Hoagy Carmichael, star-host of NBC-TV's "Saturday Night Revue," has another tune on the road to a hit. Since the start of the weekly 90-minute revue, Hoagy has been plugging a song titled "Love Will Soon Be Here," which he wrote a few years ago but was never able to get published.

Each week he would start to play the song during the show but time would run out before he could finish it.

The TV audience however, went for the song in a big way and wrote many letters asking Hoagy to play the number in its entirety and record it so they could add it to their record collection.

Hoagy's fans will be happy to learn that he recorded "Love Will Soon Be Here" last week with Capitol records and he will also play and sing it on his last "Saturday Night Revue" telecast Saturday, September 5 on KPTV.

Florist Shop Founder Dies

The founder of the Breithaupt florist shop, 447 Court street, and long time Salem resident, Charles Frederick Breithaupt, died Thursday at a local hospital following an illness of several weeks.

Services will be held at the W. T. Rigdon chapel at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. Final services will be held at Belcrest Memorial park following the Rigdon services.

Born in Abbot, Iowa, on December 26, 1874, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Breithaupt, he farmed and taught school prior to moving to Spokane, Washington, in 1900. In 1901 he moved to Kennewick, Washington, where he was a bank cashier.

Breithaupt took part in founding the Benton Water company and later assisted in developing Richland, Washington.

In 1905 he married Jennie Roberts in Wabitsburg, Wash., and in 1922 he purchased the flower shop bearing his name from C. B. Clancy. He was active in the floral business until 1944. In that year he sold his business to his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heath who presently own it.

After selling, he and his wife moved to Cutler City, Oregon, where he remained until he

Mrs. Dunsford Died Thursday

Funeral services are to be held at the First Christian church here Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Adeline Dunsford, former Salem resident, who died at the Emanuel hospital in Portland, Thursday.

Interment is to be in City View cemetery under the direction of the Colonel Mortuary of Portland.

Mrs. Dunsford was the widow of the late George Dunsford, Salem business man and employe of the state in the old capitol building for many years who died in the 1930s.

She was born March 7, 1869, near McMinnville, and prior to moving to Portland about a year ago to make her home with her sister, Miss Mary Payne, had made her home in Salem at 1945 South High street.

Mrs. Dunsford was a member of the Eastern Star in Salem and a member of the First Christian church.

One other sister, Mrs. Della Jeffery of Portland, also survives her.

Reds Give Planes to Rebels in Indochina

Taipei, Formosa (AP)—A Nationalist Chinese news agency said today the Chinese communists plan to give the Viet-minh rebels in Indochina 15 fighter planes and use of air bases in South China's Kwangsi province.

The Interior Ministry's Tao agency, which claims underground sources said the planes would be handed over shortly at Nanning in Kwangsi.

The agency also said a 30-man Viet-minh good will mission left Peiping Aug. 27 for Outer Mongolia after a four-week visit to North China, probably to conclude a mutual defense pact with the Mongolian state.

Oregon's growers of malting barley got a break in the weather this week and most agree that for the first time in quite a spell the outlook is good.

The price is far from what it was a year ago, but the fear of virtual disaster from rain damage has been dispelled.

Oregon has about 300,000 acres planted to Hanncben, a two-row malting barley of high quality, much in demand. That is up perhaps 25,000 to 30,000 acres over a year ago.

The Klamath Basin is most widely known for its malting barley production, but in recent years farmers through much of the Willamette Valley also have turned to it. Klamath County with about 44,000 acres is a major producer but significant amounts are grown in Polk, Marion, Washington, Linn and Lane Counties.

Some is grown in other counties too—in Union, Jefferson, Harney and Lake—but there it is a minor crop.

QUAKE RECORDED

Weston, Mass. (AP)—A strong earthquake was recorded by the Boston College seismograph station early today somewhere off the coast of Kamchatka, Siberia.

Meet Mr. LLOYD FERGUSON

Mr. Ferguson, manager of the Salem Resident Office, will be on hand to greet you as host at the J. Henry Helsler & Co. display booth at the Oregon State Fair, September 5 to 12. This interesting exhibit will be on the ground floor of the Junior Exhibit Building. The display has been designed to show you the importance of research techniques as a factor in securities investment operations. You will see the newest of modern research equipment in actual operation, I.N.S. News Ticker, a Trans-Lux stock quotation projector presenting wire quotations direct from the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, and a Dow Jones News Machine. See this interesting and instructive exhibit when you visit the Oregon State Fair.

Linn Co. Forests Became Explosive

Lebanon—Linn county forests were in a critically dry condition Thursday noon in spite of a week of heavy rain. The Linn county fire patrol headquarters at Sweet Home said the burning index ranged from 65 at Green Peter Look-out to 82 at Swamp mountain. Woods are declared explosive between 50 and 100. Humidity dropped below
