Washington, D.C., Nov. 23.

Dear Marian:

An interesting tradition of the Navy ships that pass Mount Vernon on the Potomac was noted by Secretary and Mrs. Douglas McKay Saturday evening when they were guests of Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson and Mrs. Anderson at a dinner party on the "Sequoia." The Andersons were entertaining at a Potomac dinner cruise in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio J. Bermudez, of Mexico City. He is a former national senator of Mexico and now serves as petroleum administrator for the country. The special observance that the guests watched from ship side was the 21-bell salute from the ship as it passed Mount Vernon, with the men standing at attention. A recording of "Taps" and "The Star Spangled Banner" completed the ceremony that honored the home and final resting place of the first President, and the McKays reported it an impressive moment. The group of 26 enjoyed a buffet dinner following the brief ceremony.

Prior to the dinner, the McKays had called at the Cuban Embassy where Senora de Batista, wife of the President of Cuba, was the honoree. The Embassy with its beautiful white marble stairway and crystal chandeliers provided an attractive background for the vivacious First Lady of Cuba. Particularly striking is the dining room with its bright red carpet and draperies. Ambassador and Senora de Concheso received with their guest in the brown and gold music room and more than 600 guests called to greet the visitor. Both the hostess and the honored guest wore ballerina length dresses of black, with diamonds glittering a contrast. Incidentally, the exterior of the Embassy is architecturally similar to the famous Morro Castle in the Havana Harbor. Yellow, bronze, and white "mums" were used lavishly and were especially effective in the blue and gold drawing room.

Custom or protocol in Washington calls for the ladies of the cabinet to entertain at some type of function in honor of the President's wife. A luncheon at which Mrs. Herbert Brownell was the hostess Friday noon was the event chosen by the wife of the Attorney General for her part in the series of parties that are being held through the fall and winter months. Mrs. McKay enjoyed a folksy conversation with the First Lady as the group sat about the

MRS. WALTER THOMAS DAVEY

AN event of interest to a large group of the teen-agers will be the semi-formal dance planned by Ann Guthrie chapter of Tri-Y, on December 12, at the Marion hotel Gold room. Dancing is to be between 9 and 12 o'clock.

Miss Reita Gilman is president of the chapter. Committee chairmen for the event include Miss Nancy Snider, refreshments; Miss Elaine Morrow, programs; Miss Gloria Hammond, publicity; Miss Gloria Andrews, decorations and clean-up; Miss Marilyn Harland, music and chaperons.

Hostess to her bridge club on Thursday for luncheon and afternoon of cards will be Mrs. Bjarne Erickson.

Engagement Told At Friday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Taggart are announcing the engagement of their eldest daughter, Miss Shirley Lou, to Roy Leo Christiansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Christiansen of Sublimity.

The news was revealed at an informal coffee Friday evening at the Taggart home on Rose street. Catching the eyes of the guests as they entered was a pink Cheshire cat arranged on the piano, with candles and ribbon lettered with the couples names, "Shirley and Roy."

The table was arranged with pink and white chrysanthemums in a silver compote and flanked by silver candelabras.

Pouring were the bride-elect's two aunts, Mrs. Weldon Looney and Mrs. Elmer Heman of Salem.

Bidden to attend were Miss Taggart's school classmates of Sacred Heart and Mt. Angel: Misses Patricia Cameron, Betty Jones, Mary Suing, Shirley Tommers, Barbara Snook, Delores Schmitz, Mary Roque, Joan Poister, Pat Aclon, Mariam Meier, Donna Lenninger, Donna Lebold, Jacqueline Larson, Donna Kircher, Meredith Hayes, Pat Gillis, Shirley Eitel, Beverly Deggeller, Kathleen Dardis, Shirley Coffey, Sandra Blinen, Kathie Bishop, Teresa Bello, Anita Becker, Margaret Bach, Marilyn Palmer and La Vata Christiansen; Mrs. Arthur Christiansen, Misses Betty Looney, Mary Rauk, Elaine DeJardin, Delores Wolf, Carol Taggart, Josephine Schlager, Shirley Lou Taggart and Mrs. Jack R. Taggart.

Miss Taggart is a graduate of Sacred Heart academy and is attending Mt. Angel college. Mr. Christiansen is a graduate of Sublimity schools and attended Oregon College of Education at Monmouth.

A second daughter was born Saturday morning, November 28, at Salem General hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Steelhammer. The older daughter is Jan. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Vandenevnde and John F. Steelhammer, Sr., all of Salem.

Winter corsages, greens, cooked foods, fancy work and novelties are a few of the items being made for the bazaar that the women of the First Methodist church are planning for Wednesday, beginning at 9 a.m., at the church.

A luncheon and dinner are planned and Mrs. Preston Doughton is chairman. The members of circle 7 have been specializing in infants' and children's clothing and stuffed toys. Another project is "parcel post sale" of articles received from friends in other states.

At the Country store, a variety of food will be sold. For children attending the dinner a motion picture, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," will be shown at 7 o'clock.

Other chairmen include Mrs. E. B. Millard, Mrs. Herbert Ostlund, Mrs. Glenn Barge, Mrs. P. A. Fugate, Mrs. Joe Seal, Mrs. Howard Jenks, Mrs. L. D. Waterman, Mrs. John G. Marr, Mrs. George Bell, Mrs. John Frazier, Mrs. Howard Gardner, Mrs. L. C. Taylor, Mrs. Gordon Carl, Mrs. Scott Foster, Jr., Mrs. J. Edgar Purdy and Mrs. Ralph DaMetz.

Miss O'Connor and Lt. Davey Are Wed at Stayton Ceremony Today

Immaculate Conception Catholic church at Stayton was the scene for a beautiful wedding this morning when Miss Patricia Ann O'Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis John O'Connor, Stayton, was married to Lt. Walter Thomas Davey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas Davey of Salem. The pretty brunette bride was one of the queens of Salem's Cherryland Festival.

Baskets of white and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the church for the 10 o'clock service, and the pews were marked off with white bows and bells. The Rev. Mathias Jonas officiated. For the music, Gerald Neitling and Dolores Gottfried were soloists, Marilyn Minden playing the organ. The altar boys were cousins of the bridegroom, Jimmy and Allan Gillis of Gresham.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a wedding dress of lace and nylon tulle. The bodice, with Mandarin collar, and the long sleeves were of the beautiful lace, a row of tiny buttons down the front. The skirt of the nylon tulle was designed with tiered lace edged ruffles that cascaded down the back and into the train. The short, two-tiered veil of silk illusion was caught to an open crown cloche that was trimmed with white flowers. For her bouquet the bride carried a cascade of white spider chrysanthemums.

Six Sisters Attend
A striking contrast to the all-white costume of the bride were the dresses of the six attendants, all attired in humming bird green frocks designed with velvet bodices and full, ballerina length taffeta skirts. Their headresses were styled identically to that worn by the bride but were of green taffeta with yellow flowers.

The six sisters of the bride were her attendants. Mrs. Robert Krechter of Pasadena, Calif., was matron of honor. Miss Carol O'Connor of Pasadena, Miss Lois O'Connor and Miss Marjorie O'Connor of Stayton were the bridesmaids, Misses Maureen and Peggy O'Connor of Stayton the junior bridesmaids.

Each of the six carried a wicker basket filled with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums arranged with mixed autumn leaves and wheat. Each wore green opera pumps matching her dress and each wore a pearl choker, a gift from the bride.

Diane O'Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Connor of Stayton, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a humming bird green frock matching dresses of the other attendants.

Dickie O'Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Connor of Coquille, a nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Tony Davey was best man for his brother. Ushering were Robert Krechter of Pasadena, Lt. Dan Hegler of Sacramento, and Donald O'Connor, a brother of the bride home on leave from service with the Seabees.

Reception Follows

The bride's mother wore a purple crepe dress with soft pink hat and gloves and gray accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a cocoa brown crepe dress with matching velour hat and dark brown accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids.

The reception was arranged in the Women's Community club. Cutting the cake were Mrs. John Davey of Lebanon and Miss Madeline Davey of Portland, both aunts of the bridegroom. At the coffee urn were Mrs. Frank Sutton, Denver, Colo., aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Thomas B. Toohy of Salem. At the punch bowl were Miss Marjorie Davey, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary Toohy of Eugene. Miss Mary Ellen Davey of Sacramento was in charge of the guest book and others assisting included former classmates of the bride in nurses training, Miss Shirley Cameron, Mrs. Lawrence Keister, Mrs. Robert Cook, Mrs. Loree Keister, all of Eugene, Miss Virginia Shorey of Klamath Falls, Miss Eleanor Starr of Oakland, Miss Rosemary Tarran of Portland.

For traveling, the bride wore a heather gray suit, a black and red velvet hat, black accessories, and a white ascot on which was pinned a rhinestone pin, the pin and matching earrings being gifts of the bridegroom. For her corsage she wore a white orchid.

Following a trip to southern California and Nevada the couple will be at home in Sacramento, Calif., after December 8. Lt. Davey is stationed at Mather air force base.
