

STOWAWAY RETURNED

His baggage tossed over his shoulder, Wallace Warren Smith, 24, a stowaway who had hoped to swim the English Channel, leaves the liner Queen Mary on arrival at New York. Unable to get a job on the New York docks, Smith, who said he was graduated from La Crosse, Wis., State College last June, stowed away on the Queen Mary on her last trip. He was discovered when the ship was 18 hours out and had to settle for a view of the channel through a porthole since he was not allowed to land in England. He is from Pasadena, Calif. Lee de Forest 80 Years Young

Los Angeles (AP)—Dr. Lee de Forest, whose vacuum tube made radio, television, radar and talking pictures possible, celebrated his 80th birthday today and looked forward to "10 more years of hard work." The "father of radio" was honored at a luncheon given by the National Association for Better Radio and Television. The famed inventor is still working in his laboratory in a Hollywood office building, but he is not working to improve the electron tube. "I'll let the new men take over that work," he said. Dr. de Forest has spent the last few years experimenting on ways of obtaining usable electric current from the heat of metals. The man who started his career at the age of 13, when he drew plans for a perpetual motion machine, claims many "firsts" among his inventions.

How Short for Gals' Skirts?

Winchester, Ky. (AP)—How short do shorts have to be before they become indecent? The city commission Tuesday night dodged a decision on the issue after 30 persons representing five churches appeared to protest the practice of women wearing shorts on city streets. The delegation told the commission women who appear in public dressed in shorts are "ruining the morale of the people." "We are all straight on the road to hell unless something is done about it," one member of the delegation asserted. The commission pointed to a state law forbidding indecent exposure. But when asked for a definition of indecent exposure, the governing body replied that was a matter for the courts to decide. The issue was passed to the city attorney.

Benson Lists Farm Problems

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said yesterday that research and education holds the key to the major farm problems, which he listed as reducing costs, improving quality and expanding markets. Asking the major farm organizations to give him the benefit of their views on farm problems, Benson said: "We must think of the entire job, from the test tube right on through to the complicated business of running a farm and distributing farm products. . . . "If we are to look forward to continuing progress, it is necessary to provide more adequately for research in those fundamental sciences upon which all of agriculture rests. "This is the source of new principles for the further improvement of our soils, plants and livestock." KNOWLAND IN JAPAN Tokyo (AP)—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California arrived here by air today to begin a survey of the free Asian nations.

COMPLETES VOYAGE ACROSS ATLANTIC

Robert Shankel (right), Berkeley, Calif., engineer, completed a voyage across the Atlantic in the 50-foot yawl Nettle, taking about a year to sail from Southampton, England, to Miami, Fla. He said he'd seen so much poverty in other parts of the world he had decided to "see a little of my own country." A Swedish navigator, Rolf Nilsson, (left) and an ocean-going hitchhiker, Miss Winnie Gordon, 28-year-old Australian, accompanied him on the last leg of the trip. His wife sailed with him as far as the Canary Islands. (AP Wirephoto)
