Guest of Son—Dr. H. R. B. Hutchinson is having his father, Dr. Robert A. Hutchinson, as his house guest over the week end. Dr. Robert Hutchinson, is to be the guest speaker at the First Congregational church on Sunday morning. He is a former pastor of the church and was instrumental in building the present building.

Will Tour Plant—Al Schaefer, manager of Western Paper Converting Company, will be the guest of the West Salem Lions, Wednesday night when they meet at 6:30 at the Golden Pheasant. Western Paper Converting is the sixth large Salem industry the West Salem Lions have inspected this fall, in their effort to become better acquainted with the management, personnel and the products of Salem firms. Following the dinner, Schaefer's talk on the background of this industry will make a tour of the plant. On December 9 the club will visit Oregon Flax Textiles plant.

To Give Talk—"Our American Heritage" is the topic for a talk to be given by Governor Paul L. Patterson for the joint dinner for Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution and Children of the American Revolution in Portland Friday Dec. 4 at Columbia Athletic club. The social hour is at 6:30 o'clock, the dinner at 7 o'clock, the program at 8 o'clock. Governor and Mrs. Patterson are honored guests at the affair, along with Mayor and Mrs. Fred L. Peterson of Portland, chapter, state and national officers of the three sponsoring organizations.

To Hawaii—Hal Sweeney, Salem station manager for United Air Lines, with Mrs. Sweeney, left Sunday for a trip to the Hawaiian Islands. The Sweeneys took a plane out of Portland for Los Angeles and will fly to the Islands from Los Angeles. They plan to return about December 7.

Department Heads Meet—Heads of all city departments met Wednesday afternoon with City Manager J. L. Franzen for a discussion of matters that came up at the City Council meeting Monday night, or other subjects in which any of the departments may be interested. The meeting is the first called under a new order whereby the heads will confer with the city manager on the Wednesday following each City Council meeting.

Love, Whiskey

"I think anyone will find that if he drinks from one to two-fifths of whiskey a day for a year and a half that your brain doesn't function properly," she said. "Since I have been in jail is the first time I've been able to reason very clearly for some time." Mrs. Heady also extended an apology to the nuns at the School of Notre Dame de Sion, where she went posing as Bobby's aunt to abduct the boy and turn him over to Hall. "I would like for the sisters to know I am sorry, too, as their's is a wonderful faith," she wrote. Mrs. Heady used a line from Shakespeare to sum up her fate. "My case was loving not wisely, but too well."

It is estimated that it takes cotton grown on 558,000 acres of land to produce upholstery, brake linings, timing gears and other things for a million cars.

MILITARY MEN AND VETERANS

On Leave—Airmen 3-c Maybel P. Kirsch, who prior to entering the Air Force January 5 of this year was employed in Salem with the state tax commission, arrived home on a 10-day delay en route leave Monday and is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kirsch of Route 1, Box 112, Marion, Oregon. The WAP took her basic at Lackland AFB, Texas and has just completed radio maintenance school at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. She now reports to James Colony, Waco, Texas, for duty as a radio maintenance technician. Airman Kirsch is a graduate of the Cascade Union High School near Marion with the class of 1932 and enlisted in the Air Force through the Salem recruiting office.

Flood Threat

Forecast for tonight is for a few showers and continued mild temperatures, heralding a comparatively pleasant Thanksgiving holiday, the balmy temperatures being welcomed instead of cold. Highway conditions were reported improved throughout the state. Only one closure was listed Wednesday. The Willamette is closed by two big washouts near Salt Creek above Oakridge. The Coast highway between Coquille and Bandon was reopened Wednesday. The Corps of Engineers at Portland has estimated damage from flood waters in the Willamette may amount to as high as a half million dollars, but point out the damage might have been as high as four million dollars were the Willamette valley project dams not in use. At Salem, the valley project cut five feet from the crest of a similar flooding in previous years—and this high water was a mild problem this time, it was stated.

Stadter Chosen

Furthermore, the endorsement included expression from all attending that individual support of Stadter's candidacy for the post and do all they can to boost the endorsee's chances for the position. The meeting at the Senator hotel came about following a turnout by U.S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell of the name of State Senator Warren Gill of Lebanon for the position, throwing the situation open again for suggestions and recommendations for other men to be considered for the appointment. Above are listed the action and facts concerning the executive session Tuesday. The story behind the story, however, is another chapter. The session was a colorful and interesting revelation of democracy at work. As one member stated: "This is a wonderful demonstration to prove party organizations are alive between elections, that we do things in the American way. The luncheon was called for 11:45 a.m. At the start, Chairman Hunt pointed out it was an executive session, therefore only votes from the officers and executive board at large counted. And a roll call was taken to show 15 out of 25 attending were eligible to vote. As at all executive sessions, precinct committeemen and committeewomen are welcome to attend, and several were there Tuesday. Others attending included representatives from organized republican groups who meet with the executive group in an advisory capacity but do not have a vote, although freedom of suggestion and discussion. Under the election laws, notice for a full committee meeting for action must be sent six days ahead of the meeting to precinct committeemen and committeewomen, it was pointed out, with the further statement that at the organization meeting a resolution was approved giving the executive group power to function for the committee in between meetings. Because of the limitation of time to take action, there were not six days available to notify the general committee, hence the need for the executive session Tuesday. Early in the session, it was voted that the Marion county group confine its consideration to Marion county men. Chairman Hunt made it clear the action that might be taken would be merely an endorsement, and that other county central committees in many other sections of the state were doing a similar action. With these preliminaries out of the way, the five men who had stated their interest in the post of U.S. district attorney were invited to come in, one by one, each giving a three-minute statement and then answering any questions that might be asked. Following the interviews, several committee members joined in on a discussion of doing away with personalities in their remarks, to remember that the group is a party organization and that no action be taken to cause a rupture in the party organization of this county. Several pointed out all were of one party (speaking as republicans) when they went to the primaries to vote and that all were of one party after the election and one man had been nominated from a field of several. The same practice should prevail here, they said. In leading up to the balloting, one opinion poll was taken to decide how the group should vote. No conclusive result was shown on this, so then the group balloted with each voting for one man. With this action bringing no majority there was another ballot and still no majority for one. On the fourth ballot, the group voted to consider the top two men, Stadter winning over Dean Reese and then adjourned about 2:30 p.m.

McCARTHY

2. Declared Truman's definition of "McCarthyism" was identical with the Communist Daily Workers' definition. Truman defined it as "the big lie and unfounded accusations in the name of security."
3. Disagreed with President Eisenhower's recently expressed hope that communism in government no longer would be an issue by the time of the 1954 congressional elections.
4. Chided the republican administration for retaining in office John Paton Davies, counselor of the United States Embassy in Lima, Peru, whom he described as "part and parcel of the old Acheson, Lattimore, Vincent, White, Hiss group."
5. Asserted the republicans nevertheless were doing an incomparably better job than the democrats in weeding out subversives.
6. Suggested that the republicans be kept in power "if the American people agree with my work in rooting out communism and spies in government."
7. Agreed that "McCarthyism" would be an issue in the 1954 elections and point out he would lose his chairmanship of a senate investigating subcommittee if democrats gained control of the senate.
8. Called for an end to American aid to Britain and other countries doing business with Red China until such time as 900 American servicemen still being held by the communists are released.

Chief US Judge

In Washington, the State Department denied Wednesday that Clark was being recalled for disciplinary reasons. Reasons Are Stated
Press spokesman Henry Suddam told a news conference the department decided not to extend the judge's appointment in view of an expected decline in court business. The economy motive, he added, applies to the occupation of Germany as well as to domestic affairs. Suddam said Clark has the status of a foreign service reserve officer, appointed for a four-year term. At a news conference Wednesday, Clark said he had received a cable Monday from the state department declaring him "surplus" and advising him he would not be reappointed when his regular term ends January 8. They ordered me back to the United States for "consultations" within the next 10 days," he said. "But I am not going to go. This is an attempt to discipline somebody who won't take orders. The shocking thing is that judges are not supposed to take orders. I am the chief justice of an independent court." Charging that the state department regarded the chief justice as "a state department clerk," Clark asserted it "would take much more than locking the door" to keep him from the bench. Clark is a former judge of the Third U. S. circuit court of appeals at Philadelphia. Clark said he would not vacate his office even on January 8 because he believes his tenure is indefinite and that any removal must come for cause.

Building Set

The new Lipman's store will replace the existing building formerly occupied by Gevurtz Furniture store and will extend to the southwest corner of North Liberty and Chemeketa, a site chosen for its convenient access from all parts of Salem, the official announcement declared. The firm has acquired the property on Commercial and Chemeketa, to be used for customer parking. "Lipman's management is and will continue to analyze Salem shopping habits," Harold F. Wendie, Lipman's president said "paying particular attention to merchandise lines, price lines and customer services preferred by Salem residents, and will direct store planning along those lines. Follow Traditional Policy
Wendie said that the store will operate under the same general policies that have been followed in the Portland store. "In the execution of our function of purchasing agents for the consumer, we believe in offering only first quality merchandise from the country's leading makers, arranged for the easiest and most convenient selection." Wendie continued. "Most important, we believe a sale is not complete until the customer not only is satisfied, but is happy with the purchase. In extending these policies to Salem, we intend to create a department store directly allied with the best interests of the community." Three Estates Involved
The property which was occupied by the Gevurtz Furniture Company for several years is a building to be razed.

Stassen Says

He expressed belief American aid of some kind will have to continue to Spain, Greece and Turkey, and to France for the Indochina war during the year beginning next July. He said all four countries either do not have adequate resources to maintain their defense efforts or would be hurt by inflation if they received no outside aid. Western Europe
Looking at Western Europe as a whole, Stassen said recovery reports are "uniformly favorable—more so in some cases than in others." Western Europe's industrial output has increased 7 percent over last year, he said, with Germany, Italy, Britain and The Netherlands leading the way. Further, gold and dollar reserves bolstering West European currencies increased from $9,300,000,000 to $11,000,000,000 between last Jan. 1 and Sept. 30. "Prices have been reasonably stable," he said, "and the currencies are all showing more strength. There is a very definite indication that Western Europe can maintain substantially its current defense budget, and at the same time move forward on a sound economic basis."

Salem Woman Helps Red Cross in Berlin

Berlin, Germany—Mrs. Ira K. Ewalt, of 3130 North River Road, Salem, Oregon, recently completed her training as an American Red Cross Gray Lady at the U. S. military hospital in Berlin. Mrs. Ewalt takes part in recreation work for patients in the hospital. As part of her weekly activities, she makes the rounds of the hospital wards, talks to hospitalized servicemen and takes them books, magazines, writing materials and games. Along with other Gray Ladies, Mrs. Ewalt serves coffee from the bedside carts which are wheeled from ward to ward, and often does special personal services for patients. These can include writing and mailing letters, performing shopping errands at their request, wrapping and mailing packages, and buying postal money orders for them. The Gray Ladies work under the supervision of the Red Cross resident staffs in 20 hospitals and serve also in 13 other hospitals too small to require full-time resident staff workers. U.S. croplands total about 464 million acres.
