Omar Barth Returns Home

Rev. Omar N. Barth, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, has returned to his pulpit after spending three and a half months touring Europe and the Middle East. He visited the Holy Land during 30 days of his trip abroad.

The minister reports tensions still exist between the Arabs and the Israelites, the former apparently being resentful of the progress being made by the Jews.

The spot where the manger was supposedly located when Christ was born was viewed by the minister, while he visited many other Biblical points of interest.

Rev. Barth reached England in time to witness the coronation and before returning to the United States, passed through Greece, Italy, Austria, Yugoslavia, Switzerland, Germany, and Belgium.

Reserves to Take Cruises

Telephone growth has been rapid in Salem since the end of World War II. Manager E. A. Berglund of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company said today in commenting on the general growth of the industry on the Pacific Coast, for yesterday the 6,000,000th phone on the coast was installed.

But speaking for Salem alone, Berglund mentioned that the day the United States won the war against Japan in 1945 Salem had 11,010 telephones. Since then the number has more than doubled, and the total now is 23,069.

The 6,000,000th phone on the coast was placed in service with a flourish Wednesday in the Barstow, Calif., home of a marine veteran of the Korean war, Master Sergeant Lionel P. Williams and his wife Dorothy. Officials of both Pacific Telephone and the independent telephone associations were on hand to hall the event as a milestone in the west's telephone progress.

The installation was made by the Interstate Telegraph company, an affiliate of the California Electric Power company, one of the more than 200 independent telephone companies that interconnect and cooperate with Pacific Telephone in providing Pacific coast telephone service.

The six millionth telephone, the telephone executives gathered at Barstow pointed out, is a symbol of the tremendous growth of the telephone industry in the last eight years to bring service to the West's millions of new residents.

Today's 6,000,000 telephones are just about double the 1945 coast total.

Berglund said Pacific Telephone has now spent more than $1,400,000,000 on its post-war expansion program.

Woodburn Orders $16,000 Fire Truck

Woodburn—At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night, a new American LaFrance fire truck was purchased, an invader model, Class A, 750 gallons per minute GPM triple combination pumper, at a cost of $16,000. The truck has a 215 horsepower motor with the driver's seat in front of the motor. It is to be delivered in about six months.

This truck was the unanimous choice of the council and of all but one fireman who favored a Seagraves truck which was also considered.

An ordinance was passed assessing the cost of the paving of Arthur St., and also an ordinance for the graveling of High St. between Fifth and Sixth.

The proposed ordinance making it mandatory to secure a permit from the fire company for bonfires in the city limits, was tabled.

S. P. to Start Big Project

Portland, Ore.—Southern Pacific will start construction of a $3,803,000 project involving installation of centralized control equipment for 95 miles of the Cascade line between Crescent Lake and Eugene in early October, company President D. J. Russell announced today.

Centralized traffic control equipment, by which trains can be dispatched by remote control, already has been installed between Redding, and Black Butte, Calif. Work on a 99 mile CTC system between Klamath Falls and Crescent Lake is nearing completion, Russell said.

With completion of the Crescent Lake-Eugene project, 273 miles of the company's Cascade line will be operable under remote control Russell explained.

The project also includes construction of an office and equipment repair shop at Eugene.

Suspension Order In Phone Dispute

Portland, Ore.—Negotiations between Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company and the workers were suspended here today and Federal Mediator Bob McClelland indicated he would not call another meeting until one or both sides had more to offer toward settlement of the dispute.

Retail Coffee Price Goes Up in Portland

Portland, Ore.—Retail coffee prices were 2 to 4 cents a pound higher on Portland grocer's shelves today, with most advertised brands selling at 95 cents a pound.

The price increase reflects wholesale price boosts made a month ago, coffee industry spokesmen said. The high price of green coffee in Brazil was blamed for the soaring prices.

Kaiser Sales Show 29 Per Cent Growth
Oakland, Calif. (AP)—Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. Thursday said its sales for the fiscal year ended May 31 increased 29 per cent over the previous year to a record high of $182,653,000.

The company said, however, its net earnings for the fiscal year dropped from $11,493,000 to $9,571,000, partially because amortization was increased to more than four times the previous rate.

This year's earnings were the equivalent of $1.56 per common share, compared to $3.09 last year.

In his annual report to stockholders, President Henry J. Kaiser predicted a bright future for the aluminum industry. "Today the market is seven times what it was in 1940" Kaiser said, "yet the potential demand for aluminum has never been brighter for new applications."
