

SANTA and the FLYING PUP

By LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

Still twirling, it rose into the sky and whirled away.

Synopsis: The Dreamline, Mr. Not Much and Mr. Very Little, were Willie there are dragons running loose in Santa's Train Shop. They flee, but Willie bravely decides to fight the dragons thinking this may qualify as an unselfish deed and enable him to fly. He goes to the Train Shop and manages to make the dragons smash themselves on the floor.

CHAPTER 13
TRIP IN AN UMBRELLA
 The awful noise in the Train Shop brought Santa and his workers racing to the spot. What they found was Willie the pup and the wreck of all the toy trains in Santa Land. "I did it!" cried Willie proudly. "I destroyed them all!"

"Willie, Willie!" mourned Santa. "What will I do now for all the little boys who have asked for trains for Christmas?"

"Trains?" said Willie. "Trains? But—I thought—I thought they were dragons!"

It was a sad thing. Willie turned away. He didn't even try to see if he had earned the right to fly. "It's no use," he thought. "I always do the wrong thing."

Santa himself was thinking the same thing. "I shall have to send

Error Cited By Gladden

Warden Clarence T. Gladden said Thursday that a statement by an AFL official that eight guards had quit because the State Board of Control had failed to grant a pay increase, was not in accordance with the facts.

The warden said that only five correctional officers have left the prison since November 1. The only one case, he said, was the matter of wages involved. This officer quit to take a better job. Of the other four, two were fired, another said he lived too far from the prison to make the round trip in bad weather and one planned to leave Salem.

A representative of the AFL Salem local of Oregon Public Employees Council, claimed that eight guards, including a captain and a lieutenant, had quit the prison in the past week since the board declined to act on a petition for a pay increase.

HELD FOR FORGERY
 Albany — Sam Alvin Jones was bound over by Judge Wendell Tompkins in district court here to the circuit court grand jury on a forgery charge, after he had waived a preliminary hearing. Jones is accused of forging the name of Yates Sherer, Tangent, to a $77 check drawn on the Bank of Albany Nov. 5.
