

Willamette Orchestra Will Play

The Willamette university college of music will present the campus chamber orchestra in concert under the direction of Dr. Willis Gates, in Waller hall auditorium, on Tuesday, December 1, at 8:15 p.m.

The program will open with the overture to Mozart's opera "Il Re Pastore." The second number, Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 in D Major, by Bach, is the 5th in a series of six concerti grossi which Bach composed at the request of Christian Ludwig, Margrave of Brandenburg, who wanted some work for his own private orchestra. All were written for different instrumental combinations. The 5th calls for solo clavier, solo flute, solo violin, and the string orchestra. The three movements follow the fast-and-slow tempo pattern. The second movement is written for solo instruments only, while the other movements proceed in alternation between the solo and orchestral groups. Solists for the performance of this work are: Lisbeth Shields, piano; Marie DeHarpport, flute; Sally Bolliger, violin.

The second group will feature two operatic arias with orchestral accompaniment. Lollie Coffey, soprano, will sing Dido's Lament from "Dido and Aeneas," by Purcell, and Herb Brower, tenor, will sing Il mio Tesoro, from "Don Giovanni," by Mozart.

To conclude the program Dr. Gates will direct the orchestra in the performance of Haydn's Symphony No. 104 in D Major. This work, which was composed in 1785, was Haydn's last symphony. It was written for the full complement of instruments found in the classical symphony. The work is in the usual 4-movement pattern. The concert is open to the public.

Mrs. Meland to Head Lutheran Group

Silverton — Mrs. Ole Meland was elected president of the Immanuel Lutheran Woman's Missionary federation at the meeting last week in the parish house fireside room. A brief devotional period was directed by Mrs. R. J. Van-Cleave, and the presentation of the discussion lesson: "We Behold His Glory," was by Mrs. Merle Rasmussen. The retiring president, Mrs. Elmer Johnson, was in charge of the session.

Officers to assist Mrs. Meland for the coming federation year are Mrs. Kenneth Henjum, vice president; Mrs. Oscar Strand, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Dahl, assistant secretary; Mrs. Charles Hopkins, treasurer; Mrs. Henry Johnson, assistant treasurer. A thank offering was received.

Hostesses were Mrs. Luther Hattberg, Mrs. Nels Nelson, Mrs. John Olafson and Mrs. Harold Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson were Sunday breakfast hosts at their home complimenting Mrs. Johnson's retiring fellow officials during the past year in the federation.

Present were the Elmer Johnsons and Mrs. Lloyd Larsen, Mrs. R. Poverud, Miss Rachel Berg, Mrs. Conrad Johnson, Mrs. P. A. Loar, Mrs. Ole Melund, Mrs. A. W. Nelson, Mrs. Chester Bjork, Mrs. Wallace Satern and Mrs. Adney Tokstad.

On the preceding Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson had as breakfast guests the chairman of the WMF children's department of the Lutheran Children's reformation, Mrs. E. V. Swayze, and eight young LCR girls including Carol Gillis, Virginia Starrett, Carole Byberg, Betty Ann Hallam, Kathryn Overlund, Carole Strand, Carole Gaffey and Janet Larsen.

Chiropractors' Auxiliary Plans Year

Auxiliary to the Oregon Association of Chiropractic Physicians closed their state convention Saturday, several interesting affairs being arranged for the women who were here with their husbands for the association event.

Members of the auxiliary heard John Davis, interior decorator, Hamilton Furniture company, in an interesting talk, entitled "How Not to Decorate Your Home" during their noon luncheon Saturday at the Marlon hotel. Mr. Davis was introduced by Mrs. Paul G. Stapan of Salem, toastmistress.

Speaking before the group also was Dr. J. La Boine De Rusha, dean of Northwestern Chiropractic college, Minneapolis, Minnesota, on "Privileges of Chiropractic." Terry Meisiger, son of Mrs. J. A. Willsey of the Willsey Music house, entertained the group with accordion solos.

Among other special guests introduced were two national auxiliary officers, Mrs. Gordon Peffley, president, and Mrs. Walter Rich, secretary, both of Portland; also Mrs. Glenn Parrott, Molalla, retiring state president; Mrs. W. A. Budden, Shetterly, John Majors, Miss Lillian Hines, Mrs. Rollin Hines, Mrs. Jeannie Gails, Mrs. O. K. O'Reilly, Mrs. K. T. Franklin, Mrs. Frank Fawk, Mrs. Irene Parton and Mrs. Shirley Johnson.

wife of the president of Western States college, Portland; and Mrs. Lloyd Hockett, Salem, first state president of the auxiliary.

On exhibit was a replica of the Oregon State capitol made especially for the occasion by Peerless Bakery, Salem.

At the close of the luncheon, Mrs. Lloyd Hockett installed the new officers for 1954.

They are: President, Mrs. Paul G. Stapan, Salem; first vice-president, Mrs. Ralph Hill, Portland; second vice-president, Mrs. Ralph Svehaug, Estacada; third vice-president, Mrs. D. E. Wilson, Newberg; secretary, Mrs. L. E. Rarey, Portland; treasurer, Mrs. R. F. Schmidt, Silverton; auditor, Mrs. P. W. DeMarco, Salem; parliamentarian, Mrs. R. M. Peffer, Corvallis; historian, Mrs. J. J. McCarthy, Sweet Home.

Mrs. Stapan announced the re-appointment of Mrs. Walter Rich, Portland, as delegate to the joint legislative council of Oregon; also the appointment of Mrs. Glenn Parrott, Molalla, as press chairman for the auxiliary.

During the general business meeting of the group, it was announced that projects completed during the year included donations to the Free Children's clinic of the Health Research foundation, to the Dr. W. A. Budden scholarship fund, and to the laboratory of Western States college. Assistance is being given to the Pan-American student fund and to the penny art fund. Plans are now being made to assist in furnishing a bedroom in the new Salem YWCA. And two new projects for the coming year comprise sending a goat for relief in Korea and giving needed sewing materials for the aid of German young people through the German Youth Administration program.
