Dallas

Dallas—Latest report from Paul Richter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Richter, who is a polio patient at the Salem Memorial hospital, is that he has received two therapy treatments and is slightly improved.

Mrs. Richter is taking a course of training at the hospital so she will be able to administer treatments to her son when he comes home some time before Christmas to remain permanently. His next step will be the whirlpool treatments.

Saturday was moving day for the Salem Title Company, sixth business firm to occupy new quarters in the past few months.

The former home of the Haas Drug store has been completely redecorated in colors combining the choices of the personnel.

New fixtures have arrived and are being placed.

The firm has been operating in very small quarters since coming to Dallas several years. The new location is affording the personnel ample space.

Darrell Williams is the manager.

This city is beginning to take on the holiday splendor of pre-war days with decoration contests, public buildings outlined with lights and the Firemen's Christmas tree.

Following a generous gift of $400, by the Chamber of Commerce for the lighting program, the Dallas Volunteer Fire Department agreed to assume the task of placing the decorations.

Ben Hells, Fenlon Bilyeu and Russell Sanderlin, the committee placed in charge of the work, and 12 helpers outlined the county courthouse with lights over the week-end.

After collecting the long neglected strings, they were repaired and broken bulbs replaced and used to outline the city hall.

The traditional "Christmas Tree Raising" will take place on the courthouse lawn after the tree is brought from the forest Sunday morning.

By evening it will lend its splendor to the city's holiday decorations.

For the second time, the manger scene, designed and made by the Christian Men's club, is standing on the lawn in front of the courthouse and a gay red Santa Claus is in its accustomed place on the northwest steps of the building.

The tinsel and medallion decorations across main street and the placing of greens on the light posts by the Boy Scouts was completed some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rodgers and five children are traveling by train for Massachusetts where they will spend the Christmas season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodgers and her mother, Mrs. Tom Moss, all of Fall River. The family expects to return to Dallas Dec. 29.

Dec. 16 is the date set for a joint Christmas party to be held at the recreation hall by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Jayettes. The affair will start at 8 o'clock, with a Dutch lunch to be served at the close of the evening.

The Newcomers club met at the home of Mrs. James Sutter Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Ivan Johnson assisting co-hostess. The group filled boxes of candy for the residents in the Dallas Home for the Aged, as a bit of Xmas cheer. Games were played pertaining to Christmas, followed by an exchange of gifts among the guests.
