For JoAnn Hoover

Honoring their daughter, Miss JoAnn, who is observing her birthday on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Theron C. Hoover are entertaining at a dinner party.

JoAnn's guests will include Misses Kay Tomlinson, Nancy Owens, Phoebe Lou Braun, Anne Heitzel, Sondra Jochimsen, Nancy Payne, Gloria Andrews, Barbara Bacon, Glenda McCormick, Jean Lidbeck, Patricia Myhre, Connie Hammond, Gladys Maude.

Program for Smorgasbord

Among the featured entertainers at the eighth annual YWCA-YMCA Smorgasbord next Tuesday at the YMCA gymnasium will be a master piper, one of the Royal Scots Guard bagpipe band. He is Rubeen Charge, who came here from "von bonnie banks" in 1950. Mr. Charge will play a selection of Scottish airs on the pipes and will accompany a group of young dancers doing famous Scottish dances. These are Carol Scott, Kathy Miller, Denise Miller, Marilyn Rehm and Alma Kanosky, Parrish junior high school students, who will dance the Highland fling, sword dance, and double swords.

Many additional attractions have been arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stone, who are in charge of entertainment for the world fellowship benefit at the YWCA.

Lanny Dibbern will entertain guests in the lobby with his accordion as they arrive and depart throughout the evening. The Y Swingmasters Folk Dancing group will carry a large part of the program with a selection of dances from England, Brazil, Germany, Israel, Greece, Mexico, Finland and Estonia. The origin and meaning of each dance will be briefly explained to the diners as the dancers enter.

Activities of the Y are carried on in 78 countries, but the countries featured by the dancers all have particular significance in world events of today, or have special interest because of local circumstances.

Serving at the smorgasbord will be continuous from 5 to 8 o'clock to accommodate the large attendance expected. Entertainment will be repeated throughout the evening. Tickets may be purchased at the door, reservations are not needed, and the public is invited.

SILVERTON—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boehmer (Almira Haugen) are being felicitated on the birth of a daughter, Wednesday, December 2, at Silverton hospital. The older children are Gary and Diane.

Bake until golden, turning once. Makes 12 to 16 pancakes.

ART AS HOBBY

Amateurs Display Work Here

By LANETA KING

Two years ago saw the beginning of a nation-wide organization for artists who paint only as a hobby. Called the "Amateur Artists Association of America," it offers recognition on a national level and makes available to its members good, professional criticism, a welcome stimulus for the many amateurs who may feel the lack of academic background and contacts.

So far, Salem has its only Oregon chapter and its members are currently showing through December 15 at the Gleason studio, 162 S. Commercial street.

Strictly produced for the artist's relaxation and enjoyment, there occurs no pure abstractionism or non-objectivism among these paintings. It is a show of literal and genteel renditions with little striving for the exotic or eccentric that, when it turns to sensationalism for its own sake, can hamper the necessarily publicity-seeking professional. Although amateur paintings, the pictures are for sale and at some very reasonable prices.

"Gone to Homesteaders' Dance" by Geneva Harrison, granted one of the 36 national awards in the association's 1952 contest, is displayed, as is her "South Dakota Homestead," a cash award this year.

Evelyn Benner has hung a deftly colored "Still Life" and two portraits, "Nancy" and "Joe" in contrasting subject matter. Reginald Garratt's "Tree Gulch" achieves a moving composition by brilliantly contrasted shades of gray. His watercolor, "Eola Hills," is predominantly moody sky, characteristic of the Willamette valley.

Maxine Shurtlett is represented by three oils of very different tones, "Yellowstone," "China Man" and "Tired Feet," the latter a dancer resting in a sunstruck doorway. L. Moses shows two watercolors, "Autumn" and an impetuous "Desert."

Clean, pastel oil colors dominate K. Burnett's "Landscape" and "Blue Clown." M. Shurtlett offers a simply composed "Winter Bouquet," a head called "Woman," done in pastels and a watercolor, "Still Life." "Still Life" by P. Collins constructs a design of unrelatable masses in rich color while "Dwarf Dahlias" makes up its bouquet by the use of line and detail.

CHRISTMAS candles were made at a meeting of Alpha Gamma Delta alumnae Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Groff. Attending the meeting were Mrs. Estill L. Brunk, Mrs. Robert Gordon, Miss Shirley Hill, Mrs. Vern Kitchel, Mrs. Dean Needham, Mrs. Robert Nelson, Mrs. E. L. Peterson and the hostess.

Goldenweds — Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Heater, above, are to be honored Sunday at a reception observing their golden wedding. The anniversary is Saturday, but the open house is planned for Sunday at the home of a son, Maurice Heater, Sublimity, friends being invited to call between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 and 9 o'clock in the evening.

Holiday Event for Town-Gown

A large group enjoyed the Christmas program and tea for Town and Gown club, Thursday afternoon in the First Methodist church Carrier room.

The program featured the Willamette university a cappella choir in Christmas songs from different lands.

The tea table was arranged in holiday theme. The cloth was a green one. Two large white Christmas candles and an arrangement of gilded cedar boughs, pine and laurel with gold ornaments featured the centerpiece for the table.

Mrs. George H. Swift, president, named Mrs. Robert D. Gregg, Mrs. Harry V. Collins and Miss Lorena Jack as the committee to select the gift for Lausanne hall. The project of the club each year is some assistance to the hall.

New members announced for the club include Mrs. Glenn Barge, Mrs. Gordon Barnard, Mrs. H. H. Brooks, Mrs. Leon Brown, Mrs. E. F. Chapman, Mrs. G. O. Christofferson, Mrs. E. H. Dorr, Mrs. L. L. Ferguson, Mrs. William Franzwa, Mrs. Merle Kaufman, Mrs. Robert E. Shinn, Mrs. Ralph Van Horn, Mrs. F. C. Wissenbach.

To Attend Meeting

Mrs. Ralph M. Gordon, public health chairman in the American Osteopathic association auxiliary, has been invited to attend the mid-year executive board meeting of the auxiliary in Chicago, December 11 through the 14th. The board will convene at the Andrew Taylor Still memorial building, Dr. A. E. Eggleston, president of the American Osteopathic association, is to be guest speaker. Mrs. Gordon is active in the local, state and national auxiliary work.

A PICTURE from a recent Sunday issue of the San Francisco Chronicle shows Mrs. Russell C. Haehl, Jr. (Jean Claire Swift) among the group who modeled old-fashioned costumes at the founders day observance of Gamma Phi Beta alumnae in the Bay area.

Mr. and Mrs. Haehl are flying north for Christmas to visit her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. George H. Swift here and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Haehl in Portland.

Junior CDAs Plan Christmas Projects

Third meeting of the Mystical Rose troop, Junior Catholic Daughters of America, was conducted at the home of Miss Dottie Shepherd, December 1.

During the meeting the group voted to supply food for a needy family at Christmas as their Christmas project. They also plan to sing carols around Salem during the Christmas season.
