He's saving money

He'd probably pay more for his cigarettes if it weren't for advertising. The cigarette manufacturers use advertising as their lowest cost way to get across news and information about their products. On the average, advertising for a pack of cigarettes amounts to less than 3¢.

Selling goods this way makes mass production possible—which means lower production costs, lower selling costs, lower prices. Yes, advertising is a low-cost selling method that helps keep your living costs down.
