What a Man! Is Mossadegh

Tehran, Iran (AP)—Former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh topped off Tuesday's session of the court-martial trying him for treason by challenging prosecutor Brig. Hossein Azemodah to a wrestling match.

After Azemodah had declared that Mossadegh was not as weak as he looked, the aging politician told the court, "He's right. If you permit me, I will gladly wrestle with Azemodah. If I beat him I will have proved my point. If he beats me that's my punishment."

Azemodah had been stressing that Mossadegh was able to jump over the garden wall of his Tehran home when the building compound was attacked by troops and a mob in the Aug 19 upheaval that upset Mossadegh's regime.

His hand covering his face, Azemodah chuckled. The chairman and his colleagues grinned broadly. The spectators shrieked with laughter. Mossadegh, in full command of his audience, flexed his muscles.

Democratic Plans for Republican Proposals

Washington (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D., Ark.) said Tuesday he thinks the Democrats can adopt a constructive approach to President Eisenhower's legislative proposals but that "does not mean the Democrats are going to agree to everything the Republican administration proposes."

He commented, in an interview, on Adlai E. Stevenson's remark Monday that he thinks the Democrats ought to disregard the "provocation" he said had been given them by "attacks on the Democratic Party" and view Eisenhower's legislative proposals strictly on their merits.

Sen. Symington (D., Mo.) said he thinks the public is "much more interested in the price of farm products, the high cost of living and what is going to be done about modernizing this country's defenses than in the Harry Dexter White case."

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, made it clear at a news conference Monday that in speaking of "attacks on the Democratic Party" he was alluding to the charges leveled by Atty. Gen. Brownell against former President Truman in the White case. Stevenson has defended Truman's record as a vigorously anti-Communist one.

Stevenson said he had talked over the legislative program with Sens. George and Russell, Georgia Democrats, and Sparkman and Hill, Alabama Democrats, on a recent Southern speaking tour. Asked if any conclusions had been reached, he replied jokingly: "We agreed that the Democrats would always be right and the Republicans would always be wrong."

Several other Japanese, however, said they knew of a vast industrial complex under construction in that region.

Some said they had second-hand reports that Japanese war prisoners—never accounted for by the Russians—were slave laborers in uranium mines within the Arctic Circle of north central Siberia.

The woman said she was told that uranium ore from mines on the banks of the Yenessi River, which empties into the Arctic Ocean, was taken by barge upriver to the plant west of Lake Baikal.

For eight years most of the repatriates themselves were forced to take part in the development of Siberia in hundreds of slave labor camps scattered throughout Siberia, he reported.

A civilian expert on Russian affairs who was captured in the war said that the economic and military buildup in Siberia "is terrifying."

All but the highest ranking Japanese officers said they had worked as slave laborers. Some prisoners said they had been held in Siberia for 14 years.

Ike Approved

McCarthy told his nationwide audience a week ago the Eisenhower administration had "struck out" on the security case of career diplomat John Paton Davies Jr. He also criticized its "failures" to gain the release of some 900 Americans held as prisoners as a result of the Korean War and its reaction to the continuing British trade with Red China.

When the secretary was asked if the statement was "an answer to the McCarthy broadcast," he responded that the reporter could draw his own conclusions.

Cites Military Bases
 Making a spirited defense of the administration's foreign policies, Dulles cited military bases shared with friendly powers for use in defense against Russia's "rapidly mounting atomic power."

These, he said would give the United States ability to retaliate "with a devastating blow against the vitals of Russia" in event of attack.

His voice betrayed emotion as Dulles declared American security is dependent on an early warning system which required facilities in friendly countries near to the Soviet Union. Without this, he said, "such great industrial centers as Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and Milwaukee would be 'sitting ducks' for atomic bombs."

The board approved appointment of Rev. E. H. Becker of Salem to serve part-time as Protestant chaplain at the MacLaren school for boys on a temporary basis. Efforts to obtain a full-time chaplain from the east failed and another effort will be made to obtain a man who can serve both as chaplain and counselor.

Plans for New

L. P. Bartholomew, Salem architect, presented plans for rebuilding Cottage "A," the administration building, at Hillcrest School for Girls damaged by fire last winter. The board approved the plans.

The architect estimated that the cost of the project would be approximately $145,000 which would include rebuilding the entire interior of the building but retaining the outside walls and roof. The board has an allocation of $151,000 for the work.

Bartholomew estimated that the rebuilding of the cottage would take approximately 4 1/2 months time.

Mrs. Josephine Einarson, food service manager of the Eastern Oregon Tuberculosis hospital at The Dalles was appointed food consultant for the board of control. Mrs. Einarson was manager of the Meier and Frank tea room for 20 years. Her new duties will be supervision of preparation of food in the institutions in consultation with the superintendent and an effort to improve the food within the limits of the food budgets for the various institutions.

Vishinsky Says

"This is sheer mockery," he said, "deliberately organized in order to make it impossible for the General Assembly impartially to examine these things."

He countered with charges that the South Korean police had committed atrocities in their drive to round up Reds. He cited Western press accounts of the drive to press his point.

Lodge, in a statement after Vishinsky concluded, offered to call for an impartial commission of inquiry to investigate atrocity evidence, provided Vishinsky would agree to permit the commission to "go wherever the world bears the scars of war." Lodge said this puts Vishinsky's "good faith squarely to the test. We await his answer."

Australia's Sir Percy Spender, replying to Vishinsky, asserted that if the Soviet delegate was "in truth representing the feeling of his people, then God help the chances of peace."

Big Copper Contract for U.S.

Washington (AP)—The government has contracted with the Howe Sound Co. of New York for delivery of 18,706,000 pounds of refined copper by the end of 1955.

Administrator Edmund F. Mansure of General Services said the agreement provides for the company to produce ore from its high cost Holden mine, located in Chelan county, Wn., and to arrange with a qualified smelter for processing.

The government will pay 31 1/2 cents per pound, f.o.b. carrier's conveyance at any point within Washington, Oregon, California or Nevada, at government option, Mansure said.

The company is to produce 9,020,000 pounds by Dec. 31, 1954 and 9,686,000 pounds in 1955. The agreement automatically ends Dec. 31, 1955, or earlier if the full production has been achieved.

Mansure noted in his announcement that the government contracts with Howe Sound, while copper prices were under control, for production at Holden of up to 8,834,000 pounds of refined copper at a price of 28.9 cents a pound, or 4.7 cents over the then ceiling of 24.2 cents. Later the price was raised to 32.54 cents. This agreement terminate automatically when copper was removed from price control after more than 5,500,000 pounds of copper had been produced.
