Check Comes To Paper for Mrs. Taber

Compassion knows no bounds.

This was amply illustrated this week when the Capital Journal was in receipt of a check for $2.50, endorsed by Irving J. Froelich of Detroit, with instructions to pay the amount to Mrs. Mary E. Taber.

Froelich's heart was touched by a story appearing in the Detroit news concerning Mrs. Taber's misguided attempt to hold up Roscoe Colby, cashier of a Woodburn bank.

Confronted with the necessity of providing food and shelter for four children, ranging in age from 6 to 13 years, Mrs. Taber said she was "desperate" after being apprehended a short time after the cashier had said "no" to her demands for money.

"Her said case troubled me," writes Froelich. "I hope they find her ----- of a husband."

Mrs. Taber, turned over to federal authorities in Portland because the attempted robbery involved a national bank, was released on her own recognizance for a later appearance.

Help for Handicapped in Silverton Area Promised

Silverton—The first meeting of the Silverton Parents Council for Handicapped Children was held Monday evening in the library of the Eugene Field school. In charge was Mrs. Edwin G. Heinonen, president of the Junior Woman's club, sponsor of the council over the eastern half of Marion county.

Honor guests attending were Mrs. William Chandlee, Hillsboro, director for volunteer services for the Oregon society for crippled children and adults; Mrs. Andrew Haugen of Sheridan, vice-president of the Yamhill county council; M. B. Ford, principal of the Eugene Field school grades of Silverton; and Miss Viola Eisenbach, public health nurse for the local area.

Concerning the councils in the McMinnville section, Mrs. Haugen told of the work being, not only for the parents of handicapped children, but for the relatives, the teachers who work with the children, friends who are vitally interested, and the older people who are handicapped themselves.

The Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults, once the councils are set up, will secure speakers for the monthly programs, and will arrange for doctors, psychiatrists and the latest movies on the subjects of greatest concern to the group.

Parents who feel alone in their efforts to raise a child that is handicapped, can be assured that many other parents and people in general are willing to share their burdens, in the eastern half of Marion county.

Benefited by this program are not only the physical handicapped, but those with hearing difficulties, and are depressed by visual, speech and mental problems.

All residents of this area are invited to attend these sessions. The next meeting is to be held the evening of Monday, Jan. 11.
