New Term Underway On Campus

By ANNE RITCHEY
(Capital Journal Correspondent)
UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE (Special) — Winter term, with its dark mornings and sleepy 8 o'clock classes, is now upon us! In true Oregon tradition, the rain started Wednesday night to remind us that it is not yet time for afternoon tennis games and sun-bathing.

The Ducks' highly-rated basketball opponents the University of Idaho, gave our team one chance for a victory Tuesday night and one closely-fought battle Wednesday night, which they won.

Yelling for the Webfoots throughout the well-attended game Wednesday were Salem students Bob Hazel, Mary Jane Rud, Pat Deeney, Mike Thomas, Jeff Walton, Gloria Stok, Tom Angle, Scott Page and Jeff Walton.

Adding much spirit to our rooting-section was the university band. Salem's Glenn Banner was there in the front section of the band with his trombone.

Monday of this week was official registration day, and many long lines filled Emerald hall and some of the busier departmental offices. Freshmen Bill French, Sally Greig, Mary Gerlinger and Judie Burdette were probably at Friendly hall, the office of the English department, to sign up for the required composition and literature courses.

Plans for the annual Dad's Day week end, to which all parents and alumni are invited, are continuing with a call for nominations of official hostesses for the week end being announced in Wednesday's Emerald. The week-end will be January 23, and students are already making motel and hotel reservations for their guests.

Yehudi Menuhin, world-famous violinist, will appear on campus Friday night, sponsored by the Eugene Civic Music association. The concert will be at McArthur court and all students, and townspeople who are members

Last week-end, the Salem Calf Ropers were hosts to five other clubs for a get-together. Cowboys, cow-cutters, bulldoggers and the more "English" riders all gathered for fun and frolic. A partial list of winners is presented here. In the Matched Pairs class, Don and Myrt Kuhl rode off with First place. Ursula Mathias was tops in the Western Pleasure Horse, riding a little filly that was raised by Rex Hartley. In the Park Hack Class, Vada Carson topped first place, riding Fred Anunson's "Chief."

A busy little gal from Portland, Berna Lou Flick, took top honors in the Novice class of cow-cutting. Berna Lou used to be editor of The Lariat, a statewide magazine for horse-lovers, and was queen of the St. Paul Rodeo last summer.

In the bulldogging division, a rider from the Lebanon club, whose name was not available, took home the coveted blue ribbon.

Both Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, the sideline crowds were good, and almost everyone in these crowds was a horse-owner, so it really was a "horse show."

Thelma Youngquist, Gladys Seamster and Alice Jones of the association will be eligible to attend.

The university theater has announced that tryouts are now open for a forthcoming production, "One Touch of Venus." Students will remember this as a popular movie of a few years ago. Another future play for this term will be "The Moon is Blue," with rehearsals already underway.

An addition to the campus during the vacation that allows speedier transportation to classes is a traffic light at one of the main corners. It allows for cars and other vehicles to be detoured away from the main campus street during the ten-minute break between classes.

Pair Tell Betrothal

Woodburn — Mr. and Mrs. Chester English of Woodburn announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Crescent Rosabelle English, to Stanley S. Hayward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayward of Kearney, Nebraska.

No wedding date has been set. Miss English is a graduate of Woodburn high school and is now in her third year of nurse's training at the Good Samaritan school of nursing in Portland. Mr. Hayward is a graduate of the Kearney, Neb. high school and is currently stationed with the navy at Swan Island in Portland.

Masons, Star Install Officers

Dayton — A large group of members and friends witnessed the 61st and 60th installations of Jacob Mayer lodge, AF&AM and Electa chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, at the Masonic temple on Monday.

Dolph Goodrich, retiring worshipful master, welcomed the group, and introduced Earle Coburn, DDGM No. 4, acting installing marshal. He in turn, introduced Shalor Eldridge, past grand master and installing officer for the Masons, and Earnest Bolliger, senior grand warden. They were assisted by Kenneth Pomeroy, installing chaplain.

Officers installed included Adolph Schutz, worshipful master; Les Scoggan, senior warden; Manley Borgan, junior warden; Milton A. Palmer, treasurer; Brooks Sweeney, secretary; Edward Richards, junior deacon; Robert Mulkey, chaplain; Walter Hough, senior steward; Guy Freshour, junior steward; Edward Clow, tyler. The senior deacon, Hale Hendrickson and marshal, Jimmy Richardson were not present to be installed. The new worshipful master received a gift of a gavel from his family by his son Johnny.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clow, retiring worthy matron and worthy patron, gave a word of welcome and introduced Mrs. Ruth Goodrich, past matron and installing matron, who in turn introduced her assisting installing officers: Earle Coburn, past patron, and installing patron; Mrs. Lulu Hermanson, past matron and installing chaplain; Mrs. LaVerne Cruickshank, past matron and installing marshal; Mrs. Sophia Sherman, past matron and installing organist.

The officers installed were Mrs. Bill Belts, worthy matron; Les Scoggan, worthy patron; Mrs. Earl Kidd, associate matron; Earl Kidd, associate patron; Mrs. Muriel Sweeney, secretary; Mrs. Eva Westfall, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Lehman, conductress; Mrs. Freda Hedgecock, associate conductress; Mrs. Helen Scoggan, chaplain; Mrs. Ed Clow, marshal; Mrs. Viola Coburn, organist; Mrs. Dorothy Pomeroy, Adah; Mrs. Josephine Washer, Ruth; Mrs. Marie Hendrickson, Esther; Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, Martha; Mrs. Elsie Graham, Electa; Mrs. Evelyn Borgan, warden, and Brooks Sweeney, sentinel.

The courtesy ladies, all past matrons, included the Mesdames Henrietta Foster, Velene Coburn, Lulu Hermanson, Martha Dover, Bernice Mitchell and Wilva Louis.

The new worthy matron was presented a bouquet of roses from the newly installed worshipful master, Adolph Schutz; her husband, Bill Belts, presented her with a gavel and her officers gave her a degree and gift.

During the installation Robert Mulkey sang, accompanied by Mrs. Sophia Sherman.

Mrs. Viola Coburn presented the retiring matron, Mrs. Clow, with her past matron's jewel.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by a committee of past matrons.

School of instruction will be Saturday, January 9, at the temple, with dinner at 7 o'clock, with Mrs. Carlotta Wiseman, grand conductress, as guest.

Piggott-Conner Wedding Jan. 3

Lebanon — Daffodils and acacia set the decorative theme for the January 3 wedding of Miss Patsy L. Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Conner of Lebanon, and Franklin Edward Piggott, son of Mrs. Benjamin Piggott of Palo Alto, Calif.

The nuptials were at three o'clock in the First Christian church with the Rev. Richard Hake officiating. Mrs. Paul McCracken was organist and solos were sung by Richard Osborn.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white Alencon lace and net over taffeta. Her flowers were stephanotis surrounding a white orchid.

Mrs. Gerald Holbert of San Jose, Calif., was matron of honor for her sister. She was dressed in an emerald green net over taffeta dress and carried a yellow satin muff centered with a cymbidium orchid and carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Luan Chandler and Miss Sharon Conner, both of Portland. Miss Chandler wore a Nile green dress and her companion, bridesmaid wore a similarly styled dress of chartreuse.

At the reception in the church recreation room, Mrs. Laura Gosney, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Robert M. Hayden poured the cake. Others assisting were Mrs. Ralph Scroggin, Mrs. John Hatfield, Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. W. Glen Chandler and Miss Ardy's Whetstone. Mrs. Lester Chessman and Mrs. Elmer Whetstone was in charge of the affair.

The couple left on a wedding trip along the coast. On Jan. 10 they will be at home in Palo Alto.

Woman's Club at Silverton Meets

Silverton — Mrs. Edwin G. Heinonen, president, directed the Tuesday evening meeting of the members of the Junior Woman's club, at the social rooms of the First Christian church. Guests of honor were members of the Silverton Woman's club, Mrs. Alf O. Neison, president.

Mrs. William B. Chandler of Hillsboro, prominent in the state club work, showed the film: "What's New in Cooking?" starring Dr. Ida Bally Allen and the French chef, Charles Pretnmac. Recipes and program notes were available to all women present. Mrs. Lorena Sanders and Mrs. Glenn Tucker were awarded gifts.

Mrs. Fred Frick and Mrs. William Iron gave a violin duet with Mrs. John A. Bronson at the piano.

Mrs. James Ekman and Mrs. Lowell Hoblitt poured during the tea hour.

To work with two Jaycee-Ettes on the Silverton Centennial "aquacade" committee for the August, 1954 observance, Mrs. James Ekman and Mrs. Milt Baum were named and will cooperate with Mrs. William Duncan and Mrs. Philip Clites from the Jaycee-Ettes.

Announcement was made of the January 11 meeting of the Parents Council for Handicapped Children, which the Junior Woman's club is directing for the eastern half of Marion county, at Eugene Field library room.

Mrs. James Egman is to be hostess for the January 26 meeting. Mrs. Ronald Syron, assisting.

Unionvale Woman Will Observe 90th Birthday

UNIONVALE — Mrs. John Hibbs, resident of the Unionvale district until going to the McMinnville rest home several years ago, will Wednesday, January 13, observe her 90th birthday.

She was born in Illinois in 1864 and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Robertson, came to Unionvale in 1874. Her son, Royal Hibbs, resides on her farm here.
