PIN PATTER

By BENN VALDEZ

Another bowling season just about ready to get under way and plans are cooking in nearly every league in both houses. All bowlers who haven't found a team yet, better hurry as the season will kick off on the 14th. Many changes in the various leagues since last year but the biggest bowling change hereabouts was the election of new officers for the Salam Rowling Association.

change hereabouts was the election of new officers for the Salem Bowling Association. New president of the association will be Howard Bartholo-mew, 171 average kegler from the Capitol Industrial League No. 1. Howard is one of the few hard working, conscientious bowlers with a grasp of ad-ministrative fundamentals and should make a fine president. He will have many headaches this next year that he never had before and sometimes he will wonder whether it's all worth it, but before he is done, he will have learned many things about this game of ours.

things about this game of ours.

Howard's right hand man will be Jay Gould, who has been elected the new secretary for a three year term. Jay has served as the very efficient secretary of the two state house leagues at the U-bowl and proved himself one of the last secretary in the city in a very short while.

The new vice presidents are Dean Henderson, James Young, John Riches, and Wendell Ewing, All, with the exception of Wen Ewing, have been of Wen Ewing, have been around bowling circles for more years than they care to imit.

Sitting on the Board of Howard Bartholomew Directors will be Past President Don Lutz, Eugene Kitzmiller, Cliff Malson, and Walt "Pappy" Gardner. The State Director to the Oregon State Bowling Association will be John "Hash House" Glodt, re-elected. Salem's representative to the National Council will be Vern Turner, ABC tournament representative.

The city has voted to retain the individual membership

The city has voted to retain the individual membership plan for the coming year with the provision that all leagues will be responsible for their membership and will report to the City Association on progress. This individual membership plan did not go over too well last year because it was new to everyone, but no difficulty should be encountered this year in making it work to everyone's satisfaction.

The Capitol Major league will experiment this year with a four game series with a ten team league again in view. The league will bowl on Wednesdays as usual, but the league will start at 7:00 and each team will bowl a four game block with the team having high series get an extra point. The five point system will not bar the league from ABC high game or series awards as they will be counted on the first three games only. New officers of the league are John Irons, president; Ev Clark, vice president, and Herbert Huddinspool will be the new sectanger carrier Co., a transfer from the fast Portland Intercity Classic and, reportedly, a team from the U-Bowl captained by Bob Price. found a sponsor this year.

Line-up in the University Classic league has not been completed as yet but seems the league will be a little smaller than the 12 team wheel which finished the season last year. Back to defend their classic crown will be the Cupboard Cafe gang, led ence again by their sponsor John Glodt.

plans are under way now for each house in Salem to organize a full 32 team booster squad to represent Salem in this, the "world series" of bowling. Great thing about bowling is the fact that a dubber can beat the world champion in a three game set. The booster team will get the big break in the ABC this year as there will be $720.00 distributed to every booster squad shooting in the extravaganza and, of the 32 teams bowling at a particular time, 20 of them will receive prize money. That looks to me like better than even money so if you haven't thought about the ABC, now is the time to start organizing your team for prompt entry in the meet. Those getting their entries in now will have preference for dates to bowl. Salem will be able to bowl on week-ends but these are few and they will go fast, once entries start pouring in.

Straight Fight

New York (F)—Lulu Perez had his 22nd straight victory to his credit Saturday — an eight-round technical knock-out over Davey Gallardo—but No. 22 will be one he'll remember for a long time. "It was my toughest fight," said the 20-year-old Brooklyn speed merchant. "Gallardo had me in plenty of trouble."
