84 years after "completion" we're still building!

The Gold Spike officially "completed" the first ntinental railroad in 1869. But except for the right of way (and even some of that has changed) there's precious little left of the old Central Pacific, our parent Company.

Enough new track to span America

Last year, for instance, we laid 1,732,859 new railroad ties and put down almost 64,000 tons of new rail-not to add new mileage, but just to maintain the mileage we had. In the seven years since the war, we've put down enough new track to span the ontinent from New York to San Francisco. Last year the maintenance of our 13,300 miles of lines cost us over $92,000,000.

A new diesel unit every two days sance is only part of the job. Since the $646,000,000 has been invested in new equipment and other improvements for Southern Pacific. One result: a dieselization program that has given S. P. an average of about one ness diesel unit every two days since World War II ended.
