TRIP TO SANTA LAND
The two tiny creatures, Mr.
Not Much Sense and Mr. Very Little Sense, explained their very important errand to Willie.
"We are on our way to Santa Land," they said importantly,
"Whatever for?" saked Willie,
"We must see Santa Claus,
silly," said Mr. Not Much,
"We must see Santa Claus,
silly," said Mr. Not Much,
"We must have his help," said
Mr. Very Little.
"You see we are Dreamlins," said Mr. Not Much,
"Said Mr. Not Much, "Our queen has been captured by the Gremlins. Unless we get her back we will all just fade away and, goodness knows what will happen to all the children in the world."
Willie tried hard to understand.
But it was all so mixed up!
"What are Dreamlins" he asked timidly, "And what do they have to do with children?" (He was sure he had ne/er seen a Dreamlin around Henrietta) "Also, what is a Gremlin?"
"Mr. Very Little and Mr. Not Much patiently explained.
"Gremlins are evil creatures who cause children trouble. They break things and nide toys and trip people and turn over milk glasses at the table.
"Dreamlins, on the other hand,
take care of children. They cover them at night. They keep them from falling out of trees and swings. They find their lost toys and they chase away nightmares and they course," said Mr. Not Much matter-of-facity, "But we do not know how to work without our queen. Soon we will perish for we do not know even how to take care of ourselves without ber."
"That is why we must get to Santa and ask his help. Now will you come with us?"
"Tiwll, indeed," said Willie,
And he thought to himself, "My goodnesst Only yesterday I was locked in a furnace room and today I am on my way to see Santa himself, What a wonderful world this is!"

day I am on my way to see Sant himself. What a wonderful world this is!"

The three of them set forth. It was a good thing it was so early in the morning with no one out of bed to see them. Because they of bed to see them. Because they certainly made an unbelievable sight: Mr. Very Little and Mr. Not Much tramping down the road with Willie. the puppy, pattering along between them.

"How do you know which way to go?" asked Willie who was tired in half an hour.

"Just keep going North." said the Dreamilins. "We will surely get there that way."

But the way was very long and after a while Willie said. "I am hungry. Shouldn't we stop and eat?"

The Dreamilins said they just there have been the way to go and after a while Willie said. "I am hungry. Shouldn't we stop and eat?"

The Dreamlins said they just didn't know how to eat without their queen to advise them and the best thing to do was just keep going until they reached Santa Land where they would get advice from Santa.

Wille didn't need any advice on how to eat. When they passed a house, he excused himself and went in the yard to look around. He found a wonderful bone that must have belonged to the dog that lived there, he was tempted to stay. But he went on with the journey.

All that day and night and through the next day and night they traveled. Willie thought he would surely famt with so much walking and so little to eat and never a stop to chew on an old shoe or a piece of rubber tire or anything.

At the end of the third day, it began to snow and before long they were in the midst of a great snow storn.

The Dreamlins said, "This must be it because there is always snow in Santa Land."

Willie started to say that he
