same team with Gordon at the University of California. Embryo Curmudgeon—Young Harold Ickes, now 14, is a chip off the old block. Coming home from school the other day, the embryo curmudgeon told how a man named Herbert Brownell, otherwise known as the attorney general, had addressed the Friends' school on spies.

The attorney general, young Harold reported, told about the Harry Dexter White case and how the Truman administration—in which Harold's father served—had nurtured spies to his bosom.

After Brownell finished, a youngster piped up: "Why did you time your Harry Dexter White speech just before the California election?"

Brownell, a trifle red-faced, claimed that he didn't. Afterward, Harold's mother, who after all couldn't have lived with the old curmudgeon without admiring his perseverance, telephoned Robert Lyle, headmaster of the Friends' school. She suggested that the school have a speaker who might answer Brownell. Quakers are supposed to encourage free discussion, but Mr. Lyle refused.

Three members of the Brownell family and four children of his deputy, William Rogers, attend the school. To have any more speeches, reasoned Mr. Lyle, would only keep the pot boiling.

Gov. Patterson
"During the several weeks that have elapsed since the first complaints were made about conditions in Lincoln county," the governor said, "I have heard every affidavit that has been filed, sent private investigators from my office and corresponded with many of the religious and civic leaders of the county."

The governor declared that while it is his duty to achieve "conscientious and effective law enforcement" within the state "it is equally my duty to protect the good name of individuals and communities within the state against reckless and unsupported charges, innuendo or statements based on hearsay or made for political purposes."

The governor pointed out in a statement that the affairs of Lincoln county were investigated over a period of fifty days by a Grand Jury impaneled by the Circuit Court.

"No member of that Grand Jury were investigated or reported to me that there was any information which was withheld, or that they were misled, or hampered in their work in any way," the governor said.

"There has been no evidence whatsoever presented impugning the integrity or ability of those grand jurors."

"No person has stated that they were prevented or denied the opportunity to testify before the Grand Jury."

"The Grand Jury has made a written report of its findings in which there is no mention of indictable crimes found by them, but directing attention to irregularities in law enforcement in the past and attributing this condition in a measure to laxity on the part of the people of the community."

"My investigation," the governor continued, "confirms this report."

The governor said that law enforcement officers against whom the bulk of the charges of irregularity and innuendo of crime were directed, have either been defeated, retired from office or replaced.

"There is no evidence that the present sheriff or prosecuting attorney are incompetent or that they have been guilty of any malfeasance in office."

The governor said that he finds "that there are now and will be in the future, conditions in this county, as it is in every county, which will require continuing surveillance and review."

"Our form of government is based on the principle of the right of the local community to govern themselves, which carries with it the duty so to do," the governor said. "Eternal vigilance on the part of the citizenry is the price of good government and effective law enforcement."

Concluding his statement the governor said: "I am satisfied that the people of Lincoln county and their duly elected public officials are qualified and competent to run both the criminal and civil affairs in their community. Having this confidence in the people of this community and not finding that there is any threat to the peace and dignity of the state of Oregon, I have concluded not to order the Attorney General into Lincoln county at this time."

very important matter and that the Soviet government would give the speech of the U. S. President on that question serious attention, as it had done in similar cases in the past," the statement added.

The statement concluded by saying that on Dec. 9 Bohlen sent excerpts from the Eisenhower speech to Molotov.

Within 24 hours after Eisenhower called for establishment of an international atomic energy commission to pool atomic power for peaceful purposes, Moscow Radio unleashed a vituperative blast at the proposals.

Attacked by Russians
His top political commentator Boris Leontyev assailed Eisenhower's speech as "belligerent" and "threatening atomic warfare." He labeled it a dressed-up version of the old American Bauch plan for atomic weapons control. The Baruch plan, opposed by Russia since its proposal to the United Nations seven years ago, called for international inspection of atomic development inside individual nations. The Eisenhower plan does not suggest any such inspection.

The Moscow Radio blasts on Eisenhower's speech went on for only 12 hours. Then comment stopped and Moscow Radio did not mention the speech until Saturday's ministry of foreign affairs statement.

Bush 4th Graders Hear From Friends in Italy

Fourth grade pupils at Bush School, who recently sent a letter to fourth graders at St. Antimo, Italy, have received a reply, and are very happy now at the neighborly relations established between the two schools.

Here is the letter from the Italian children, dated November 18:

Each Fourth Grader (Mrs. Deloretta, teacher), Dear American brothers and sisters: We have received your letter with great joy. We are thirty-five girls of the fourth grade and our teacher tells us that we are little girls.

Our school is located in St. Antimo, a small agricultural village, near the big city of Naples. The name of our school is "St. Padre Cumiano." We attend school six days a week but only four hours each day. During the afternoon other classes are in session because our school is too small to accommodate all the children at one time.

We play very few games. We wear black dresses with white collars, and red-velvet ribbons. Our class president is Verda Russo and she wears an arm band with the colors of our flag: white, red and green.

The subjects we are studying are: Language, History, Geography, Arithmetic, Plane Geometry, Science, Religion, Music and Home Economics. All the lessons we are learning about the movements of the earth, Medieval History, the life of famous Italians, the different countries of the world, and division with two numbers. We also write letters and summaries in written form (courses read).

We are embroidering six curtains, three shirts and a table cloth for the office of our principal. We bought all the material needed with our own savings which our treasurer kept for us. We are also collecting clothes and money to send to children who have lost their parents in the recent floods which occurred in the southern part of Italy.

Our holidays are almost like yours. We do not have Santa Claus but we have the "Befana," an old lady who brings us presents on the night of January 5th. On the first of November we celebrate the feast of the trees. On this day all the children of Italy plant young trees because our country is too small to accommodate all the children at one time.

We will be waiting for your next letter with great impatience. We send our love to all of you and to your teacher.

Yours sincerely,
FOURTH GRADERS

BERG'S "GOT" A PICKET

- 1 THE DISPUTE: ... a demand that a union journeyman butcher be on duty at all times the stores are open. ... Berg's refuse ... because this costs you money ... for an unneeded butcher increases the distribution costs of food.
2. Berg's bonus plan has always paid Berg's butchers far in excess of any union scale. Our BUTCHERS like it. ... ASK THEM!
- 3 BERG'S DUTY: ... to always give the public the best foods possible and at the lowest possible price.
4. Berg's refuse to accept "featherbedding" ... because "featherbedding" costs the public money.

Thank you.
