Radio-Television
By DAVE BLACKMER

So now we have a new Martin Kane! Just when TELEVIEWERS were substituting the name of Martin Kane for Lee Tracy's real name the television network upsets the apple cart and inserts a brand spanking new Martin Kane.

The old Kane, Lee Tracy, looked, acted and even had the actions of a private eye. . . . But this new gent, Mark Stevens doesn't look like he could trap a butterfly.

What happened to Lee Tracy? Mr. NBC please give the TELEVIEWERS a real harden detective like Lee Tracy or give up the show. . . . Letters from TELEVIEW readers on this subject will be forwarded to the proper source. . . . Join the we want Kane club.

A woman in Los Angeles called the police department and asked for Joe Friday. . . . Of course the L. A. agency forwarded a substitute as Jack Webb, star of NBC's Dragnet could not keep the appointment.

Sports fans here is what you have been waiting for all summer. . . . The fights on Friday night television are returning to KPTV. On "opening night" Lulu Perez-Dave Galt's 147 featherweight battle will be televised on the Cavalcade of Sports.

Manufacturers Association Directors See 'Its in Holding Down Tax Load'

State Legislators yesterday received attention from the board of directors of the Manufacturers Association, meeting in Los Angeles.

The directors said the State tax load already is one of the most important of the many factors that give out-of-state producers a competitive advantage over local manufacturers.

Thus, by preventing adoption of a higher State budget ceiling or higher taxes, the business men say these legislators have prevented injury to the State's economy.

Industrial State

In addition to going on record for holding the line on tax spending and giving out-of-state producers a competitive advantage over local manufacturers, the directors also urged the Legislature to investigate the State's personal property tax law.

"The personal property tax of California appears to be the highest and not geared to an industrial State," the state and continued, "and the lack of sufficient definition of personal property and determination of the personal property tax field. Therefore the Legislature is requested to make a special interim study of the overall problem of personal property taxation."

State-wide Committee

Plans were discussed for the association's annual meeting, to be held at the Statler Oct. 22. Executives promised a visit to the association in the near future.
