Densest of Fogs Hits Medford

Medford (AP)—A dense fog hung over the Medford area again Tuesday for the third straight day. Highway traffic was forced to move slowly. There was no airplane activity from the local field. In what should have been the midst of the Christmas shopping rush, downtown streets were uncrowded and merchants said business was off. Visibility down town was no more than a block at best. Fifteen traffic accidents in the three days were attributed to the fog. Three persons were hospitalized with hurts and several others had minor injuries.

United Air Lines and Southwest Airlines were using Yreka as a substitute for the Medford stop. West Coast planes used Klamath Falls and Roseburg.

Fog dispersal flights—widely hailed experiment—were being made but without the success that marked the break-up of a fog layer here two weeks ago.

Musser said that the body of that car would probably need a new paint job.

Persistent Vandals—A rotating clothesline in his yard has been torn down by vandals four times in the past week, Bert Moore, 2400 South Winter street, reported to city police Monday. Once it was removed completely and left in a nearby field. He reinstalled it and when he arrived home Monday noon, it was down again, Moore said.

Nixon Reports

Upon his return from the 10-week tour of 19 nations, Nixon said Monday that he had found Asia hungry for peace. He added that Asians have a deep friendship for the United States "despite efforts of Communists to build up hatred there."

Apparently he followed much the same line in his talk to a White House-sponsored conference of mayors which he addressed in closed session Tuesday. Several of the city executives quoted him as saying the answers to the 1955 legislature, and more important, provide some leadership," the governor said.

Intermediate

However, if we study the various questions involved we would be in a position to present the answers to the 1955 legislature, and more important, provide some leadership," the governor said.

The governor said that not only would enabling legislation to permit purchase of property be necessary, but legislation setting up the policies of the legislature in connection with the operation of the new institution for young offenders from the penitentiary and the MacLaren school for boys, will be necessary.

Emergency Boards Possible
Harry Dorman, director of the department of finance and administration suggested that the emergency board might allocate additional money to the $1,225,000 appropriation made for the institution, for purchase of the land, and he was instructed to check on the attorney general's opinion to ascertain if such an allocation would meet legal requirements.

Taylor Thinks

"They are doing about the same thing we do," he said. Taylor, in a review of the problems that have faced his army since the armistice, said one unsolved difficulty was the fate of 22,500 Chinese and North Korean prisoners who have renounced Communism.

These POWs, along with 335 South Korean and 22 American ground-Communist captives, are held in Indian custody in the neutral zone near Panmunjom. Taylor said plans were being perfected to care for the anti-Communist North Koreans and Chinese after Jan. 22, the date the armistice provides they be freed as civilians.

Taylor said he assumed the North Korean anti-Reds would be cared for by the South Korean government. The Chinese, Taylor said probably would be asked to go to Formosa and the problem would be a matter of transportation. Taylor conceded that prisoners requesting to go to a neutral nation "would be a problem." He said no plans had yet been made to settle it.

Communicable Disease Report—Measles continued to head the list of communicable and reportable diseases during the weekly period ending December 5. However, the number of cases of various types of diseases reported was not large, and there were no instances of polio. Of the 71 physicians who reported to the county department of health, 13 indicated they had waited upon persons with communicable diseases. There were eight cases of measles, four mumps, three each of dysentery and bronchopneumonia, two tuberculosis and hepatitis and one each of ringworm and impetigo.

Heed Warning

A highly informed American military officer said these recommendations:

1. Increase in the NATO air force of more than 1,300 warplanes, boosting the alliance's air power to 5,700 planes by the end of 1954.

The commission has found it necessary to cut the case load by 25 per cent because funds are not available to carry the maximum demand. As an example of how the demand for my general assistance has been piling up, the administrator submitted a statement showing that in November, 1952 there were 163 applications. Last November this had increased to 250 when $8512 was expended.
