Batchelor and Wife Celebrate

Tokyo (AP)—Cpl. Claude Batchelor and his Japanese wife Kyoko happily planned a second honeymoon and an evening of dancing at a Japanese night club when they had a two-hour reunion at Tokyo Army hospital today.

Kyoko's love letters played an important part in Batchelor's decision to ask repatriation from a pro-Red prison compound in Korea. She said she planned to write tonight at her husband's request, to three other Americans who stayed with the Communists.

Batchelor arrived here yesterday after renouncing his decision to stay with the Reds. He and his wife were together for four hours soon after his arrival at the hospital and she returned for a two-hour reunion today.

Kyoko said her husband will be given a pass Wednesday and plans to have a dark blue suit made to take her dancing.

HER LETTERS DID THE TRICK

Cpl. Claude Batchelor, 22, of Kermit, Tex., happily holds his Japanese wife, Kyoko Araki, whose letters to him while he was in the Communist stockade at Panmunjom, were credited by him for his rejection of Communism. Members of the Columbia Basin Compact Committee will be in on the two meetings, hold subcommittee meetings Jan. 14, and a full committee meeting Jan. 15.

The engineering subcommittee, Jordan said, will consider the material in the Army Engineers' 308 report on the basin and other data which have become available since then.

It will have the duty of drawing up a priority list for future basin projects.

President to

Monday's meeting with nine GOP congressional leaders and the Cabinet was preliminary to a session Tuesday which will bring Democratic leaders to the White House along with Republican lieutenants.

Congress convenes at noon Wednesday. Monday's meeting ran 2 1/2 hours.

Martin declined to give any hint as to what will be in the President's talk Monday night or in his State of the Union address.

He said the legislators were given a "very interesting resume" of the President's program and discussed some of its aspects with the Cabinet members involved.

Reads From Address
He said the President took an hour to read from the State of the Union address. Describing it as "a very good message," Martin said, "We all think it is a dynamic, progressive program and one that will be well received by all elements of the country."

All Martin would say about the President's labor law program, understood to involve some revision of the Taft-Hartley act, was that "it looks like a good one."

Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, who has warred with the administration on some phases of its tax program, sat in on Monday's meeting.

When reporters asked him what he thought of the tax portions of the State of the Union message, Reed smiled and told reporters: "I take this occasion to wish the American people, and that includes the press, a happy and prosperous New Year and congratulate them on prospective tax relief."

The Jan. 21 date for submission of the budget message, is the last on which Eisenhower can legally present it to Congress. The law requires that it go to Congress within 15 days after the opening of a session.

Thursday's State of the Union address will be carried by all TV and radio networks.

Collins Doubts Reds Could Reach Channel

Washington (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins says it is now doubtful the Russians could reach the English Channel if they unleashed an assault on Western Europe.

Collins, U. S. representative on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council, said yesterday on an NBC television show NATO forces now have twice the air strength available three years ago. In addition to 2,000 combat planes, he said, the Allies have 16 to 18 divisions immediately ready to fight.
