Among other matters pertaining to the grid was adoption of a resolution of illuminated one-way marker signs at the intersections of Church and Court and Court, church and State, and Court and Cottage, with an amendment that the city manager may use the reflector type of signs if he desires.

A resolution which would have reserved the lane on four-land one-way streets nearest the curb for vehicles making left or right turns, as the case may be, was tabled for further study after a long argument.

Other traffic legislation included approval of a report by Chief of Police Clyde A. Warren for more stringent enforcement of the ordinance against meter feeding, and the chief was directed to start the enforcement next Monday. After that date the bail required when citations are issued will be $1.50 instead of the present 50 cents.

City Manager J. L. Franzen and City Engineer J. H. Davis joined in a report recommending no change in the parking set-up on Edgewater street because of excessive cost, but the question was referred to Alderman Jack Lochead of Ward $ for further investigation.
