

Holiday Wedding At Albany

Albany—A wedding of interest during the holiday season was that of Miss Donna Slavens, and Bill Ray Parrett, U. S. Air force, at the First Methodist church, December 26.

The Rev. George H. Huber read the double ring ceremony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Parrett, all of Albany.

The bridal party stood before the chancel which was decorated with poinsettias, holly, white chrysanthemums and red candles in candelabras.

A trio, Misses Barbara Faulkner, Carlene Newport and Janet McDonald, sang. Mural Burgard was their accompanist and played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white tulle and lace dress with seed pearl trim. The skirt fell in a long, full train. The net veil was held in place with a crown of seed pearls.

The bride carried a heart-shaped sheath of white chrysanthemums with a white orchid center.

Miss Patty Parrett, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor and wore a white dress with red velvet bolero and carrying white velvet muffs centered with red poinsettia and red ribbon streamers.

Bridesmaids were Misses Carol Canada, Lois Smith, Clara Barth and Connie McDougall, all wearing white net dresses over satin with red velvet boleros and carrying white velvet muffs centered with red poinsettias with red ribbon streamers.

Little Linda Ann Slavens, niece of the bride, and Judy Kay Risley, niece of the bridegroom, were the flower girls wearing dresses of red taffeta.

Al Slavens, Roseburg, brother of the bride, was best man, and serving as ushers were Clarice Poppert, Doy Gatlin, Bill Sims and John Wilber, all of Albany.

Candlelighters were Miss Betty Feuerstein, and Miss Shirley Dow, wearing white ribbons and carrying white ribbons tied with red ribbons.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Collins wore a champagne colored dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a blue dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Immediately following the wedding, the reception was at the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake.

Mrs. Echo Russell poured and Miss Mary Slavens cut the cake. Serving were Miss Margaret Riley, Miss Anita Walbrecht and Miss Nancy Neuschwander of Corvallis.

Miss Charlotte Featherford passed the guest book. The couple left on a wedding trip for going away the bride wore a brown suit with olive green and brown accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Family Events During Holidays

Silverton—Among the larger family gatherings for the holiday season was that of Mrs. Ida Makinster and her sisters, Mrs. Lydia Dawes, and the immediate relatives of the three Mann brothers, A. R. Mann, Jr. from Council Bluffs, Ia., E. E. (Ed) Mann of Orenco, Ore., and William Mann of Silverton.

December Bride — Mrs. James Stephen Dahlstrom (Betty Jean Christensen), above, was married December 20. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Christensen of Tigard and Mr. Dahlstrom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dahlstrom of Salem. (Camera Art studio, Portland.)

Boots and Spurs By SUSAN YOUNGQUIST

Hi! Hope Santa Claus was good to you, and gave you a very merry Christmas!

Three persons who spent Christmas day in bed were Bill McPherson, Al Inglis, and George Stender. Bill is in the Memorial hospital, with a skull fracture, as the result of a tangle with a horse.

Al is in good condition, now. Al is bitten by a cold bug, and it must have been a whole army of them, because it almost developed into pneumonia. But, at latest reports, he's doing fine.

Seven people have come into the club, just in time for the tail end of the holiday fun and festivities. They are: Jim Shailer, Frank Wood, John L. Haynie, Robert Lyons, Nancy Smith, Bob Cole, and Howard Olson.

Marge and Charlen Woods took off up north for the holidays, spending Christmas in Seattle, but they expect to return soon. Got a really cute Jacobs and Phyllis of Beaverton; of Silverton, Mr. and Mrs. William Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mann and Wendell, Diana and Marilyn, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Benson and Victor, Vern and Ruth; of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Benson; and of Sublimity, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Verbeck.

During the holiday week, Mrs. Lydia Dawes and Mrs. Ida Makinster entertained at their Coolidge street home for Mr. Harold Stimmel (Eileen Sibley) granddaughter of Mrs. Dawes) and Larry and Gary of Kennewick, Wash.; from North Bend, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dawes; Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Makinster and Nola, Arlan Makinster and Margaret of Canby, with this group being entertained for one evening at the West Linn home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Staegely (Tressa Dawes) and Donald in dedicating the new home of the Stegehelys.

Also at the Dawes-Makinster home were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dawes and William, Marie, Kenneth and Marilyn of Canby; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reinke of Stayton and on Sunday the Nolan Makinsters and the George Kleeses of Fruitland.

Robert Giuliani was best man and a seating the guests were John Galloway and Paul Francour.

Jay Iich and John Hodsdon served as altar boys. Mrs. Allen Bell played the nuptial music. The chancel and altar were decorated with poinsettias and lighted candles.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the wedding party at the Red Hat restaurant. Organ music was furnished during the breakfast hour.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Washington. For going away the bride wore a pink orlon dress and a corsage of rosebuds. After January 4 they will be at home at 119 West Seventh avenue.

Pair Wed At Albany

Albany—On Christmas Eve at 8 o'clock at the home of her mother, Miss Mary JoAnn Arnold of Albany, daughter of County Judge Eihil G. Arnold and Mrs. Eulela Arnold, was wed to Everett Leslie Brown of Albany, son of Mrs. Andrew Renner of Gates and the late Frank L. Brown. Judge Arnold read the double ring service.

The bride was attired in a champagne-shaded faille two-piece dress with black accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Alean Warren, wearing an aqua color dress, was the matron of honor and her flower girls wore pink carnations. Floyd Fry of Corvallis was best man.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Dean Mayfield, wearing a light blue dress and a pink carnation corsage, lighted the tapers.

Christmas greens, a gayly decorated Christmas tree and poinsettias formed a background for the ceremony.

Thirty-five relatives and close friends of the couple witnessed the ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Arnold wore a wine colored dress with a corsage of pink carnations and roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a brown dress and her flowers were also pink carnations and roses.

An informal reception followed the wedding. The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake encircled with small, pink chrysanthemums on a lace table cloth.

Flanking the cake were candelabras with pink tapers. Mrs. Juanita Baltitsky poured the wedding cake.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at the Hofflich apartments here. For going-away the bride chose a winter pastel gold suit, with brown lizard shoes and bag. Completing her costume was a tan cashmere topcoat and a gardenia corsage.

The bride, formerly of Salem was graduated from the Albany high school and the Oregon Beauty school in Salem. Mr. Brown was graduated from the Corvallis high school and also Oregon State college. He is a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He is employed by Phil Small's Men's store here.

Charley Wright Retires After 36 Years Service

C. W. (Charley) Wright, chief of the division of grain inspection for the State Department of Agriculture, will retire Thursday night, ending 36 years of state service. He is retiring under provisions of the public employes retirement act.

Wright began his state service with the Oregon Public Service Commission in August, 1917, when inspection and handling of wheat and other grains was under that department. His first job was as weigher and sampler, then advancing to inspector in charge of the branch office in Astoria in 1919.

When lack of business closed the Astoria branch (since reopened) in 1921, he went into Portland as chief deputy inspector at Terminal 4. He has been chief inspector, now termed division chief, since 1925.

The grain inspection division activity was transferred from the Public Service Commission in 1923 to the state market agent and along with that and numerous other farm regulatory agencies came into the State Department of Agriculture under the 1931 act creating the department.

During his long service with the state, Wright has witnessed many changes in the grain inspection division. He has seen the transition from wheat handled and stored entirely in sacks to bulk operations from farm through elevators to boat. Now a large bulk car of wheat is unloaded by four men in about 30 minutes, while earlier it took 12 to 15 men about an hour to unload a car of sacked wheat.

Other major developments during Wright's service have been the long rambling wooden warehouses or "flat houses" dotting the countryside at railroad spurs giving way to imposing concrete elevators; ships loading at the rate of 1000 sacks or 60 tons an hour; from hit and miss grading by buyers and sellers to uniform grading under the federal grain standards act; shipping of grain in bulk not only by rail but by water in specially designed grain barges; and in the last two years, grain movement to Portland terminals by motor freight and trailers as far east as Idaho and Utah.

Wright said that the greatest satisfaction comes to him in the memory of the early days when he and others in the division rode over the countryside educating ranchers, warehousemen and threshing crews about grades and standards for Oregon grains.

T. Ralph Harry, with the division of grain inspection for several years, succeeds Wright as division chief.

Linn Non-High School Has Surplus

Albany—Little if any money will be asked of the taxpayers in the Linn county non-high school district when its next budget is made up, it was revealed Tuesday by the records of County School Superintendent W. H. Dolmyer.

Reason for the situation is that the non-high school district, stripped down last year to a mere skeleton by formation of Union high school district No. 28, had a $42,180 balance in its treasury, a heritage from the 1952-53 year, at the beginning of the fiscal 1953-54 year. This, added to receipts totaling $119,287.29 from taxation and other sources during the year, gave the district $161,467.27, with which to carry on operations for the last school year.

Unless the number of high school students living in the shrunken non-high school district should unexpectedly increase, in Dolmyer's opinion, the present balance should be approximately adequate to finance current obligations, so that when the 1954-55 budget is compiled, funds on hand may be sufficient to balance the estimate.

Many Receive Yuletide Help

Albany — Ninety-one Albany families were provided with toys, food and clothing for Christmas by 36 local organizations and individuals, it was reported this week at the final meeting of the Yuletiders, who coordinated the efforts to provide for the less fortunate in this area.

A large supply of clothing was collected in the high school clothing drive and distributed through the Yuletiders to families needing them.

The Yuletiders steering committee agreed at the final meeting, Chairman V. A. Hurley reported, that a similar organization, operating with certain revisions from this year's plan, would be desirable for the next Christmas season.

Assistant Co-Chairman Cecil Burkhardt of the Albany fire department and Mr. Hurley expressed appreciation Wednesday of the help of the many organizations, merchants and others who participated in making one program possible.
