Mrs. McLean distributed programs and also invited members to attend the seventh annual Oregon town and country church conference at Oregon State college, October 12 to 15. The Rev. ### Dr. Howard Featured in News Letter

Dr. Charles A. Howard, former educator and more recently representative of the Equitable Savings and Loan association, is the subject of a feature article of the recent "News Letter" of the organization.

Dr. Howard is about to retire for the second time within recent years. After serving Oregon in the field of education as a teacher, administrator, state superintendent of public instruction and college president, Dr. Howard was a victim of the state retirement act about six years ago.

The educator declined to remain "retired" and joined the Equitable association. In this capacity his list of friends and acquaintances became greatly enlarged. This fact is well illustrated in the "News Letter."

The "News Letter" has Dr. Howard visiting with Frank D. Ward, owner of the Salem Auto Parts company; Dr. Walter E. Snyder, Salem superintendent of schools; Dr. George T. Hill, orthodontist; Manager C. A. Schaefer and Bookkeeper F. D. Kibbee of the Western Paper Converting company; T. F. Anderson, superintendent, and Kenneth Torgensen, director of sale for Western Paper; Police Sergeant E. R. Munding; Frank Glodt, owner of the Cupboard Cafe, and Ione Hanson and Harold F. Phillips of the secretary of state's office.
