

Compton-Sika Wedding Today

Mr. Angel — St. Mary's Catholic church was the scene of a beautiful wedding this morning (Saturday) when Miss Ellen Marie Sika, daughter of Mrs. Oswald Sika and the late Mr. Sika, was married to Robert Lawson Compton, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Miles Compton of Salem.

The Rev. Hildebrand Melchior, OSB, officiated at the 11 o'clock double ring ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

Baskets of gladioluses in pastel shades were used in the church decorations, and similar flowers adorned the altars. Miss Rosalie Harpole and Miss Louise Schindler sang for the service, accompanied by Miss Helen Keber at the organ.

Nylon Tulle Dress
The bride wore an exquisite wedding dress of frothy white nylon tulle. The Empire styled bodice was accented with a band trim of white silk, and the portrait collar of nylon tulle framed the shallow V-neckline extending over the shoulders to form cap sleeves. Layers of tiered bouffant tulle formed the floor length hooped skirt.

A satin Dutch boy cap trimmed with rhinestones and pearls held the double fingertip veil of imported illusion, which was trimmed with rosepoint lace. The bride wore a string of pearls, and her flowers was a cascade bouquet of white roses with streamers, centered with a corsage of white baby roses. Mr. Compton gave the bride in marriage.

Attending the bride were her two sisters, who wore frocks of frothy nylon tulle identical in style to the bride's wedding dress. Miss Ingrid Sika was in baby blue, and Miss Marilyn Sika wore light pink. They carried nosegays of carnations in pastel shades, and wore wreaths of matching carnations in their hair.

Ken Harding, Salem, was best man, and groomsmen was Ray Jablons, of Medford. Ushering the guests was Jack Farrel of McMinnville.

The bride's mother chose a brown silk two-piece dress for her daughter's nuptials. With the dress she wore beige accessories and her corsage was yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Compton attended her son's wedding in a navy blue dress with white accessories, and her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Corvallis, grandparents of the bridegroom, were present for the nuptials. Mrs. Smith wore a blue ensemble and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Luncheon and Reception
After the church ceremonies, guests adjourned to the country home of the bride's mother, west of town, for a buffet luncheon and reception. The pastel color theme again was used in the decorations, with gladioluses and asters providing the decor. Tables were set in the gardens. A white tablecloth with handmade lace and fitted squares of linen cutwork, covered the bride's table. A four-tiered, latticed wedding cake, baked in the shape of a cross and decorated with pastel roses, centered the table. Forming the background for the cake was a seven-candle hand carved copped candelabrum. Pastel flowers encircled the cake, and arrangements of blooms and lighted tapers were used on each side. The bride's mother secured the tablecloth and candelabrum in China and the Philippine Islands when she lived there before the war.

Cutting the cake was Mrs. A. Einerson of Corvallis, and Mrs. Owen C. Givillim of Junction City, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the urn. In charge of the gift table were Miss Vivian Keith of Estacada, the bride's roommate at Oregon State college, and Miss Carolina Einerson of Corvallis. Miss Betty Looney of Brooks, circulated the guest book.

For traveling, the bride wore a watermelon red knit suit and matching hat, and her accessories were black. Her corsage was the white baby roses from her wedding bouquet.

Ventura will be the couple's first home, where the bridegroom is with the Shell Oil company as a mechanical engineer. Later they will live at Bakersfield.

Out-of-town guests came from California, with many present from the valley cities, as well as Portland, Corvallis and LaGrande.
