's PTA group. Their yard is landscaped and equipped to provide an extra outdoor room for fair weather meetings.

3. Bob, with old friends, on Vallejo's main street, Georgia Street... W. R. Carithers and Dale O. Logan, local businessmen. Bob is well-known in Vallejo, for, as the city has grown, he has supervised many of its new telephone installations... in business and residential areas.
