Washington, D.C., Jan. 24 Dear Marian:

Resuming with a bit more of our Resuming with a bit index of our florida trip, one of the most en-joyable events was the luncheon arranged by Mr. and Mrs. John Knight at the Bath Club at Miami Beach on Sunday before plane de-parture time. The famous and atparture time. The famous and ac-tractive club was a colorful setting, with a double circle of cabanas facing towards the ocean. Many of the cabanas bear the names of the cabanas here the names of nationally-known tenantis, we noted as we strolled to the one designat-ed for the Knight is publisher of the Miami Herald and publisher of the Miami Herald and of papers in Chicago, Detroit, and Akron, and he and Mrs. Knight di-vide their time between the four cities. A leisurely hour of chatting, watching the boats out on the wa-ter, admiring the deep tan of the sun bathers, and relaxing in the balmy 80 degrees was followed by a lavish buffet. An orchestra pro-vided dance music. It was a temp-tation to linger but Secretary and Mrs. Douglas McKay had promised to meet with a group of Republi-cans at the airport and the last hour before our plane left was de-voted to the meeting. Another interesting luncheon — this time all terminine—was given at beautiful Key Biscayne, a new hotel complete with its private beach, swimming pool, small golf course, and individual cottages supplementing the hotel rooms. supplementing the hotel rooms. In its location on Key Biscayne, it is secluded and exclusive. Mrs. John Pennekamp and Mrs. Arthur Gucker, both of whose husbands are associated with the Mi-ami Herald, were joint hostesses and we lunched in a spacious din-ing room with huge picture win-dows overlooking the pool, patio, and ocean. After finishing the de-lectable salads, we were all skip-ping dessert until a cocoanut cake with cocoanut fresh from the trees on the key was pointed out and on the Key was pointed out and-you guessed it-we forgot any calo-
