

RUSSIA'S VERSION OF B-36

American Aviation magazine says this picture, released in Washington, is that of a Russian TuG75 bomber souped up with six turbo-prop engines. According to the magazine, this photograph was obtained from a reliable source inside Soviet-controlled territory. The TuG75, the magazine said, is a copy of the U. S. B-36 intercontinental bomber and is being mass produced in Russia. (AP Wirephoto.)

Exciting Look for Girls' Sportswear

Back-to-school sportswear for girls takes on an exciting new look this fall through the unexpected use of soft pastels and bright vivid hues. No longer is sportswear being limited to the classic colors usually found in fall showings. Shirts, sweaters, and wool jersey blouses are being shown in soft pretty pastels as a change from the deep greens, reds, and navy.

Tweed and flannel skirts appear, too in pale-hued pastels. The new washability of wool and miracle fibre blends makes the introduction of pastels possible. Equally new in back-to-school wardrobes is the use of vivid colors. Tweeds, flannels, and jerseys appear in sharp turquoise, brilliant pink, and the brightest blues.

Childs' Wear Tips

Mothers, you can save many dollars each year if you are alerted to points in buying.

Here are the questions to remember when buying clothes—

IS IT WARM? Many warm garments do not permit excess body moisture to escape—porous materials, such as wool, do! The proper fabrics can help prevent colds.

SERVICEABILITY? Can a garment be cleaned, mended or altered easily? These factors should be considered carefully.

WILL IT SHRINK? Read labels carefully or get the merchant's assurance.

IS IT STYLE-WISE? Style-right garments help give the youngster poise and self-confidence.

So—be sure to check a garment's real value in terms of long service, cleanability, its mending and alteration qualities, and whether it will bring out the best in a lad's or girl's appearance.

Check the many values in this special back-to-school section.

Grass Fires Plague Liberty Firemen

Liberty-Salem Heights—The Liberty-Salem Heights fire department was kept busy Saturday and Sunday with two fire calls but no damage reported.

Saturday at 4:30 p.m. the firemen extinguished a grass fire at Stacey's Fur Farm at 765 Boone Rd., just before damage was done to the mink pens. It started from burning rubbish.

Sunday at 1:30 p.m. the firemen put out another grass fire at the E. H. Barnhardt residence at 1410 Barnes Ave. It started from a burning paper flying out of trash burner which had no screen over the top. The paper landed in a field of dry grass and burned about four acres.

Permits are still required for burning. Permits may be gotten from the fire chief, Norval Hirons, or from Neale Chaney or Shannon Sturm at Dickson's Market.

The axe was probably the first weapon or tool to have a handle says the National Geographic Society.

Girl Scouts Busy in All Community Life Phases

It's back to school for nearly two million Girl Scouts who have been spending the summer at Girl Scout camps, outings, trips, overnight hikes and other out-of-door activities.

Many of the skills they acquired during their Scout life will be useful in their school work as well as in their troops. For Scouting and schooling have much in common.

They supplement and cooperate with one another; working together to give girls every opportunity to become resourceful, self-reliant individuals as well as good citizens of troop, school, and community.

Scouting provides a laboratory for the practice of many skills learned in school. Girl Scout leaders are encouraged to familiarize themselves with school programs so that they may supplement current studies with troop activities.

Many schools interested in camping, do a great deal of work in promoting it for the students.

The Girl Scouts are indebted to the schools for much encouragement and many favors. With the schools' cooperation they have access to school facilities, and the services of teachers who are enthusiastic troop leaders, program consultants or members of Girl Scout Councils.

More than half the troops throughout the country are sponsored by Parent-Teacher associations, and through their assistance. Girl Scouts are given access to schoolrooms, gymnasiums and playgrounds. In turn the Girl Scouts are eager participants in a variety of service projects that are of benefit to the school and to the PTA.

For example, they often baby sit while parents attend PTA meetings. They serve as ushers at school affairs; help with clerical work in the school office, assist in the library, cafeteria, on the playground, and do many, many innumerable odd jobs!

There are about 150,000 amateur radio stations in the world of which about 100,000 are in the United States.
