Oregon State dropped Idaho Saturday night with new strategy cooked up by coach Slats Gill. Gill had three of his highest players. Swede Halbrook, Jay Dean and Tex Whiteman, pack the key while two speed merchants, Johnny Jarboe and Ron Fundingsland, handled the ball on the outside, until they could get a clear shot at the hoop or pass to the tall guys inside.

The trategy proved effective as it was aided and abetted by Halbrook's 27 points and Jarboe's 10.

Oregon, hard-pressed Friday night, found the Huskies tough to handle during the first period Saturday night but put the handcuffs on Washington in the second period and left the floor at the half with a 42-27 bulge.
