

Proposed Opening of 17th Approved by Commission

The City Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday night endorsed a proposed opening of 17th street from Shelton Ditch to Mission street, a distance less than 200 feet.

City Engineer J. H. Davis said three steps would be necessary. One will be acceptance of a deed from A. B. McKillop to a small triangular property at the present dead end of 17th. Another will be vacation by the city for McKillop of a small part of Mission street, now unused, at the new intersection of 17th and Mission; and the third, acquisition of another small triangular property on Shelton Ditch as right of way for the extension. Since the extension would require a bridge it will have to await until funds are available.

Commissioner V. D. McMullen, chairman of the subdivision committee of the commission, told the group that he is making a study of subdivision regulations of other cities. Some of them, he said, require that ordinary streets be 70 feet wide, primary streets 90 feet, and highways 100 feet. He asked the members to be thinking about how far the planning division of the commission should go in setting up new regulations.

As the commission set three variance hearings for December Chairman W. W. Rosebraugh predicted, because of the new code, the commission would receive numerous requests for some time to come.

For December 8 a hearing was set on the request of Frank D. Vinson to remodel a store building at Lincoln and South Commercial, which is in a residential zone, but a small store was operated there for a number of years.

Two hearings were set for December 15. One will be on a request for permission to build three cabins and an addition to a house on 16th street in an M-2 industrial zone. The other will be on request of W. C. Germain of Coos Bay, who wants to make a two-story house at 346 North 13th into a duplex.

The commission asked A. J. Becker to furnish more information relative to his request for a permit to build an additional residence on his court property at South Liberty and Oak.

Fire Rate Low In U.S. Forests

Portland (AP)—There were 1,194 fires in national forests of the Pacific Northwest this year, the Forest Service reported Monday.

But these fires burned only 1,542 acres, a new low for the region, Kermit W. Linstedt, fire control chief, said.

The previous low for the 26 million acres of land protected by the Forest Service was 3,031 acres in 1948.

In Oregon 1,061 acres were burned by 818 fires and Washington lost 481 acres in 282 blazes.

Some 317 fires were man-caused, Linstedt said. Hunters were blamed for 130 in October. That was a 26 per cent increase over the number reported in October last year.

Damp weather and cooperation by forest workers and visitors were credited with the low fire loss.

Morse to Change Registration

West Linn (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse told a meeting of Clackamas County Democrats Tuesday of his plan for changing his registration.

"In due course and at my own leisure, I will go to the Lane county court house and change my registration. That's all I'll say about that at this time," the Oregon senator, who bolted the Republican Party to become an independent, said.

Morse repeated his challenge to Interior Secretary Douglas McKay to run against him for the senate in 1956, "because that would draw the issue as to whether we should protect the public interest in natural resources or give them away."

Earlier in the day Morse told the Propeller Club of Portland was in favor of a "first class" American merchant marine to carry surplus food to hungry nations as a weapon against Communism.

Four Corners

Four Corners — New students registering in the school this week are Shirley and Susan Carver, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carver, who moved here from Macleay district. Shirley is a fourth grade student and Susan entered the second grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Puffer moved here from Redmond, Ore. They have a daughter, Marcella in the fifth grade.

Transferred from the Englewood school is Brent Victor in the first grade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Victor.

Felicitations go to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Ellison (Adeline Haury), 4190 Hudson avenue, upon the birth of their first child, a daughter, born Friday, November 13, at the Salem General hospital. The little girl has been named Patricia Lou. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellison of Salem with the grandmother's birthday anniversary on September 13 and an uncle whose birthday anniversary is October 13. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Haury also of Salem.

Women to Sew Shirts for Dad

"Clothes make the man." And the women are going to make the clothes that make the man—at least they are going to make the shirts.

Mrs. Malno Reichert, Polk county extension agent, says that it's the men who are going to profit from the annual extension workshop held in Polk county.

It's a shirt workshop this year!

The women in Polk county will be learning all about shirts for men and boys—how to buy shirts as well as how to make them.

It is not always a saving to make shirts, but it is possible to save by knowing how to buy them.

The preliminary meeting for the shirt workshop will be held at the Rickreall grange hall at 10:30 on December 8. The subject for the meeting will be buying shirts and choosing materials and patterns for shirts.

This meeting, and the workshops, will be open to the public. Everyone is invited to attend. It is not necessary to be a member of an extension unit. It is not even necessary to be able to sew, says Mrs. Reichert. This is a chance to learn something about sewing. However, anyone who may want to take the sewing classes must attend the preliminary meeting on December 8. This is necessary in order to know how many workshops to schedule in Polk county. The workshops will be given during January and February.

Logging Slowed By Heavy Rains

Corvallis (AP)—Heavy rains slowed logging, and some Willamette Valley saw mills had to reduce to part-time operation in the past week, the weekly farm forest products report from Oregon State College said Tuesday.

Christmas tree harvesting has started, but the State Board of Forestry said only a few harvesting permits have been issued so far. Good quality trees were reported scarce, because excellent growing conditions during the summer resulted in excessive growth.

Stayton Seeks Railroad Spur

Stayton—Repeated attempts in the past few years to acquire a railroad for Stayton received the backing of the Chamber of Commerce this week.

It was proposed that a railroad spur be built off the Shelburn-Gates track northward to a point near the Marion-Linn county bridge where a freight depot would be erected which should be more convenient to local industries. Gene Teague, who opened the proposal, Walter H. Bell and M. Van Driesche were the committee appointed to study the plan and devise appropriate action.

In further business of the November meeting, ideas were voiced for Christmas shopping promotion and final plans were to be decided by the retail trade committee.

Election of officers will be a feature of the December meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Appointed to the nominating committee were Ken Williams, Gene Teague and Charles Warriner.

Brooks

Brooks — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Massey of Quincy were Sunday guests of Mrs. John Dunlavy. John Dunlavy of Newport visited his mother, Mrs. Dunlavy, last week.

Mrs. Ray Cozel suffered injury last week when she fell down the basement steps at her home west of Brooks.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sidebottom one day last week were: Mrs. Nora Brewer of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramsey of Salem.

Mrs. Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Sidebottom grew up in the same community in Ness county, Kan., and had not seen each other for 45 years. Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey are from Kansas.

Headlight Warning

Lebanon — Warning to all motorists was voiced Monday by Ben Scheele, police chief, who said that full-beam headlights are mandatory in rainy and foggy weather when visibility is reduced. He pointed out that parking lights, often used in daytime when visibility is limited, are unlawful. Regular headlights must be used, he emphasized.
