

Giselle Mackenzie, young singing headliner, will join Dorothy Collins, Snooky Lanson and Russell Arms as the star vocalist of "Your Hit Parade," when the musical extravaganza returns for the fall season, after a summer vacation, Saturday, September 12 (NBC-TV, KPTV).

The fast-paced half hour show will continue to present song-and-dance interpretations of the nation's top seven tunes of the week as ascertained by a comprehensive nationwide survey—as well as the colorful "extras" culled from the hits of yesteryear.

Raymond Scott and his orchestra will head the musical troupe. Returning also will be the Hit Parade dancers, including Virginia Conwell, Nanon Millis, Lenny Claret, Bob Herget and Tom Hanson, as well as the versatile choristers known as the Hit Parade singers.

sar, wearing his famous tat-tered professor's costume and Imogene Coca with her equally famous pixey-ish expression, will return to NBC-TV on KPTV Saturday night September 12, on the 90 minute musical extrav-aganza, "Your Show of Shows."
