Two special evening services will be held this Sunday evening at 5:30 and 7:30 at Calvary Baptist church, South Liberty and Miller streets in Salem, at which time the pastor, Rev. Omar N. Barth, will show the color motion picture "Journey to Jerusalem." This film was made by the pastor on his summer tour to Europe and the Holy Land a few months ago.

The film is the last in a series of five messages that Mr. Barth has presented in the church covering the three months that he and his companion, John Plank, spent abroad. "Journey to Jerusalem" is the photographic story of Christ from Bethlehem to Calvary and shows scenes of many incidents that happened in His life.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend either one of these services and to come early in order to see a display of stamps and coins and other materials gathered from the 20 different countries that were visited. An Arab costume will also be shown and worn by the pastor.

Catholic Teachings Will Be Explained

Mt. Angel — An opportunity for learning about the teachings and practices of the Catholic church will be available to residents of this district when the Catholic Information class begins in St. Mary's school on Dec. 2.

Those attending are under no obligations, and no kind of pressure to join the Catholic church will be brought to bear. The class provides an opportunity to learn from an official source just what the church teaches and what Catholics believe.

Of this amount $22,000 has been designated for the 1954 budget of the congregation. The remainder will go into the building fund. Nothing is definite to date as to when actual construction on the new St. Mark's church and Christian Educational building will begin, but the urgency of the need will make construction of the new church imperative at an early date.

The successful canvass was accomplished entirely by the members of the congregation with the aid of a church financing concern.
