

Bearcats to Try Stopping Rutschman, Tarpenning

Willamette Has Long Scrimmage

"Stop Ad Rutschman and you can stop Linfield" has been the word all season but it isn't the whole truth, Coach Ted Ogda of Willamette university said yesterday.

Linfield, the Bearcats' final Northwest conference opponent, also has Al Tarpenning, a Junior from Gresham who is fast and shifty at left half and helps carry the load so that it doesn't pay to watch Rutschman all the time, Ogda explained.

In front of the ace ball packers is a line which is one of Linfield's tackles being listed as 250 pounds, Ray Morris.

The Saturday game will be at 8 p.m. at McMinnville. Second place will be the reward.

Rutschman, a senior full-back, weighs 182 and is five feet, nine. He's rough and tough, doing assorted chores for the Wildcats such as kicking off, passing, punting and kicking points after touchdowns.

Rutschman is second in rushing in the conference, behind the rip-snorting of Ted Martin of College of Idaho. He also is tied for the lead in punting.

Willamette had one long scrimmage session yesterday which used Linfield's offense, and also stressed defense against the likes of Rutschman. The best defense, Ogda pointed out, is to tackle the Linfield fullback.

The Bearcats are in good condition except for Lou Lofland, with an ailing arm, and Norm Dversdal, a sore shoulder.

Salem Swimming Team Will Open Season Thursday

The Salem high swimming team, coached by Chester Goodman, meets Lake Oswego Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in the local YMCA pool. This will be the first meet of the season for the Vikings.

The two schools met twice before the annual state meet with the return engagement at the University of Portland pool Tuesday, December 1. Other dual meets for the Vikings this year are against McMinnville on Thursday, November 19 and West Lin on Wednesday, November 25. The state meet is December 12 at Eugene.

The tentative Salem lineup is: 40 yard freestyle, Dave Socolofsky and Dave Kromer; 100 yard breaststroke, Jim Hardie and Jerry Ellis; 220 yard freestyle, Jim Lawrence and Del Frahm; 100 yard backstroke, Dean Angove and LeRoy Griebenow; 100 yard freestyle, Jim Boudreau and Dave Socolofsky; 120 yard individual medley, Dave Kromer and Jim Hardie; 180 yard medley relay, Jim Hardie (breaststroke), Dean Angove (backstroke), and Del Frahm (freestyle); 160 yard relay, Jim Lawrence, Dave Socolofsky, Jim Boudreau, and Dave Kromer.

You Be the Quarterback ANSWER

4. Screen pass. No. Shouldn't go for big yardage here. And the clock keeps running.
3. End run. You could expect only a medium gain, and that of' debbil Time still is around.
2. Long pass. A good gain if you connect.
1. Run or pass option. This gives your back his best chance here. He can both run and pass. As the defense develops, he can make his choice.

Savage Threatens Pinion's Lead in OCC Rushing Race

Loren Savage, Eastern Oregon college back, can win the rushing title of the Oregon Collegiate conference by gaining 129 net yards against Wenatchee Junior college this week end.

Savage is 128 behind OCE's Chuck Pinion, who finished the season with 670 net yards in 121 carries.

There were no leadership changes in passing, punting or scoring, either in rushing, however, Savage took over second ahead of Stewart of Portland State by gaining 104 yards last week.

WIL Gives Wenatchee Till Nov. 24 to Decide

Victoria, B. C. (AP)—Western International League directors have given Wenatchee until Nov. 24 to decide whether to retain its franchise in the Class A baseball circuit.

Ending their annual meeting here Tuesday, directors set the deadline and indicated if Wenatchee decides against continuing in the league favorable consideration may be given to Tacoma's bid to rejoin the loop.

Wenatchee, Yakima and Spokane suffered serious financial setbacks during the 1954 season.

When the season ended, Yakima owner Frederick Meyer Jr. announced he was giving up his interest in the club. But he told directors here a group of Yakima businessmen will take over the franchise.

Favors Tacoma If Needed
Tacoma attorney Robert Abel, who was returned to his old job as part-time WIL president, said Meyer's announcement means "Yakima will be in" in 1954.

Abel said if Wenatchee decides to drop out, Tacoma, which yielded its WIL franchise to Lewiston, Idaho, 1952, should be given consideration. "Sound businessmen," he said are backing the Tacoma bid. "... and with Wenatchee out it wouldn't be feasible not to consider Tacoma."

Wenatchee was not represented at the directors' meeting.

The possibility that Bob Brown of Vancouver, B. C., who is retiring as fulltime league president Dec. 21, may buy into the Spokane Indians developed after the meeting adjourned. Indians owner Roy Hotchkiss told reporters Brown, former general manager of the Vancouver Capilanos, had expressed interest in the club.

Senators to Train in Salem, Buying Tarpaulin for Infield

The directors dropped the player limit from 18 to 16, voted to allow teams to retain all gate receipts from home games, and agreed to a later spring opening date and a Labor Day closing date.

The 1954 schedule and a decision on continuance of the split season was put over until the January meeting at Lewiston, Idaho.

week spring training here at Waters park starting April 7. Williams and Hugh Luby, manager, returned last night from Victoria, where the Western International league directors met.

Salem should be helped considerably by the move to let teams keep all their home game receipts, he said, pointing out that Salem received $16,000 less last year on the road than the year before.

A couple player deals are being negotiated, Williams noted.

The Salem club is going to try to get more exhibition games this spring with Pacific Coast league teams in Salem, and Salem is negotiating to buy a tarpaulin to cover the skinned portion of the infield, Williams added, estimating that eight or ten games could have been saved last season by keeping the infield dry.

Williams was elected league vice president at Victoria. Next meeting will be at Lewiston the second week in January to draw up a schedule and decide definitely on size of the league and on a split season or Shaughnessy playoff. The season will open April 29 or 30, a week later than before.

Amity and Gervais To Play Friday on Newberg Gridiron

The neutral field of Newberg has been chosen for the Gervais-Amity state class B football quarterfinal game at 8 p.m. Friday.

Amity last week earned the district 1B crown on yardage after tying Verboort, 13-13. Gervais is district 2B champion. Amity also won the Class A2 Yawama league title.

Flubber-Dubber Golf Event Set

High handicap players will be paired with low handicappers in a Flubber-Dubber golf tournament Sunday morning at the Salem Golf club course.

The 18-hole Scotch foursome competition will begin at 9 o'clock with the losing team buying dinner for the winning team at a feast November 19 at the club.

Men wanting to enter the journey are asked to call the clubhouse by Saturday.

Lindsey-Engstrom Duo Romps on Vagnone, Eric

The ponderous Luther Lindsey accounted for both falls of a wild-eyed Australian tag team match last night at the Salem Armory as he and Carl Engstrom defeated Red Vagnone and Eric Pederson.

The vain and arrogant Pederson was elevated to the main event when it became known that Jack O'Reilly, usually Vagnone's partner, is in a hospital at Oregon City with rib injuries suffered grappling with Danno McDonald in Portland.

Lindsey and Engstrom took the first fall, Lindsey dropping-kicking Vagnone and pinning him with a flying swan dive in a rough-house fall.

Pederson evened it up by using a stepover toehold on Engstrom, pulling him away from the ropes so he could not tag Lindsey in, hurting Engstrom's leg.

Lindsey came out for the third fall to give Pederson's leg and knee a workout, Lindsey throwing regulation foot ball blocks on the arrogant one in between leg twistings until Pederson had to quit.

McDonald and Hardy Kruskamp fought to a draw in a hard match in the semi-wind-up.

David Jons, from London, defeated Doug Donnan in 17 minutes of their one-fall special event, using a standing back-breaker.
