Coach John Lewis expects to get back into his harness to get back into his harness wednesday to guide the Willamette Bearcats in practice after a week's illness.

Lewis has been out of action with virus pneumonia since last Wednesday, missing both Williamette games with Central Washington, and was up awhile yesterday for the first time. He hopes to be strong enough to coach his team during the Whitman series this Friday and Saturday which opens the Northwest conference schedule.

Jerry Frei, ceach of the frosh crew, ably handled the quintet in Lewis' absence. The split with Central Washington gave the Bearcats a pre-conference mark of four wins and six defeats.

PGE electricity lends a helping hand in cleaning house—allows more leisure time to do the things

Cooking over 1000 meals a year, Mrs. Lea appreciates the clean, safe and economical operation of her automatic electric range.

As darkness falls, the Leas' household glows with the magic of electric lights, television, and family

Typical of most families served by PGE, the Leas use three times as much electricity as they did in 1947, and pay only about half as much per kilowatt hour. (For example, in December of 1947 they used 280 kwh at a cost of 1.9 cents per kwh. Now they use as much as 930 kwh in a month at a cost of less than 1 cent per kwh.) They have added a number of time and work-saving electrical appliances during the past few years to make their living easier and more enjoyable. result their use of electricity has gone up and up, but the cost

Average cost of electric service has dropped 65% in the past 25 years

Actually over the past 25 years there have been 9 reductions in residential electric rates. The one permanent increase of 1949 has been more than offset by the greater average use of electricity, which permits customers to take advantage of PGE's low quantity rates. As a result the average PGE customer is paying less per kilowatt

Yes, check and see, and you'll agree-PGE electricity is the biggest bargain in your family budget
