Name Teachers For Mill City

Mill City schools are slated to open Sept. 8 and teachers for both the high and elementary schools are complete with the exception of a vacancy in the high school which is expected to be filled next week.

Vernon S. Todd will again be school superintendent and Howard L. Means will be high school principal, coming here from Gates, where he taught for two years.

He is a graduate of Linfield College and received his masters degree at the University of Utah. He has also taught at Stayton and Myrtle Point.

Other high school teachers include Miss Kathryn Hart, University of Oregon graduate who will have social studies; Mrs. Harry Mason, librarian and home economics; Burton Boroughs, physical education and commerce; Arthur LeCours, science; W. D. Hoeye, industrial arts and mathematics; James Hale, football coach, with Boroughs acting as line coach. He also will be the basketball coach, assisted by LeCours.

The instructor for English and girls physical education will be announced as soon as the vacancy is filled.

Elementary instructors are: first grade, Mrs. Loyd Sletto, Miss Marion Pesbeck, Mrs. John Baldwin; second grade, Miss Zeta Pritchard, Mrs. Joe Bentley, who taught last year in the Gates school; third grade, Miss Sigrid Grimstead, Mrs. Dessie Griffin, of Silverton; fourth grade, Mrs. Earl Loucks, Miss Helen Kliever; fifth grade, Dar-on Dierks, Miss Leitha Thomas; sixth grade, Mrs. Clyde Rogers, Earl Loucks; seventh and eighth, Robert Thorpe, James Hale, Mrs. Donald Shey-the (eighth only); library, girls P. ## 'Lure of the West' Brings Teachers Here

The "lure of the west" has apparently played a big part in providing a full faculty for the Salem school district, according to Superintendent Walter Snyder.

Summer resignations from the teaching staff are expected each year, comments Dr. Snyder, but vacancies can always be filled by people as interested in the state as in the schools.

"Invariably," says Snyder, "these teachers tell me that three things attract them to Salem—the working conditions and salaries in Oregon—the 'lure of the west,'—and the desirability of our city as a place in which to live and teach."

"If it were not for these factors," he adds, "I fear many of our classrooms would be without teachers this fall."

New Vocal Teacher For Albany High

Albany—A new vocal music instructor for Albany union high and junior high schools will be Dale Barker, who taught in Astoria for the past four years. He replaces Woodrow Sarchet as high school instructor, and Darle West on the junior high staff.

West, however, will continue to teach instrumental music in the junior high school and will take over Sarchet's duties as head of the instrumental department in the senior high school.

MORNINGSIDE SCHOOL RUSHED TO COMPLETION

New Morningside schoolhouse for elementary grades is now being hurried to completion to accommodate classes. Here, too, the modern schoolhouse architecture is followed.

Parents-to-Be Given Instruction Course

Recently completed by the Marion County Health Department was a series of classes in pre-natal care for expectant mothers and fathers.

Some 13 parents-to-be concluded the series of four classes this August, led by Mrs. Glenn Sweringer, a public health nurse. Such classes are continued in a series of four each month during the year.

Class members learn infant care from birth through early baby-hood. Films on the subject are shown and a nurse leads discussion in the class. In August a trip was taken to a maternity ward for observation.

New classes begin Sept. 5. Held at the health department, those interested may enroll there.
